Ratification Vote On London Pact To Come Next Week

LEADERS SAY VICTORY NOW IS CERTAIN

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(UP)—Senator Johnson, Republican, California, today on the senate floor forced publication of the secret American proposal made by Secretary of State Stimson to the London naval conference on Feb. 5, 1930.

Johnson obtained the paper from Senator Reed, (Rep., Pa.) at the conclusion of the latter's speech explaining the pact and urging its ratification.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(UP)—Senator Reed (Rep., Pa.), today urged the senate to ratify the London naval treaty and prefaced his speech with a eulogy of American naval officers, to whom he referred in the opening week of the special session, as "those admirals who see so much of Washington and so little of the sea."

Reed said American naval advice had been so varied that it was inevitable the naval conference delegation would run counter to some of it in deciding what should be the policy of the United States.

"But," he continued, "we had nothing but admiring regards for such officers as Admirals Jones and Pringle, with whom we disagreed.

"We ought to be proud of our naval officers; they stand at the top professionally."

Reed's language was expected somewhat to mollify the feelings of the officers and especially to silence senatorial opponents of the London treaty who have made almost daily protests since the special treaty session began July 7 against harsh handling of the naval officers in speeches by Reed and Secretary of State Stimson.

With Reed's apologetic eulogy in the record and agreement reached between the two groups on the Norris resolution administration leaders contended that the party fight was now won. The vote is expected late next week.

Today's opening quorum call found 60 senators present, 11 more than the 49 required to comprise a quorum.

FILMS REGULATION REVISED

BERLIN, July 15.—(UP)—German regulations governing the import quota of financial films have been revised with a more liberal spirit as a result of representations to the government by German film interests, it was learned today.

The representations were the outgrowth of the recent conference at Paris between German and American film company representatives, presided over by Will Hays, who acted as arbitrator of their controversies growing out of international patents.

Pours Scalding Water On Head of Brother

PITTSBURGH, July 15.—(UP)—Kenneth Crane, carpenter, faced a 30-day jail sentence today after drinking himself, police said, in to a frenzy that was capped when he poured boiling water over his blind half-brother as he slept.

Crane, seized with a drunken rage, his half-brother, Henry Salmon testified, dragged his housekeeper from the house and returned to the room where the blind man lay asleep.

Salmon awoke, he said, to feel the scalding liquid against his skin. He escaped serious burns by pulling the covers about his head.

HOOVER PLANS FOR VACATION IN SEPTEMBER

May Visit Glacier or Yellowstone National Park or Both of Them

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(UP)—President Hoover expects to be able to spend at least two weeks in the northern Rocky Mountains late in August or early in September, his secretary, George Akerson, announced today.

The statement was issued following publication of some critical newspaper reports suggesting the president was afraid to go west because of the wheat situation and political conditions there.

Awerson said the original plan to take a month's holiday in the western national parks had to be abandoned because congress has not completed its work within the time contemplated when the announcement of the proposed trip was made, May 9.

In addition Mr. Hoover will be required to spend some time in Washington to complete several important matters after adjournment of the special session of the senate now sitting.

"The president has received a great number of cordial invitations to make public appearances and addresses in various cities enhoute," Akerson said in a mimeographed statement.

"The curtailment of the period when he will be away from Washington and the very nature of taking a holiday and rest will preclude acceptance of these invitations and he believes they will not be pressed."

While it was not made clear just where the president would go, it was assumed he would visit Glazier or Yellowstone national parks, or perhaps both. But he has definitely given up hope of a tour of more of the western parks.

Youth Confesses To Killing Nurse

BUTLER, N. J., July 15.—(UP)—Harry Woolsey jr., 14-year-old son of a wealthy Jersey City paint manufacturer, confessed today, police said, to killing his nurse, Miss Anna Miller, 23, while they were on a hike Sunday afternoon.

The boy, described as mentally abnormal, stabbed the young woman seven times with a hunting knife, it was said, after a quarrel over "different little things." Nothing was known of the killing until Miss Miller's body was discovered yesterday afternoon, lodged between two large rocks in a desolate, inaccessible spot near Green Pond.

Elect Governor In Mexico Illegally

MEXICO CITY, July 15.—(UP)—The gubernatorial difficulties of Chihauhua state appeared again today with the election of Romulo F. Escobar as provisional governor for the remainder of Gov. Francisco A. Almada's term.

Escabar's election by the state legislature yesterday was announced by the federal department of interior, but usually well informed political quarters here said there might be some doubt as to the election's constitutionality. Most of the legislators present were Almada supporters, while the supporters of Manuel Jesus Estrada, Almada's political opponent, were in Mexico City.

JUNIOR PILOT INJURED WHEN PLANE CRASHES

Holder of Transcontinental Record Undergoes An Operation Today

BENNINGTON, Vt., July 15.—(UP)—Frank Goldsborough, 19-year-old holder of the junior trans-continental flight record, was brought to Putnam hospital here today almost a full 24 hours after he had suffered a fractured skull in an airplane crash.

He was removed later to the operating room. Drs. J. C. Armstrong and John Trotter decided to operate on his skull.

Mrs. Gertrude Goldsborough, his mother, was allowed to see him shortly after his arrival at the hospital. While physicians prepared to operate, she was in the waiting room.

He had lain pinned beneath the wreckage of his plane through a cold night after Donald Mockler, New York publicity agent, who had been thrown from the plane when it struck, trudged through dense woods and underbrush to get aid here.

The accident occurred near an abandoned lumber camp, eight miles from Woodford, the nearest community while Goldsborough and Mockler were en route from Cleveland, O., to Keene, N. H., where Mockler was engaged to lecture last night. Unable to judge his altitude properly because of fog, the young pilot brought his ship too low. Upon striking the tree, one wing and part of the tail was severed from the plane. The remainder fell to earth.

Mockler tried in vain for an hour to extricate Goldsborough from the wreckage. Finally, he determined he would have to get assistance. Mockler thought at the time that injured legs were the extent of Goldsborough's injuries.

Gunfire from Wife Of Jailer Timely

PECOS, Tex., July 15.—(UP)—Mutiny in the Pecos jail was answered by a blaze of gunfire by the jailer's wife, Mrs. W. Duncan, last night, after her husband had been overpowered and severely beaten.

Mrs. Duncan killed one of the mutineers, subdued three others, then fought a hand-to-hand battle with the fifth before he jumped through a window and escaped.

Having beaten the jailer into submission, the five inmates of the jail made a dash for liberty, but were intercepted by the jailer's wife, brandishing a gun.

"A step nearer and I'll kill the pack of you," she warned.

"She hasn't got the nerve to shoot," said one. "Let's rush her."

The woman met the attack by firing. Guillermo Hernandez, 31, under 39 year sentence for murder fell dead, a bullet in his heart.

Hoover Discusses Low Wheat Prices

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(UP)—The crisis of declining wheat prices was discussed at length by President Hoover with his cabinet today after Secretary of Agriculture Hyde had reported on the situation disclosed during his western tour.

Various methods of coping with the problem were debated, with Hyde known to be in opposition to the plan of Senator Capper (Rep., Kan.), to have the federal farm board purchase millions of bushels of wheat in order to "peg" the price before it dips further.

DAVIS REMAINS AT POST

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(UP)—Secretary of Labor Davis has consented to remain at his cabinet post for the present and any speculation regarding his successor is premature, President Hoover announced today.

The announcement was made in answer to questions regarding reports Robe Carl White, assistant to Davis, was slated to get the post. Davis recently was chosen Republican senatorial candidate in Pennsylvania and has indicated he will remain here at least until after Labor day.

Calvin Coolidge Says

By CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 15.—"In Massachusetts we are celebrating the three hundredth anniversary of the granting of the frist charter to the Old Bay Colony. That event had not only national but world significance. It was one of the early and potential beginnings of constitutional government. It started a new train of thought and action which has changed the whole foundation of human relationship. An era that was begun by an English document transplanted to this commonwealth and developed by people who came from the ends of the earth to share its responsibilities and its benefits will be commemorated by the presence of representatives of many States and nations all bearing testimony to their allegiance to the principle of liberty under the law, local self government, and civil and religious freedom which Massachusetts has established and disseminated with so much power and success. To enumerate the inestimable blessings that it has conferred, the great names that it has produced, the glories that it has encompassed, would be to restate the record of modern civilization. Never before were the rights of man advanced so far in three centuries. It is a heritage that lays on all humanity the gravest responsibilities but endows them with the largest promise of future progress."

14 KILLED IN RIOTING TODAY IN ALEXANDRIA

Two Hundred and Fifty Other Persons Reported Injured In Fights

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 15.—(UP)—Rioters, inflamed by the political situation and by anti-European sentiment, held sway in the streets of Alexandria today, killing and wounding many, including Europeans.

An official announcement late in the day said 14 had been killed, including one Italian and seven other Europeans. The wounded numbered 250, of whom many were in a serious condition.

The rioting was precipitated by political demonstrations led by the Wafd section, which called a strike in protest against the government's policies and the suspension of parliament.

The casualty list grew heavy when police, bombarded with stones by the mob, fired into the rioters from the hood of the law courts.

The disturbance centered in Mohamed Ali square, which was finally cleared of the struggling demonstrators by a detachment of the Egyptian army. Reinforcements were sent from Cairo.

Late this afternoon the authorities believed they had the situation under control. Among those critically wounded in the rioting was an Italian.

ALABAMA BANK IS ROBBED OF BIG SUM TODAY

More Than $50,000 Taken By Bandits Who Use Machine Gun

WOODLAWN, Ala., July 15.—(UP)—The American National bank here was robbed of $50,000 today by bandits who forced C. L. Porter, teller, to open vaults.

After entering the institution with a bookkeeper the bandits forced patrons and bank employes to lay flat on the floor while they obtained the money.

Stopping in front of the bank, four or five of the men, black masks over their faces and automatics and sub-machine guns in their hands entered the bank.

More than a dozen employees were at work and half a dozen customers were in the building. Barking out commands to "stick 'em up," the raiders lined the people up on the floor.

They entered the open vault and rifled it of currency and negotiable bonds valued at more than $50,000.

Commanding the clerks and customers to remain quiet, the gunmen fled from the building.

As the bandit car roared up to the bank, a crowd of people quickly gathered on the sidewalk. Before the men could enter the building, the alarm had been touched off and was ringing.

Without halting, four raiders went into the bank. One stood on the sidewalk and held the crowd at bay with a sub-machine gun. A sixth sat at the wheel of the car.

By the time the robbery was complete, citizens had secured firearms and were ready to halt the flight of the raiders. They opened fire on the gunmen as they rushed from teh building.

One raider was hit and dropped to the ground. A companion picked him up and put him in the car, leaving a trail of blood behind.

The bandits spared one citizen, Harry Nelson, who ran up the street as the holdup took place.

DANCER RECOVERS BACCARAT LOSSES

LE TOURQUET, France, July 15.—(UP)—Jennie Dolly, of the Dolly Sisters dancing team, recovered her week-end losses at baccarat when she had 10,000,000 francs (about $400,000) early today after eight hours of continuous play.

Miss Dolly entered the Le Tourquet casino at 5 p. m. yesterday and at 1a.m. today she was still winning heavily, staking as much as 500,000 francs at each play.

The run on the bank was so heavy that additional funds were sent for hurriedly three times to enable it to pay off Miss Dolly.

The dancer recently won 6,000,000 francs in the casino, but lost heavily last week-end, although the exact amount of her losses was not revealed.

Grape Owners Lose Campaign

FRESNO, Calif., July 15.—(UP)—Houpe for government control of the state's grape crop faded when the campaign to contract the necessary 85 per cent of total acreage ended last night—still some 35,000 acres short of its goal.

Although the five-day extension of the campaign granted by the federal farm board is officially ended, the several days necessary before the board has completed its computations will be used to add to the quota, Wylie M. Giffen, chairman of the state wide campaign, announced today.

"The government's program and its success is so important and means so much to the state that we must not give up until the very last minute," Griffen said.

Facts Brought Out In Probe By Senators

Publicity Man For Chicago Woman Takes Exception to Sen. Nye

FEDERAL BUILDING, CHICAGO, July 15.—(UP)—Known expenditures in Ruth Hanna McCormick's successful campaign for the Republican nomination to the United States senate reached $326,000 today with the revelation that an additional $7,000 had been spent without her knowledge by friends in McLean county.

W. D. Alexander testified before the campaign expenditures hearing being conducted by Senator Gerald P. Nye in Chicago that he had spent that amount in Bloomington where he acted as Mrs. McCormick's manager, "because of my friendship for her."

Other testimony at the morning session of today's hearing included that of Frederick A. Smith. He described himself as Mrs. McCormick's publicity man and made several humorous remarks about his duties which disturbed the dignity of Senator Nye.

Smith told jokingly of his "research work," which included reading the Congressional Record "reveling in thrilling tariff debates and delving into soy bean statistics."

"Every day I take up my cross," Smith said.

Mrs. McCormick, who attended the hearing expecting to be recalled as witness, laughed out loud at Smith's remarks. Senator Nye, resplendant in white striped trousers and blue coat, frowned.

Smith then became more serious and made a statement criticizing Senator Nye for giving publicity to reports that Mrs. McCormick's campaign was corrupt. He said he had seen newspaper clippings declaring that she and "Scarface" Al Capone, the gang chief, had a political alliance.

EMPLOYMENT SEEN ON RAILROAD LINE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—(UP)—Ten million dollars worth of employment in northern California loomed today with the announcement by Col. J. W. Williams, chief engineer for the Western Pacific railroad, that bids for the construction of the line's 112-mile stretch of rail from Keddie to Bieber will be invited this week.

Anticipating favorable action by the interstate commerce commission upon their application to join the Great Northern at Bieber, and wishing to rush construction in every way, Col. Williams disclosed, plans and specifications for the line have been ready for some months.

It is expected that bids will be opened on or about July 25 and that the award may be made by August 1.

The contract will call for grading tunneling, bridges, tracks and ballasting. Representatives of 15 contracting firms last week made an inspection trip with Western Pacific engineers.

Briand Waits For Economic Replies

PARIS, July 15.—(UP)—Today was the date Aristide Briand set for the return of replies to his questionnaire on an economic European federation. Only seven answers have been published and 16 of the 26 nations have not been heard from even in the press.

All the published answers favored a federation, although most of the nations included reservations. The replies were from Sweden, which was published today; Spain, Holland, Italy, Roumania, Denmark and Austria.

The foreign office explained that most of the 16 countries which have not answered had informed Briand they would send their replies before the end of this week. Great Britain, Belgium and Switzerland are among the countries not heard from. It was believed the British answer would be received tomorrow or Thursday.

Only a half hour behind the champion, Bill Kearney, was also photographed for a news reel.

Governor Young Acts to Expedite Return of Witness in Mooney Case

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—(UP)—Gov. C. C. Young today acted to expedite the return to California of John MacDonald, itinerant waiter and key witness in the state's case against Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings.

MacDonald, who made positive identification of Mooney and Billings at the San Francisco murder trials and since has signed affidavits in repudiation, will be questioned further regarding his conflicting statements, according to the governor.

In a statement to the state's attorney at Baltimore, where MacDonald was located after a nationwide search, the governor said California was willing to defray his expenses to this state and added:

"I am in receipt of a telegram from attorneys for John MacDonald, now living in Baltimore, stating that he had made an affidavit before the state's attorney of that city to the following effect:

"That his testimony in the trials of Mooney and Billings and the others was a complete fabrication and false in all its essential details; that he did not see either Mooney or Billings at the place where the explosion occurred; that his identification of them at the

JUDGE TELLS JURY STORY OF SLAYING

KEATON IS SILENT

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—The Los Angeles county grand jury returned a murder indictment shortly before noon today against Frank D. Keaton for the slaying of Motley Flint. At the same time the coroner's jury brought in a verdict that Keaton shot the Los Angeles banker with homicidal intent.

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—(UP)—The murder of Motley H. Flint, prominent Southern California financier, was recounted in detail at an inquest here today by Superior Judge Frank Collier, in whose courtroom the slaying took place yesterday.

The jurist, one of the first witnesses at the inquest, said he heard the first shot fired at Flint and looked up in time to see Frank D. Keaton, the admitted killer, send two more bullets into the financier.

"Flin had just finished testifying in a case in my court," Judge Collier said. "I excused him from the witness stand. An attorney handed me an exhibit in the case and I was examining the exhibit when I heard a loud explosion.

Witnessed Killing

"I looked up and saw the slayer of Flint fire two more shots. Flint's hand groped for his chest. He stumbled and then fell over backward."

Judge Collier said he left the bench and ran to Keaton.

"I grabbed him and asked him for the gun. He pointed toward Flint's body. He had thrown the

Shoots Motorists When Denied Ride

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—(UP)—Three people were in a local hospital today as the result of a drunken man's rage at being refused an automobile ride last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Mull were stopped by D. L. Spillane on a dark street as they were returning home in their automobile. Spillane jumped on the running board and demanded a ride. Mull refused and was about to drive on when the enraged man pulled a gun and fired at Mrs. Mull, wounding her in the leg.

Mull grappled with the assailant and was also shot in the forehead. As Mull slumped to the ground a passerby, Ed Brown, knocked Spillane to the ground with a heavy piece of timber.

Cities Defend Right To Larger Share Of Gas Tax

INEQUALITIES IN ALLOTMENT TOLD TO BOARD

Declaring that there is growing feeling of dissatisfaction in all the municipalities of the county with the way that the gasoline tax funds alloted to Orange county are being spent and that some fair method should be adopted by county authorities, representatives of eight cities in Orange county appeared before the county board of supervisors today and askd that the board work out a plan that would be fair and satisfactory.

The meeting resulted from discussion at the Orange County Association of Municipalities, which is composed of city officials and members of the boards of trustees of all the cities in the county, where for some time a feeling has been growing that the cities should have a larger participation in the gas tax fund that is received by the county from the state.

Cities represented in the appearance before the board of supervisors today were Newport Beach, Anaheim, Fullerton, Huntington Beach, San Clemente, Brea, Seal Beach and Santa Ana. The matter was presented to the supervisors by M J.. Johnson, of Newport Beach, president of the county association, and Albert Launer, of Fullerton. Included in the personnel of the delegation which presented its request to the supervisors were Johnson, Launer, O. A. Kreighbaum, of Fullerton, clerk of the association of municipalities; Edward M. McDonald, of Brea; Hal Warner, of San Clemente; George Raymer, Clyde Jenken, Frank Purinton, L. M. Banks, Stanley Goode, J. L. McBride, all of Santa Ana, and George Miller, of Anaheim.

A number of petitions asking the allocation of funds from the gas tax money for use in city street improvements were presented to the board by Johnson, who stated that the petitions carried the signatures of city officials of chambers of commerce and influential business men and civic leaders in all the communities represented and that the petitions probably carried a more distinguished list of names than any other petitions ever before presented to the board of supervisors.

All of the petitions brought out the fact that there was dissatisfaction with the way the board was allocating the funds and set up the claim that the cities should have a fairer share in the distribution of this money. Many of the cities declared that they had never received a cent of aid from the share of the gas tax that is annually refunded to the county by the state, and which it was said amounted to about $350,000 annually.

The petition from Newport Beach stated that citizens there paid about $19,000 annually in the tax and of this amount some $6300 was returned to the county, but that the city had never received any aid from the fund in its street program. They asked for an equitable share. George Jeffrey, supervisor from this district, made the statement that the first year he was on the board an appropriation of $7000 was made for work in Newport Beach. Johnson declared that this work was not done inside the city limits.

Santa Ana declared in its petition that during the past 10 years the city had spent $4,600,000 in construction and maintenance of its streets and that during the same period its citizens had paid $591,300 in gas tax and at the present time are paying at the rate of $97,000 per year, but the city only had $23,500 refunded from this fund by the county.

Anaheim's petition declared that from $32,000 to $33,000 was spent annually in the gas tax but that all this had been spent outside the city. Fullerton set up the assertion that no assistance from the county ever had been received and that they contributed $32,900 annually that was received by the county from the $98,800 tax that its citizens paid. Brea also declared that it never had received any assistance from the county from the fund in question. Laguna Beach made the claim that its roads were used more by outside motorists than they were by its own citizens, as many of the other municipalities had pointed out. The petition from San Clemente had not been brought to the meeting but is to be forwarded to the board.

Launer, as spokesman for the group, asserted that the tentative understanding that they understood to be in force among members of the board of supervisors, that 25 per cent of the fund should be set aside for allocation to the cities, was impractical and not a fair allocation. He suggested that 40 per cent would be more in the line with what shold be used for this purpose, and asked that the board adopt a definite policy and go on record in the matter. He also pointed to the fact that interpretation of the law in Los Angeles county permitted the use of this fund in any municipality where the local street program fitted in with the county program, and said that a wider interpretation of the law than had been adopted by the Orange county supervisors, was permissible.

Launer also declared that the group intended to keep after this matter until a fair settlement was reached and he hey would appear bfore he board as often as necessary in th future.

The board, through its chairman, Willard Smith, assured the delegation that the matter would have its consideration and study and that a decision would be transmitted to them after the matter had been investigated from all angles. He also pointed out that they might be restricted by an interpretation of the law governing the matter by the district attorney's office.

BEACH CITY IS TO HAVE AUTO TAX FUND HELP

Members of the board of supervisors today made an appropriation of $12,781.01 from the unapportioned auto tax fund of the county to the use of the city of Huntington Beach, where it is understood that the fund will be used on Seventeenth street in that city. The action was taken on a motion by Supervisor John C. Mitchell.

Other action taken by the board this morning included changing assessments in the county improvement district 26 (the Villa Park water district), ordering school bonds sold for a building program at Orange, and acceptance of an invitation from San Bernardino to attend a meeting there on July 28.

The assessments in the water district were made after a complaint had been registered with the board by E. H. Adams, and certain property had its assessment reduced, while other property had the amount of the assessment increased. The school bonds were ordered advertised for sale and bids are to be opened and the bonds sold, on August 5. The amount of the issue is $75,000 and the bonds carry 5 per cent interest. The San Bernardino meeting is to be preceded by a parade and is to be addrssed by Congressman Phil Swing, who will talk on the Boulder dam project. The members of the board agreed to attend the affair in a body.

trial was untrue; that he never saw either of the men in his life until they were shown to him at the police station and their names given him by the police, and that he was told to identify them by officials in charge of the prosecution."

"There is no question of greater public importance to the state of California than a far-going, complete and open investigation as to whether the testimony of MacDonald at the trials of Billings and Mooney was true or false. I have accordingly wired States Attorney R. O'Connor of Baltimore as follows:

To Pay Expenses

"I have received a wire from MacDonald's attorneys saying he will return to California if transportation is provided. If MacDonald will agree to appear as a witness before California's advisory pardon board in the Mooney case and the judges of California's supreme court in the Billings case upon an open hearing in a thorough-going and complete investigation of all questions involved in his affidavit of 1921 and in his recent affidavit before you, the state of California will provide necessary transportation. Please so advise MacDonald and his attorneys and inform me."

MacDonald testified at the trials, which resulted from the Preparedness Day bombing in which 10 were killed and 40 wounded, that he saw Billings place a suitcase beside a brick wall, go to a corner and meet Money and then leave with him. Mooney and Billings have served 14 years of life sentences.

The state supreme court, relying largely on the veracity of MacDonald's testimony, recently denied a pardon to Billings and Governor Young took similar action on Mooney's application.

gun at Flint after he fired the three shots."

Judge Collier made a positive identification of Keaton as the slayer as did L. J. Selznick, motion picture producer, one of the witnesses in the case in which Flint was called to testify.

Several other persons who were in the courtroom at the time also identified Keaton.

Henry S. Mackey jr., son-in-law of the late United States senator, Frank Flint, brother of the victim, appeared for the purpose of identifying the body.

Throughout the proceedings, Keaton, who has explained that he did the shooting because he believed his stock market losses and the collapse of the Julian Petroleum corporation were caused by Flint, sat quietly between police officers.

"Nothing to Say"

Keaton explained to Coroner Nance that he had no attorney and had "nothing to say."

"Do you wish to refrain from testifying on the grounds that it might incriminate you?" the coroner asked.

"I just haven't anything to say," Keaton answered.

Officers who arrested Keaton said that his mind apparently went blank after he killed the banker.

"He didn't exactly admit he fired the shot," Detective Lt. Filcas said. "He told us though that everything went black and hazy before him. He told us that someone told him that Flint was responsible for his loss of $4600 in stocks."

The autopsy surgeon's report revealed that any one of the three bullets which struck Flint would have caused instant death.

While the inquest was being concluded the county grand jury opened its investigation into the slaying. Judge Collier was one of the witnesses called by the grand jury.

CONFERENCE TO TAKE PLACE ON NEXT TUESDAY

Agitation for a county union junior college, which has been strongly pushed in various localities of the county, is to result in a joint meeting of the board of trustees of the Fullerton junior college with the Santa Ana board of education, next Tuesday night, it was learned today. The session is scheduled to be held at the office of the Santa Ana board at eight o'clock.

Plans for a union junior college have been under discussion by county educational authorities and committees of the associated chambers of commerce for some time and various plans have been broached. At one time the Fullerton Junior college was thought to be out of the deal, but the fact that the controlling board of this institution is to meet with the Santa Ana board for a discussion is taken as an indication that the matter may yet reach fruition fith all the school districts of the county included.

The creation of a county junior college should mean the building of a fine institution of this character, as sufficient valuation would be included to provide adequate funds for the project. It is reported that the meeting with the Fullerton board is at the invitation of the Santa Ana board and that the matter was suggested by members of the chamber of commerce organization which has been active in an effort to bring the union junior college into being.

KILLER PLANS TO ENTER SELF DEFENSE PLEA

Pete Gonzales, 29, of Delhi, self confessed slayer of Manuel Valenzuella, in a knife-pistol battle at Measer street and Central avenue, Delhi, Sunday afternoon, will plead self defense, it was announced today by N. D. Meyer, counsel for Gonzales.

Meyer will contend that his client stabbed Valenzuella to death in protecting his own life and after Valenzuella had fired at him with a pistol, he said today.

A coroner's jury, in an inquest over the body of the slain Mexican this morning at the Harrell and Brown Funeral parlors, returned a verdict as follows:

"Death from a stab wound in the heart, with a knife in the hands of Pete Gonzales, at Gloryetta, July 13, 1930."

Deputy District Attorney Leo Friis, as well as Meyer, were present at the inquest.

Officers still were investigating the case today, seeking a motive for the murder. The men were seen, arm in arm, walking down the street a few minutes before the fight, and they also learned, it was said, that the two had a battle Sunday morning, in which neither was seriously hurt. They became friends after that, however and then fought again.

That a woman, Elisa Bozorquez, who witnessed the fight, may have had something to do with the feelings of the men against each other, also was being investigated, it was reported.

Increase Reward On Stolen Cattle

The California Cattlemen's association, through it's secretary, Earl D. Schedmer, at Los Angeles, announced today to Sheriff Sam Jernigan that the board of directors of the organization had decided to increase rewards for stolen cattle from $200 to $500.

The money will be paid to persons who give information that causes the arrest and conviction of persons stealing cattle from any of the members of the association.

Goetz was arrested by Chief of Police B. H. Richards and Motorcycle Officer Pete Winslow, of Orange, at Orana yesterday morning.

Only her own prompt action in smothering the blaze, and the assistance of her maid and a woman visitor saved Mrs. Fluor more serious injuries.

Mrs. Fluor is the wife of the secretary of the Fluor Corporation, Ltd., and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Warner, 2357 Riverside drive, Santa Ana. Mr. and Mrs. Fluor formerly resided here. Mr. Fluor was at his office in Los Angeles when the explosion occurred.

Mrs. Fluor's face was painfully burned but her eyes were not endangered. Her hands were seared as she successfully beat out the flames. Her hair was burned as also was the back of her head.

BISHOP SEAGER GIVES SERMON FOR ASSEMBLY

Large crowds attended the services at the summer assembly of the California conference of Evangelical churches on the assembly grounds west of Santa Ana yesterday. Registration and enrollment for the convention, which opens officially tomorrow, will be held commencing at three o'clock this afternoon.

Features of the meeting yesterday were sermons by Bishop L. H. Seager, of Le Mars, Ia., the morning watch service, and the young peoples' service in the evening. The Rev. Paul D. Steps, pastor of the San Bernardino church, led the service at the morning watch, which consisted of songs, prayer and meditation on a passage of scripture from First Corinthians. Some 200 persons attended the Sunday school service, which started at 9 a. m., with the Rev. E. Durgi, of Anaheim, teaching the adult group.

Bishop Seager preached three times yesterday. His subject at the morning service was "The Conservation of Faith" and he used as his text Luke, 18:8, "When the son of man cometh, shall He find faith on the earth?" The afternoon subject was "The Challene of the Unfinished Task" which was based on the text "Give me this mountain" from Joshua, 14:12. At the evening service when there was an attendance of over 400, the Bishop preached on the subject "And Peter" from Mark, 16:7.

Lester Rohrs led the young peoples' service at 6:30 p. m. with a discussion of the subject "What Is Your Hobby?"

The Rev. G. G. Schmidt, of Torrance, preached the sermon at the morning service today, and at 2:30 p. m. the Rev. S. Schrader, of Los Angeles, was in charge of the services. The Rev. Mr. Steps led the morning watch again today.

The convention proper will open tonight following registration today with asermon by Bishop Seaer.

FLYING FIELD VERY POPULAR AT FULLERTON

FULLERTON, July 15.—Enjoyment of the thrills of flying is not hindered by age, according to Mrs. R. E. Deter, 77, who took her first flight with Claude Long, of the Fullerton Municipal airport, Sunday.

"This was my first trip, but I hope it will not be my last one," Mrs. Deter declared when she landed. "I enjoyed every minute of the ride."

Mrs. Deter is the mother of R. B. Carey, Fullerton contractor.

Many Ships Visit Field

Activity at the Fullerton airport is increasing, according to Long, who said that during the past week 14 visiting ships landed at the port in addition to the regular flying of the four Waco planes and Stinson Detroiter cabin ship which fly regularly at the airport.

The visiting planes included three navy pursuit ships from San Diego, one naval reserve plane from Long Beach, an army plane from March field, two commercial planes from Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale; one from Pomona airport, three from Curtis Flying service at Mines field, Los Angeles, and three from Eddie Martin's airport at Santa Ana.

To Grade Runway

Plans for city street department equipment to be used in grading and smoothing the runway are being made, it was said. The runway has not been graded or worked since it was oiled a year ago.

Groover Held To Answer By Court

Claude Groover, La Habra service station operator, charged with an offense against a 17 year old girl, was held to answer to the superior court this morning from Justice Kenneth Morrison's court at the conclusion of his preliminary examination. Bail of $3000 was demanded which he did not make.

Groover is alleged to have enticed the girl to his service station on the pretext of giving her a job.

SETTLE SUIT FOR $15,000 DAMAGES

When the cases of Clare Dale and Charles O. Dale against L. J. Sliger came up for trial in the court of Judge G. K. Scovel today, attorneys had reached an agreement and entered a stipulation as to the amount of judgment that should be entered. Clare Dale, 20, was awarded $1360 and his father, the other plaintiff, was given judgment for $200.

The court actions grew out of an accident at the intersection of Dowling and Orangethorpe avenues last November, when young Dale, who was riding a motorcycle, was injured in a collision with a car driven by Sliger. He sustained fractures of the left foot and leg and sued for $15,000 personal damages and $750 loss of wages for a period of three months. His father asked judgment for $400 for medical expenses.

TELLS ABOUT OLD AND NEW IN RELIGION

"There is a marked contrast between the old and the new religion," said the Rev. W. G. Nicholson, summer preacher at the First Congregational church, yesterday morning, in speaking on the topic, "An Infinite Hazard."

"The old religion saw two possible outcomes for the individual. There was the possibility of winning gloriously and the possibility of losing desperately. In other words the new religion in turning its back upon the doctrine of a hell of eternal fire and torment has lost its sense of any risk in the conduct of life."

The Rev. Mr. Nicholson took his text from the writings of Professor Hocking, of Harvard university: "If your idealism wipe out your fear of hell, and with it all sense of an infinite risk in the conduct of life, your idealism has played you false. No religion is a true religion which is not able to make men tingle, yes, even to their physical nerve tips, with the sense of an infinite hazard, a wrath to come, a heavenly city to be gained or lost in the process of time by the use of our own freedom."

He examined the religion of Jesus and the religion of the Christian centuries in the light of this text and found them answering the requirement of a "true religion" as defined by Hocking. But of the modern religion he said:

"Today we have no sense of any risk in the conduct of life. We have entered upon laissez-faire times in religion. We believe in the inevitability of progress, in the final reconciliation of all souls to God. We go about living carelessly in the happy-go-lucky manner so well interpreted by the words of the popular song: 'Everything will be all right.' We have made a religion a voluntary cloak that a man can put on and take off when he wills.

"We have made it possible for a man to profess religion on Sunday, and engage in activities throughout the week that wreak the lives of human beings, and feel no qualms about it. We have got ourselves into such straits that church members are absolutely at a loss to explain the benefits of being religious. We have produced a world in which are a small group of church members living in the midst of a vast indifferent throng with nothing to challenge the attention of the indifferent.

"Let religion return to an im-

"Let religion return to an impartial study of life. Impartial analysis of life will display the fact that life is continually offering us opportunities for character growth. To make the most of these opportunities for character growth is to succeed. But to ignore them is to travel the road which leads to miserable failure. Opportunities rejected build into a man the realization of the man he might have been which stands out in sharp and awful contrast to the man that he really is. The agony of mind and heart caused by this contrast is hell enough for any man. Said the poet: 'Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these—It might have been'."

WOMEN'S GROUP HEARS TALK BY ART DIRECTOR

Those deft little touches that serve to make a house a home, were dwelt upon, in a most illuminating manner by Ruth Kay Forman, member of the art department of a Los Angeles high school, when she was introduced yesterday as speaker for the Business and Professional Women's club, holding its weekly session in St. Ann's inn.

Mrs. Forman illustrated her talk with some interesting vases, some of which were extremely valuable, while others were within the means of the most modest budget. But each expressed beauty in form, design or coloring, and each was shown for its relative value in contributing to the beauty of a home. Quaint little figurines were included, and it was shown how an interesting group might be arranged with these charming small figurines as units expressing certain moods.

That such moods might express a season, and then be laid away until that season returned again, was one of the interesting ideas advanced by the speaker, who suggested that the Oriental plan of frequently changing ornaments and vases might well be adopted by the occidental homemaker. She also suggested that it was an excellent idea to try to see one's home with new eyes, and the probable result would be that fully half the pictures used on the walls, would be removed.

Color combinations and harmonies were discussed as well, and that topic of ever present interest ,lamps. It is Mrs. Forman's belief that lamps should be designed for that one purpose alone, and that the utilizing or any oddly shaped jar or bottle for the table lamps now in such popularity, is to be avoided.

It seemed most apropos that the club should take the opportunity to present gifts for home beautification to its two current brides, Mrs. Elmer E. Webster (Mabel Rockwell) and Mrs. Joseph Catherina (Myrtle Meyer). To Mrs. Webster was given a graceful bon glass vase with crystal figure, and to Mrs. Catherina was presented topaz crystal to match the set she is assembling.

Business matters brought up for discussion by the president, Mrs. Hazel Northcross, included that of increasing state federation dues from 75 cents to a dollar. The club took favorable action on this question.

Attention was called to next Monday's program, a dinner at 6:30 o'clock in the English tavern on Whittier boulevard just beyond the Quaker City, at which Dr. Stewart Fitch, of Pasadena, will show fascinating pictures of his European wanderings. Members who have not yet made reservations for themselves or their guests may yet do so by telephoning Miss Lena Thomas, reservations chairman. Dr. Fitch will address the clubwomen as a special courtesy to Dr. Mary E. Wright, one of the active members.

FOREIGN PLANE TRADE

PARIS, July 12.—The airplane is growing in importance as a commodity carrier in foreign trade as shown in the record value of imports through Le Bourget airport here. Imports by plane into this port were valued at $140,000,000 in 1929, while imports in 1928 were valued at $20,000,000.

Don't Take Pills For Constipation

Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver disgorge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in a day or two and you have to swallow more pills.

What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic like Plantlax to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all foul secretions and at the same time restore the torpid, lazy liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, coated tongue, sallow skin, sour stomach, gas, billious attacks or other symptoms of constipation and liver trouble.

Plantlax is made from the juices of harmless medicinal plants — Nature's own remedies—that act in a mild, easy way without weakening or irritating the organs. Try it tonight. Large bottle $1 at any good drug store.

STUART LUCAS GIVES TALK TO LAGUNA LIONS

A good joke was perpetrated on several of the political candidates last night at the meeting of the Laguna Beach Lions club at their regular dinner at the Harmony inn on the state boulevard.

There were present three of the would be office holders and the personal representative of another. At the presentation of guests, Charley Artz, of Tustin, and Stuart Lucas, of Corona del Mar, were introduced as candidates for supervisor for the fifth district, and Ray Adkinson as a candidate for county superintendent of schools. They had been asked by the program committee to present their views.

After the regular business of inducting two new members into fellowship, President Bowen stated that he would call on each of the candidates but that as the rules of the club did not permit political speeches, the candidates must confine themselves to other subjects. He then called on Lucas.

Lucas replied that, as he had been eating, drinking, and sleeping nothing but politics for the last two months, he felt himself handicapped, but that he would try to confine his remarks to questions of general interest, and eliminate the personal equation.

"It is a matter of general knowledge that the flood control project is not a dead issue, but that it will be submitted to the voters at the earliest possible moment, and that this district again will be called upon to register her protest against that measure from which we here derive no benefit," said Lucas. The success of that measure would entail a toll upon the taxpayers of Laguna of $23,000 per annum for 40 years, or more than the present salary account of the city officials. Our neighboring city of Newport Beach would have to spend $36,000 per annum. Seven of the major projects of the United States reclamation service were estimated to cost a total of $22,000,000, by the engineers, while the finished work actually cost Uncle Sam $60,000,000. Should this same ratio obtain in the local project, Laguna's share of the expense would be about $65,000 per annum and Newport Beach's around $90,000 per year. It is not unfair to presume that this would be the case, as the San Gabriel canyon job was estimated by the engineers at $16,500,000 and at the time of its abandonment, after some $5,000,000 had been spent, the estimate had been swelled to $66,000,000. This probability is further supported by the fact that after the expenditure of $120,000 on the Orange county project for preliminary work, it was found that "that the first requisite of dam building" (taking cores from the site of the foundation) had not been done in any of the eight or nine contemplated locations."

"One other subject," continued Lucas, "On looking up the amount of beach open to the public along the coast of Orange county, I find about two miles at Huntington Beach, seven miles at Newport Beach, three quarters of a mile at Laguna Beach, 200 feet at Three Arches, and I have been informed that there are three strips of beach each 1000 feet long at San Clemente, that have been dedicated to that city. Then there is three quarters of a mile at Dana Point that show as dedicated to the public, the only access to which is a drive of some 50 years standing that the county officials have allowed to be fenced in and a big gate with a padlock now makes this beach accessable to no one but S. H. Woodruff and his friends.

Last November a county road lying between the Santa Fe tracks and the beach along most of the length of Capistrano Beach was abandoned by the board of supervisors, and was soon afterwards fenced in. I hope I have not taken too much of your time or overstepped the bounds of your by-laws. I thank you," concluded Lucas.

The president thanked Lucas for the information imparted and said that many of the things mentioned were news to him and that he felt that each member present would profit by having these things brought to his attention.

Artz was then introduced and said that there was nothing left for him to say except that he was glad to be there and that he appreciated the privilege of having met the boys. Atkinson stated that, as he would be in Laguna for a couple of weeks, he would do his talking piecemeal.

Dr. Huston, of Costa Mesa Lions club, then gave a talk on what the Lions should mean to its members; and after a rendition of "Sweet Adeline" by the quartet in true prewar fervor, in which they were joined by various members, and some dogs that had been gathered outside awaiting the remains of the repast, the meeting adjourned.

The dinner will be served by the members of the American Legion auxiliary at 6:30 o'clock and it is expected that about 75 will be present.

Members of the building committee include George Franzden, W. H. Hart, Claude Potter, Logan Jackson, James Regan and Clyde Slater.

BREAKFASTERS TO HEAR LOUIS DANZ

Louis Danz, of Anaheim, will be the speaker on the Thursday morning program of the Breakfast club, it was announced today by B. Z. McKinney, president.

The committee, composed of Sheriff Sam Jernigan, Jesse Elliott and Dave Wittlin, has arranged for an address by this entertaining talker. Danz relates in a comical way some of the observations he made on a trip to Europe.

"Stormy" Gordon and his Elks jazz orchestra will play during the early morning session of the club.

It is expected a special initiation ceremony will be put on by a committee appointed by the president at the last meeting.

OPERA SINGER TO APPEAR ON BAND PROGRAM

Another record crowd is anticipated in attendance at the concert which will be presented in Birch park next Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock by the Santa Ana Municipal band, under the direction of D. C. Cianfoni, since this event will not only feature "Italian Night," with a wealth of musical gems from Italian composers, but it will mark the local appearance of Mme. Maria Caselotti, celebrated opera singer, who is well known both in this country and Europe, in the role of featured soloist.

Mme. Caselotti, whose talent and beauty will be well remembered by those local music lovers who were privileged to hear her in one of her most celebrated roles, that of Violetta in the famous Verdi opera "La Travaiata" which was presented here last November, is looking forwardeagerly to her second appearance here in Santa Ana, this time in the role of concert artist. She is planning to present one of her most noted arias, the beautiful "Ah Fors'e Lui" from the first act of "Traviata," a favorite with many noted singers. In this aria Mme. Caselotti employs an original cadenza, which is especially suited to display her unusual range and the great flexibility of her voice, which is an unusually rich coloratura.

In addition to the familiar aria, Mme. Caselotti plans to present a varied song group for the enjoyment of local music lovers next Thursday evening, in which will be included English, Spanish, and Italian numbers.

It is interesting to note that since Mme. Caselotti's operatic debut in Brooklyn, New York, eight years ago, she has won sensational triumphs in not only this country, but also in Canada, Italy, Sicily, and Cuba. During a three year period spent in Rome, she was often heard in leading operatic roles at the Costanzi theater, now the Royal Opera house, in the great Italian music center, at all times winning great ovations of applause.

According to announcement given out by Cianfoni, selections to be presented on this occasion by the band will include that favorite of all overtures, Rossini's spectacular "William Tell," as well as operatic selections from the equally loved masterpieces from Verdi, "Aida" and "Il Trovatore." An instrumental sextette will add variety, playing the beautiful sextette from "Lucia." Other works from Italian composers will also be presented.

PAIR ACCUSED OF BEATING OFFICER

Arraigned on a charge of assault and battery today before Justice A. A. Earley, of La Habra, Donald Sutherland, 32, and Harold Sutherland, 34, were released on bail of $650 after being accused of beating up E. N. Brown, traffic officer, Saturday night.

During the course of an asserted wild party at the Sutherland home at Erlo and Hazel streets, the Sutherland brothers went away and came across Officer Brown. He took them home but the two suddenly turned on him and gave him a sever beating, reports said. The policeman managed to call for reinforcements and the men were lodged in jail in an assertedly intoxicated state.

They were released on bail this morning at 10 o'clock and the other five members of the party who also were arrested pleaded not guilty. They were charged with disorderly conduct. The Sutherland trial was set for July 22 at 9:20 a. m. and the other trial will be held on July 28 at 9:30 a. m. The five in the home besides the Sutherland brothers were Mrs. Bessie Sutherland, Miss Wilma Fleming, Miss Pearl Willerd, A. T. Boster and Lester Hall.

OIL WELL CENTER OF COURT ACTION

A family fuss over inheritence of some land on which an oil well was developed, reached superior court today when suit was filed by Mary Moseley Lugo, et al., children of May Moseley, deceased, against their father, John H. Moseley, et al. Included among the defendants is the step-mother and administrator of the mother's estate.

The complaint asks to have the defendants declared involuntary trustees of real and personal property, to establish the existence of a trust and for an accounting and equitable relief.

It is set forth in the document that the plaintiffs are the children and the sole and only legal heirs of May Moseley, and that certain property was left on which an oil lease was in force and which has since developed a producing well. Charges are made that the father took certain actions "pursuant to a pre-arranged and pre-concerted plan and course of action" of the defendants to encumber and cloud the title of the plaintiffs in certain property and to wrongfully and illegally deprive the plaintiffs of their respective rights and interests in the property.

Find Large Snakes Coiled In Foliage

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., (INS)—July 15.—A good snake story—perhaps the best of the year.

A smal lboy driving a team of farm horses in a field near here stopped beneath a tree to rest his horses in the shade.

Out of the branches uncoiled a blacksnake. H. A. James, game protector, who was passing, killed the snake.

And they were kept busy for the next few moments. Snake after snake, four in all, uncoiled and slid down into the wagon.

C. OF C. BODY BACKING STATE PARK AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 15.—Owen Mosier and Mrs. Marie Weiner were elected directors of the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting held Monday noon at the Golden Bear cafe. They take the places made vacant by resignations of two directors who moved away from the city.

President Osborn of the organization stated that he had received information from the state that probably $150,000 had been lost here in wages by oil workers during the life of the field. The statement was made in connection with a discussion of the matter of enacting another oil drilling protective ordinance to be submitted to a vote of the people, phobably some time in the coming autumn.

Discusses Park

T. B. Talbert discussed the state coast park. He stated the state appraisal board and the county appraisal bord had completed their work but that so far efforts to get the two boards together had failed. Plans are under way to get the boards together this week. President Osborn said that it was the plan to conduct an investigation into the matter to see if politics were being played.

President Osborn announced that he had a talk with J. S. Lawshea, manager of the Huntington Beach company and that Mr. Lawshea had turned the beach here over to the Chamber of Commerce to manage. President Osborn said that the management of the beach would be entrusted to the beach committee of which W. E. Ebert is chairman.

Those presen at the meeting were Mrs. Marie J. Weiner, Owen Mosier, Mrs. Jennie Hubbard, W. R. Osborn, president; Mrs. May S. Jackson, secretary; J. E. Son, J. S. Denny, C. P. Patton, J. M. Barnhart, E. J. Conrad, S. R. Bowen, T. B. Talbert.

Gallant Fox Faces Big Race Test Saturday

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

American defense of the America's cup has cost about seven millions . . . Sir Thomas has spent about three millions trying to cop the container . . . The tragedy of Al Lassman, who drowned in a Maine lake recently after two years of suffering, is one of sports' saddest . . . he played football at N. Y. P., declaring repeatedly he didn't like the game . . . wanted to be a fighter, and had a good deal of boxing skill . . . loved to battle . . . was seriously hurt in the Carnegie Tech-N. Y. U. battle at Pittsburg in '28 . . . was near death for months . . . rallied, but his mind seemed affected . . . fought with everything he had . . . his mother had worked hard to give him an education . . . his drowning, of course, was accidental . . . any other verdict is unacceptable because Al Lassman had a fighting heart.

Things You Never Know

Averages in sports answer a great number of questions. So do past performances. But there are thousands of things you never will find out—and these are ahe basis and starting point of those arguments they call the sports department about in the wee hours of the morning.

There is quite a debate raging here and there in America now about the world's heavyweight championship. Many of the people who saw the Sharkey-Schmeling thing in Yankee stadium stoutly declare the German would have come on to win. On the other side are those who think Max was just about through when he sat on the floor holding his groin. There is just as much chance of settling that one as there is of conclusively demonstrating that Jack Dempsey would have knocked out Jack Johnson, taking them both at their best.

The Horse Quarrel

There are still people around the race tracks who deem whichone a better horse than Gallant Fox, though Fox beat the one in their only meeting as 3-year-olds. Shortly after their race, Whichone developed a quarter crack in training. The followers of the whitney horse say he was off his iats the day the Fox showed him many heels.

There are legions of close followers of sports to whom one decision is not conclusive. They are able to summon excuses. Some of this band clung to the banner of Dempsey after Tunney laced the Mauler at Philly. And they are still clinging to the Dempsey cause, with a pretty sound claim to the effect that Gene was knocked out in Chicago. For that matter, the woods are still full of determined souls who will tell you right now that John L. Sullivan was a better man than Jim Corbett.

The Ball—the Pitchers

There is the debate about pitchers and the lively ball. It goes on and on and there never will be an answer. Pittsburg has thousands of folks who are positive Hans Wagner would have batted .750 right through the season with the bumptious baseball now in use. Just as many thousands of others say there is no more good pitching, and that Matty as he was in the old days, even though the sphere they toss up there now may be slightly more animated.

Now and then some little body of willful men issue the proclamation that Notre Dame wouldn't have gone through the season undefeated last year if the Dockne horsemen had been tossed in there against the Pitt Panther.

Another strong-minded sector comes up triumphantly clutching the crushing defeat Southern California administered to the moleskin mighties from Pittsburg and pointing to Notre Dame's victory over the team that gave Pitt such a thorough conquering. But the little body of willful men merely replies, "Bah! Comparative scores!"

However, the fact that Bobby Jones is a golf player seems to go unquestioned. Nobody arises to assert that Jones is just lucky or that there are glaring weaknesses in his play. There would be too many to howl him down.

FLEET COLT TO ENTER ALL-AGE TURF CLASSIC

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

CHICAGO, July 15.—They say Gallant Fox, the greatest stake runner in a decade of three-year-old champions, either will be recognized as another Man O' War by Saturday night or merely as another race horse that went to the races once too often.

He has been a great winner. On Saturday, in the Arlington cup here, they say defeat really will ask him the question for the first time and that his reply must be gallant, indeed, if defeat is to be denied its victim.

For the Arlington cup, it seems, is not to be a "private" horse race as the Belmont, the Withers and the Arlington Classic turned out to be. In each of these, the field stayed home at the last minute and left Gallant Fox nothing to do but run the distance and collect the purse.

Great Horses Are Eentered

The Arlington cup, on the contrary, has mustered an entry among the finest handicap horses in training—Blue Larkspur, Petee-Wrack, Reveille Boy, Windy City, Jock, Brown Wisdom, Paul Bunyan, Victorian and Sun Beau, among others—and so "The Fox" will have more than one or two horses to beat for the first time since he began parlaying his winnings through six straight stake races.

Therefore, when this race is over, the eternal question of Gallant Fox's greatness will be settled so definitely that never again will it arise.

If he wins, he must be accorded a niche on the pedestal of turf immortals.

If he loses, he will remain a good horse, possibly a great horse, but never a immortal one. This kind went down to posterity because they needed no excuse at any time, least of all in a weight-for-age handicap. They were great horses horses because they could beat anybody and did.

Horse Players Dubious

The horse players around here still are a little dubious about "The Fox" and they insist that he yet has to prove whether he can and will do this. He won the Arlington Classic by a neck from Gallant Knight and the boys hereabouts aren't sure whether Sande wasn't thinking about another race when he said that "The Fox" was only spoofing all the time. They seem to think that he ran about as fast as his shanks could carry him.

If this is true, they will have to carry him faster in his first weight-for-age race Saturday or he will finish somewhere down the track to the older and stronger handicap horses. Blue Larkspur, for instance, was quite a champion in his own right a couple of years ago and, judged from his recent races, is still nobody's chump out there. He will have to give "The Fox" plenty of pounds on the scales and so will all the other good handicap horses. But they can do this and get away with it, provided they aren't in there with one of those three-year-olds of the ages.

This about covers the situation: If Gallant Fox is as great as many seem to think, he probably will win. If he isn't, it is not improbable that he will lose.

Decision In Dado-Laredo Bout Probed

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—The Speedy Dado-Chato Laredo boxing bout in Hollywood last Friday was under investigation at a meeting of the state athletic commission here today.

It was understood the inquiry dwelt on the action of Referee Bert Wallis, San Francisco, who aroused a storm of protest when he awarded the decision to Laredo.

Defending Wallis, Boxing Inspector Frank Moran was reported to have said he received a letter from Charles Traung, San Francisco commissioner, asking Wallis be given work.

"I gave Moran no such letter," Traung declared on arriving here. "Wallis is the last man I would send down here. He is only a preliminary referee and had no business in an important main event. Also, it would be presmuptious for me to send a man into the territory of Commissioner James Woods when competent referees already are here."

JOHNNY CRESS, BELL LEAD S. A. TENNIS MEET

Johnny Cress, former city champion, and Randolph Bell, who mixes his court game with baseball and other sports, are tied for first place in the Santa Ana summer playground round-robin tennis tournament which has entered its fourth week on the high school cements.

Neither has been defeated and when paired by Merle Ewell, tournament director, promise to offer the season's outstanding singles clash.

Johnny Cress

Four competitors remain unbeaten in Class B action. They are Gordon Smith, winner of six straight matches, and Faris Edgar, Dr. Kenneth Coulson and Ray Foster.

Three women still have a perfect record—May Maag, Barbara Rurup and Mrs. Ward.

"Toby" White, Santa Ana junior college ace, is well ahead in Class D with six successive victories although Carroll Merrick, a newcomer from Texas, and Gerald Zolla, who has played but one match, are tied with him mathematically.

'BIG SHOT' GAMBLERS BETTING ON SINGER TO LIFT MANDELL'S CROWN IN TITLE GO THURSDAY

NEW YORK, July 15.—Although reports that Thursday's 15-round world lightweight championship is "in the bag" for Al Singer have made the New York challenger an 8-5 betting favorite, boxing circles are almost unanimous in picking Champion Sammy Mandell to retain his title.

Singer's record shows little to qualify him as a title contender and only the influence of the powerful clique financially interested in his career enabled him to get the Mandell bout without first proving his right by meeting the two leading contenders, Jack (Kid) Berg and Tony Canzoneri.

Investigation showed no evidence of dishonesty in connection with the bout and sport writers believe the "wise money" favors Singer solely because of the glamblers' conviction that the clique controlling the New Yorker takes no chances in matching their protege.

Singer has been carefully "built up" by meeting second rate opponents and has won numerous queer appearing victories.

Mandell has withstood the heaviest punches of Jimmy McLarnin, acknowledged peer of present day punchers, for 15 rounds and is a master boxer. He is reputed to be slipping, but if he is one-half as good as he was when he fought McLarnin he should give the inexperienced Singer a bad beating.

Bobby Jones' father, of the law firm of Jones, Evins, Power and Jones, of Atlanta, Ga., calls him Rob. But that name could be improved upon, I think, by the addition of two more letters. Robot might be the better name. And it is not a name that Janes would dislike, as he takes no displeasure in being called the mechanical man of the fairways.

In writing of Jones, there is little new to say. Perfection is just that, and it is hard to ballyhoo. Jones' deeds have spoken actual facts. There is little left to the imagination.

Here is something about Jones, however, that I think is interesting. Here is a man who honestly tries to be an amateur.

During the past winter he did not have a golf club in his hands. Every morning at 9 he would enter the offices of the law firm on the thirteenth floor of the Trust company building in Atlanta, and every evening at 5 or thereabouts he would emerge, with a day of legal matters under his belt, or pardon us, under his hat.

He could leave law, enter the game as a professional and roll up what a prizefighter's manager would call "plenty of bucks" within a few years' time. He is 29 now—by the time he was 35 he could be independently wealthy, and could play his beloved golf the live-long day. But he has chosen differently. The world's greatest golfer is a lawyer, perhaps not as yet the greatest lawyer even in Atlanta, but a young lawyer, "trying to get along."

He is the Robot of the fairways, but he is also a young man with a great big heart. He is distant and cool toward the crowds in a golf tournament, but this must not be taken as an indication that there is anything "high-hatted" about him. With his friends and the people he knows and likes he is convival and humorous, with all the hospitality of the traditional southern gentleman.

In his impetuous younger days, Bobby Jones often broke a stick when his art went awry. He doesn't break a great many sticks now; philosophy has somewhat mellowed his temper.

But he still burns up when a shot goes wrong, and his shots still do go wrong, now and then. That is, after all, one of the things about Bobby Jones that endears him to the world. He still can get mad when he's off his game. He's still one of us.

AMERICAN TENNIS TEAM IN PRACTICE

PARIS, July 15.—Inter-zone Davis cup competition between the United States and Italy today held interest chiefly as a test of the youthful American team's chances of lifting the prized international trophy now held by France.

Tennis critics believed the American team was certain to defeat Italy and advance to the challenge round, but were doubtful about the Yankee's ability to end France's three-year reign as Davis cup champions.

George Lott, John Doeg, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, who were named yesterday as the American team for inter-zone competition practiced today under the direction of Coach Karel Kozeluh, world professional champion; Capt. Fitz-Eugene Dixon and William Tilden.

Baer, Kennedy In L. A. Bout Tonight

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Max Baer, Oakland heavyweight idol whose slugging ability has hoisted him to coastwide prominence as a possible championship contender, will meet Les Kennedy, clever Long Beach fighter here tonight in the main event at the Olympic auditorium.

The Oakland scrapper, due largely to his ability to hit, will take the ring a 2 to 1 favorite over Kennedy. Baer tapered off his training Saturday at Soper's famous ranch, arriving at the scene of tonight's battle in perfect condition.

GEORGE MALCEWICZ MATCHED

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Don Goerge, former amateur wrestling king, was signed today for a match with Joe Malcewicz, Utica "mat panther," at the Olympic July 23. George won his first four matches here with a flying head scissors, and has yet to lose a professional bout. Malcewicz recently fell victim to the crafty young wrestler, Everette Marshall, but has won several matches since.

Helen To Pass Up Minor Tourneys

NEW YORK, July 15.—Mrs. Helen Wills Coody, world's ranking women's tennis player, plans to leave New York tomorrow for her home in California and will not return until the national championships at Forest Hills, August 18.

Mrs. Moody, four-time Wimbledon champion, returned on the Majestic yesterday and made plans to embark for California immediately instead of playing in the Seabright, Easthampton and Rye tournaments as has been her custom.

NEW COAST LEAGUE SEASON UNDER WAY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—The second half of the Pacific Coast league's baseball season opens today.

Los Angeles, on past performances, seems the likely contender for leadership honors, but all teams start at scratch with past standings wiped out.

Honolulu Watches For Racing Yachts

HONOLULU, T. H., July 15.—Starting tonight a night long watch will be kept at the finish line off of Diamond Head for the winner in the trans-Pacific yacht race.

The closest vessel that has been reported, The Contender, was last heard of Sunday night approximately 800 miles away. It was believed possible, however, that another boat may have passed The Contender in the meanwhile.

Daley Still Leads Stars; Merrill Next

Although Outfielder Howard ("Rosy") Merrill gained more than 30 points in three weeks, Leavitt Daley is leading the Santa Ana Stars in batting by a wide margin, season averages compiled by The Register showed today.

Daley's average is .443, a few points less than his last mark but still more than 50 points ahead of his closest pursuit.

Merrill's great batting spree carried him into second place without an argument. His mark is .386.

"Memphis" Hill sweetened his average a little and took third place when Bill Cole slumped down to .297. Wayne Nelson gained 10 points and is a close fifth.

Season fielding averages disclosed that Outfielder Randolph Bell has yet to make an error this season. First Sacker Cole and Catcher "Eeny" Wilcox also have fine records. The statistics:

'DARK HORSES' JOLT PRINTERS AND BUILDERS

There is nothing like a new start in life for jaded and depressed baseball teams.

If you don't think so, just ask the Dennis Printers and the Orange County Builders' exchange, one-two teams of the first half of the Santa Ana City Night league.

Favored in most quarters to repeat their initial lap successes in the second round, the Printers and the Builders were unexpectedly defeated by a pair of "dark horse" clubs as the new season opened in the Bowl last night.

The Printers were buried by the Pacific Telephone company, 14 to 8.

The Builders took one on the chin from Peek's market, 7 to 4.

Probably the Printers' humiliation was the biggest upset of the entire season for Carlyle Dennis' cohorts won eight of their nine games during the first half and at no time was Bill Humphrey, their star gunner, attacked with such enthusiasm as by the Pole-Climbers who combed his "sinker" for 13 base knocks, many of the lausty extra base knocks; ran the paths with abandon and profited mightily by ragged Printers fielding.

"Mack" Castro was hit hard at times himself, particularly by Everett Lutz, Harold English and Elliott, but managed to keep the rest of the order in pretty good behavior.

A five-run rally in the second, on the heels of a two-run attack in the first put the Phonemen well ahead. They were never seriously threatened thereafter.

Stump led the Pole-Climbers with three blows. Seigfred, Schacht and Curtis all had two and every other player except Curtis bagged at least one.

"Red" Angell made his first appearance in a Peek monkey-suit in the afterpiece and pitched courageously, especially in the pinches. His colleagues also gave him sparkling support, Shortstop Don Smith starting a timely double killing during a Builder rally that threatened to assume dangerous proportions.

Ray Griset went the route for the Builders. He was not hit hard but all of the Peek blasts were opportune ones and figured in the run-making.

ONE-TWO CLUBS OF LEAGUE VIE FOR TOP PLACE

Bitter rivals ever since they have been at this strange Southern California phenomena, Santa Ana and Long Beach fight for first place in the National Night Baseball league in the Bowl here tonight.

This will be the final visit the second-place Acorn will make to the Sixth and Olive street park this summer.

Incidentally it will mark the close of the third-quarter of the long pennant race.

If the Stars win from Long Beach, they will enjoy a two-game lead as the whole mess of contenders begins the stretch run for the second half championship.

If they lose, Santa Ana and Long Beach will be tied for first place and Whittier, Anaheim and Garden Grove, dreaded rivals of the locals, all will close in.

Herb Salveson, Santa Ana manager, announced definitely today he would pitch Joe Cornelius against the invaders. He hopes his henchmen will be table to get a toehold on the Acorns as soon as possible for in the event of a safe lead he intends to rush long Ray Price to the knoll and give Cornelius as much rest as possible for the Alive combat Friday night. The Packers have always been dynamite for the Stars and Salveson will "shoot the works" at them.

Bill Hunter also has been assigned to start at third base, Salveson evidently planning to use Scott and Hunter at the sack alternately.

Otherwise the usual lineup will be in force.

Wilcox will do the catching as usual with Cole at first base, Daley second and Hill shortstop. Bell, Nelson and Merrill will do the fly-chasing.

Although Long Beach will be a bit crippled for the classic here, no sympathy need be wasted on Joe Bell's gang.

The Acorns have signed Bobby Dalton to take Lloyd Lichtenwalter's place on the pitching staff and the slim, trim little right hander will get the assignment tonight, it is understood.

Dalton used a change of pace, and the Stars will have to watch for his slow one. Wildness has been Dalton's chief fault in other years and it may get him in trouble here because he hasn't done much pitching this season.

The Acorns made a miserable defense of their 1929 title through the first half of the split season but they are going places now. They come to the Bowl with five straight victories, won at the expense of some of the leading teams in the league. One of their two defeats was to Whittier and by the same score, 4-3, by which the Quakers "took" Santa Ana last week.

Odie Maness, catcher, and Rod Ballard, centerfielder, are the Acorns' chief offensive dangers. Maness is one of the best batsmen in night baseball, a threat any time he swings his mase. He has averaged a home run a game since the start of the new half. Against Olive last Friday he hit a homer, a double and a single, driving in or scoring all the runs his team made against the Packers.

Landreth at first base, Settles, Martison or Davis at second, Elliott at short and Kohler at third compose the Acorn infield. Bell, Ballard and Mann or Wilson will see outfield service.

GIVES LESSON ON CHARACTER TO LISTENERS

The first of a series of lessons on characters of the Old and New Testaments was given before the Men's Community Bible class at the Fox West Coast theater Sunday morning by the Rev. W. S. Buchanan, class teacher, in which Jacob was the subject of the lesson.

"Jacob was the grandson of Abraham and was a very shrewd fellow," the teacher stated. "The Jewish people take one of their outstanding characteristics from Jacob, who might be said to be the father of that race." The teacher went on to outline the story of Jacob and Esau, his elder twin brother, whom he persuaded to sell his birthright for a mess of pottage, and secured the blessing of his father, Isaac, through a deception.

"God will not step in where you can use your own will and make your own decision," he said in commenting on the story. "He made man a free moral agent. If you don't want to accept God's plan, that is your own business. If you want to deny Him and go to hell, that's your business. If you want to be a liar, that's your business. But a man who lies always gets caught. Jacob had to leave home because he lied. On the desert he repented of his sin, had a vision, made a covenant with God and received a blessing.

"God wants you to be real men—wants you to repent of your sins and follow His truth."

The musical program yesterday morning, which was unusaully fine, was presented by students of the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music. Lorraine Turk, 11-year-old girl, played two violin selections, "Adoration" and "Perpetual Motion," which were remarkable from a violinist of her age. She was accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. A. Turk.

Other numbers were "The Old Refrain" and "At the Brook," violin solos by Mary Mateer. She was accompanied by her sister, Elizabeth Mateer.

W. B. Martin, class president, stated that the class stood four-square for law enforcement and the eighteenth amendment and that they were glad to hear worth while discussions of these subjects from real friends of these important principles. He announced that the annual election of officers would be held at the regular business meeting of the class tomorrow night at the office of the First Christian church, corner of Sixth street and Broadway.

APPLICATIONS OF BROTHERLY LOVE OUTLINED

The Rev. William Schmoock, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, preached yesterday on the subject, "Two Applications of the Law of Brotherly Love." He said in part:

"The Bible teaches that salvation is by faith. God has prepared it. But the same Bible also insists on love. Love is a manifestation of gratitude on our part for the many good things that God has done for us. In love, the faith dwelling in us finds a congenial sphere of activity.

"Love reveals itself in showing mercy, that is, love in its relaton to the sufferng and distressed. We think first of those who suffer from some physical wants, from lack of employment, food, clothing, shelter, who are sick and need attention. Then there is the greater mental suffering due to slanderous accusations, when suspicion falls on a man and gossip carries the derogatory remarks to others. Furthermore there is the greatest of suffering caused by the knowledge of, and remorse over, our sins.

"In all such cases we should be merciful, should be ready to help and to forgive, thus following after our heavenly Father who has shown us the greatest of mercy and is always ready to forgive us our trespasses.

"But we should also think of our own faults before we try to correct the faults of others. Jesus warns us against the haughty attitude which criticises the faults of others without seeing one's own. We must first cast the beam out of our own eye before we try to cast the mote out of our brother's eye. As long as we are blind to our own faults we cannot correct the faults of others. We cannot teach others more than we know and we cannot expect greater purity of them than we practice ourselves. Let us not keep the sins of others constantly before our eyes and dismiss our own from our thoughts, but rather let us be merciful even as our Father which is in heaven is merciful and thus let us show our grattitude to God for His great love toward us."

TUSTIN PHONE SHIFT WILL BE MADE AUGUST 1

In accordance with the ruling of the state railroad commission, returned several months ago, work is progressing at the exchange of the Southern California Telephone company preparatory to cut the Tustin district phone service into the Santa Ana district on August 1, according to Earl Morrow district manager for the telephone company.

The ruling of the commission was handed down after a hearing in Santa Ana, upon the petition of phone subscribers in the Tustin district, who desired to be included in the Santa Ana district. Although the ruling will become effective the first of the month with the Tustin district phone users taking the Santa Ana rates, which mean a slight raise in monthly charges but the discontinuance of toll charges between Tustin and Santa Ana, the Tustin exchange will not be discontinued until the first of October.

On that date the Tustin office will be abandoned and all calls will be routed through the Santa Ana exchange. Crews are at work making preparations for the enlarged service through the Santa Ana switchboards that will result with the abandonment of the Tustin exchange.

Col. M. B. Wellington represented the Tustin phone subscribers at the hearing and was active in securing the change.

CORY OUTLINES FERTILIZATION IN RADIO TALK

In a talk last night over KREG Acting Farm Advisor W. M. Cory outlined fertilizer problems. He pointed out that application of scientific methods to soil problems involves difficulties not met in industrial processes. Plants and soils exist in extraordinary variety and are subject to variable and uncontrolled influence of climate, he said.

Plants need a large number of chemical elements and the lack of any one may limit growth. A solution of certain mineral elements necessary to plant growth depends primarily on production of acids in the soil, which in turn are dependent on activities of micro-organisms in root cells. Since activities of micro-organisms are apparently dependent upon the presence of organic matter in the soil it is evident that organic matter is an important agent in making immediately available potassium, calcium and magnesium.

The second means by which acids are formed in the soil is the excretion of carbonic acids by roots. Emphasis is placed on the importance of maintaining conditions in the soil favorable to root growth. Irrigation and cultivation are crelated to mineral nutrition. Toxic substances, organic or inorganic, should be absent.

The degree of solubility of potassium is an important factor, Cory said. Experiments show that continuous cropping reduces the available supply of potassium but it does not necessarily follow that crops always will make unsatisfactory growth when the more soluble types of potassium are exhausted. Experiments indicate that it is possible to increase the percentage of potassium present in a plant by increasing the amount available in the soil through fertilizer additions. Increased potassium in a crop beyond a certain percentage would be superfluous and would lead to no increase in growth.

Total amounts of phosphorus in ordinary soil are smaller than the amounts of potassium but analogous considerations in regard to solubility apply.

Some form of fertilization is required sooner or later for most crops, especially to maintain presence of nitrogen, which is easily lost either by leaching or in gaseous form. Nitrogen fertilization is accomplished by the growth of legumes or addition of commercial forms of nitrogen.

Animal manure nearly always produces highly favorable results.

Very infrequently can a soil analysis indicate the productivity of a soil, as the important thing is the matter of how rapidly plant nutriments go into solution. Bacterial activity must be promoted and maintained through addition of organic matter.

THE BATTLE CRY OF MODERATION!

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

*"There is only one remedy for fat, and that is eat the right food... There are at least one hundred so-called obesity cures. None of these is permanent. All of these are injurious," says Vance Thompson, Ph.D., in his famous little book, "Eat and Grow Thin," published by E. P. Dutton & Company. We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Parking Limits Are To Apply On Saturday Afternoons

HOLIDAY RULE OBSERVED HERE FOUND ILLEGAL

Saturday afternoon is not a public holiday and persons who violate the parking laws of the city are not immune from arrest, City Attorney C. D. Swanner advised the city council last night.

The opinion was given on a quary by the council as to whether cars could be tagged on Saturday afternoon when they are left in one street stall longer than the time prescribed by ordinance of the city.

It developed that officers of the city, under belief that the week end afternoon is a holiday, had refrained from tagging. It was asserted that by reason of this fact parking stalls in the close in business district are occupied all afternoon, to the disadvantage of residents of the country district who come into the city to do their trading.

Swanner read the state law on the point under discussion and pointed out that the Saturday afternoon holiday applies only to offices of city, county and state governments.

"The state law does not make Saturday afternoon a public holiday and bans and other business concerns whose transactions involve legal matters could operate if they desired," the city attorney said.

According to discussions at the council meeting City Recorder J. F Talbott has taken the position that violators of the parking regulations cannot be prosecuted when the violation occurs on the week end day afternoon.

Swanner was requested by the council to discuss the subject with the city recorder and present his interpretation of the Saturday afternoon closing law.

It soon will be legal for distributors of hand bill advertising to distribute such literature by placing the bills in the hands of some one representing the occupant of a dwelling, for first reading was given an ordinance making a change that will permit this service. The present ordinance denies the distribution of hand bills at all.

That the Harold Osborne company contemplates erection of an orange packing house on West Fifth street adjoining the Pacific Electric tracks was revealed by application of the company for permission to institute the enterprise. Changing of the property into another zone will be one of the stops necessary to granting the permit and the council directed posting of notices on the property that a hearing would be held next Monday evening to receive protests of tthose who may object to the locating of the packing house there.

The city building inspector was directed to deny permits for building construction to contractors who cannot exhibit a state license for contractors. Co-operation with state authorities in enforcement of the contractors' license law is the purpose of the instruction. Request for such co-operation was made by the Orange County Builders exchange. It was pointed out in discussions that the city clerk cannot refuse to grant a city license to a contractor who has not complied with the state law, but that the building inspector could refuse to issue a permit to such a person.

Many licensed real estate brokers who have been maintaining down town offices are transferring their headquarters to their residences, it was announced by City Clerk Ed Vegely.

Application of Vincent Ballister for permission to institute at 1802 West Fourth street a theater for Mexicans was referred to the fire chief. The applicant said that he would spend considerable money in converting a barn at that location into a good playhouse and that he would provide a program featuring Mexican vaudeville.

The council limited the Union Oil company to two 30-foot driveway entrances each on Broadway and Seventeenth street, to the station it is to build on the northwest corner of the two streets. The company requested wider entrances.

The council accepted the invitation of the council at San Bernardino to attend there on July 28, at 8 p. m., a Boulder dam jubilee meeting that will be addressed by Congressman Phil D. Swing.

Permission was given for the hanging of an electric sign at 121 E. Fifth street.

Deeds were accepted for an alley to run from French to Spurgeon, between Second and Third streets.

Permission was given the First Christian church to construct a building on the northeast corner of Sixth and Birch streets.

An appropriation of $200 was made to the camp mess fund of Co. L. local militia company.

Property at 1901 South Main street was ordered posted for hearing of protests against proposal of E. E. Nichols to established a public garage at that number.

The Gilmore Oil company was given permission to put in wide entrances to its oil station at the corner of Santa Ana boulevard and Chapman street.

A resolution was adopted ordering work to proceed on the widening and improvement of East First street.

DR. JOHNSTON DEFENDANT IN $107,000 SUIT

Dr. H. A. Johnston, of the Johnston-Wickett clinic at Anaheim, was made defendant in a damage action asking a total of $107,000 that was filed today in superior court. The plaintiffs are George W. Beck and Walter Beck, father and son, respectively.

It is alleged that on Jan. 22, 1925, Walter Beck fell, breaking his right arm at the wrist, and that it was treated and healed, but that the bone union was not in alignment and caused a certain degree of deformity of the arm and wrist. In connection with this the plaintiffs consulted Dr. Johnston on June 24, 1925, and it is set forth in the complaint that he advised a correction could be obtained by rebreaking and resetting the arm. He was employed for this purpose and the operation was performed the complaint said.

The plaintiffs charge that the surgeon did not use diligent care, skill and attention and ordinary prudent judgment in determining the advisability of the said operation, and that he treated the patient for approximately one year, but failed to advise the plaintiffs concerning caution with the arm and the use of certain foods. It is claimed that they asked the defendant if the arm was making satisfactory progress and were advised that it was, whereas the injured member was then deteriorating and shriveling up and bone absorption was progressing, according to the complaint.

The complaint also states that following another X-ray made of the arm on June 30, 1926, the surgeon advised the arm was in a bad condition, abandoned the case and refused to give further advice.

Damages are asked in the amount of $7000 for the father and $100,000 for the son. The father's claim is based on his asserted expenditures of $3000 for medical attention and advice and $400 for the lose of his son's labor on the farm. Attorneys for the plaintiffs are N. D. Meyer, of Santa Ana, and R. M. Reed, city attorney of La Habra.

OVER 1000 AT WAR VETERANS PICNIC SUNDAY

Twelve hundred men, women and children were present at the picnic of the Citrus Belt United Spanish War Veterans' club held at Irvine park Sunday, according to estimates by local members of the club.

Veterans and their families were present from Los Angeles, Santa Monica, San Pedro, Long Beach, Van Nuys, Glendale, Inglewood, Sawtelle, Compton, Hollywood, San Diego, Coronado, Pasadena, Huntington Park, Pomona, Redlands, Riverside, San Bernardino, Corona, Monrovia, Fullerton and Santa Ana, in addition to numerous visitors from various parts of the United States.

Following "mess" at noon, the club held a business session at 1:30 p. m., at which R. Stevens, of Camp McKinley 23, Long Beach, was chosen president for the coming year. A. V. Hughes, Schreiber capm 51, Pomona, was elected vice president, and C. A. West, Long Beach camp 94, was re-elected secretary.

Martial music by drum and fife corps of Roosevelt No. 9, Los Angeles; McKinley 23, Long Beach; Glendale 67 and Santa Ana Calumpit 26 enlivened the picnic party during the forenoon and at 2:30 o'clock the musical organizations participated in a procession, which paraded around the park.

Games suitable to the warm weather—with the possible exception of a ladies' tug of war which a combined team from Fullerton and Long Beach won from Santa Ana—furnished amusement during the afternoon. Many bridge foursomes were in evidence, while here and there were groups of veterans recounting the campaigns in Cuba, the Philippines and in China 30 or more years ago.

Another picnic of the club will be held in Oceanside in August.

Girl Injured In Fall From Cliff

Dorothy Cook, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook, of Anaheim, received cuts and bruises about the head when she fell off a cliff at Corona del Mar, Saturday night.

She was taker to the Newport Beach hospital, where she was given first aid treatment and then removed to her home.

Miss Cook, with several friends, was walking along the top of the palisades, when she slipped and fell to the rocks below, a distance of 20 feet or more, it was reported.

APPLICATION BLANKS HERE FOR VETERANS

Adjutant Ed R. Kolbe, of the Santa Ana post of the American legion, has just received a limited supply of application blanks for veterans' disability claims as allowed under the amendment that was adopted by Congress this month. The blanks were forwarded to Kolbe by Congressman Phil Swing.

The amendment provides that "any honorably discharged ex-service man who entered the service prior to Nov. 11, 1918, and served 90 days or more during the World War, and who is or may be hereafter suffering a 25 per cent or more permanent disability, not the result of his own willful misconduct, which was not acquired in the service during the World War, or for which compensation shall not be payable, shall be entitled to receive a disability allowance."

The amounts of the allowance are as follows: Twenty-five per cent permanent disability, $12 per month; 50 per cent permanent disability, $18 per month; 75 per cent permanent disability, $24 per month; total permanent disability, $40 per month.

There is a provision in the amendment stating that no disability allowance shall be payable to any person not entitled to exemption from the payment of a federal income tax for the year preceding the filing of an application for disability allowance.

A penalty of $5000 fine or two years imprisonment, or both, is provided for anyone making a false statement of a material fact in connection with the provisions of the act.

Additional supplies of the blanks are expected soon, Kolbe stated.

Plan Four Square Gospel Meetings

Two meetings are scheduled to take place at the Four Square Gospel church this week. On Tuesday night at 7:30 p. m. a Bible study group will discuss the meaning of the numbers in the Bible. Interested persons are asked to bring notebooks and pencils. At the same hour on Friday night, the Crusaders will give an illustrated sermon on "The Lord's Prayer." About 20 young people of the church will take part in this illustrated sermon.

Picnic Is Staged By Census Group At Irvine Park

More than 50 census enumerators, their families and friends, participated in a basket picnic Saturday at Irvine park. Stanley Goode, census supervisor, read a communication received from W. M. Stueart, director of the national bureau of census at Washington, in which the county group was congratulated on its efforts during the recent tabulation. A complimentary greeting from Congressman Phil D. Swing also was made public.

The committee in charge of Saturday's outing were Frank Salverson, Fullerton; Mrs. Laura Martin and Mrs. Belle J. Spangler, both of Santa Ana. There was dancing in the evening with music furnished by an Anaheim orchestra.

PLAN NINTH GRADE AT LAGUNA BEACH

That a ninth grade will be established at Laguna Beach immediately and that a high school will start either in 1931 or soon as possible, was the decision of a meeting of the school district. A. B. Marshall, Roy Peacock, the Rev. Raymond I. Brahams, J. E. Bishop and G. B. Dunham were appointed a committee to look into the matter of a high school.

Whether to secure land at both ends of town for grammar schools was not decided upon, as it was not decided upon, as it was felt that matter rested upon plans for the high school. It has not been decided whether the present grammar school will be converted into a high school, or whether an entire new campus will be purchased. In case the high school will take over the present school grounds, sites will be secured at each end of town for grammar schools.

Local Delegates Among 6000 Registered at Baptist Conclave

Returning last night from the National Baptist Young People's convention held in San Francisco the past week, delegates from the local church were today rejoicing in the success of the conclave which was declared as being one of the most valuable meetings of its kind ever held. R. Fred Chambers, young people's director, returned Sunday by airplane, and is confident that the younger members of the religious organization benefitted greatly from the theme of the conclave, which was the expression of the genuine fundamentals of life. That they not only enjoyed the talks given each day, but in return, were an inspiration to the older group present because of their spirit and initiative in taking charge of the week's events, was the belief of the local director. J. Miton Johnson, of Los Angeles, has been elected to head the group for the coming year.

About 6000 were registered at the conclave, and it was evident, according to Mr. Chambers, that Dr. Knops, of U.S.C., was the most popular speaker with this large group. Further proof of this statement comes with the fact that although his addresses were given each morning at the early hour of 8:15, a large crowd was always in attendance. The theme for all of his addresses was centered around the "Interpretation of the Bible in Terms of Modern Day Problems." Phases of the topic were "The Bible and the Use of Money," "The Bible and a Successful Marriage." Dr. J. W. Johnson, of the Berkeley Baptist Divinity school was also in great favor with the group, and discussed "The Trinity in the Drama of the Universe."

Delegates who returned by automobile last night were Miss Laura Joiner, Seldon Martin and Kenneth Beard. Miss Mae Berry and Miss Lula Hodge are expected to return today. In order that those who did not attend the conclave may enjoy the valuable messages which the delegates feels are so important, they are to have charge of the church program Sunday evening, and will depict the interesting happenings in their topic, "Echos of the Convention."

Santa Ana O. E. S. Has Last Meeting in Old Temple

Several different elements entered into making last night's session of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S., a memorable one. In the first place, members were delighted to welcome the return of their worthy patron, Charles Pritchard, who returned to his home, 706 South Birch street, only a few days ago after a lengthy period of convalescence at Loma Linda. His improved health was very gratifying to his friends, who extended him a royal welcome.

Then it was the last meeting that the chapter will hold in the old temple, so there was a decided sentiment of farewell to the scene of so many happy gatherings, mingled with the rejoicing over the worthy patron's return. Welcome was also extended the worthy matron, Mrs. Elon Roehm, who had been sojourning in Forest Home since the previous meeting.

Two new members were greeted, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Nears, who came to Santa Ana chapter on demits from their home chapter. The remainder of the evening was given over to bridge, with ten tables employed in playing. Attractive prizes were awarded Miss Elizabeth Roehm and Miss Mary Taylor, scoring high and low among the feminine players, and to Larry Golden and Elon Roehm, high and low among the men.

Among future plans brought up for discussion, in addition to the Masonic building program, was the meeting place of the chapter. Its next session will be held Tuesday night, August 26, in I. O. O. F. hall, the chapter home, until the completion of the new Masonic temple.

On Friday night, July 18, members and their families will share the hospitality of the W. R. Sylvester home in El Modena, where a covered-dish dinner will be enjoyed as a preliminary to an evening of bridge.

Walnut Park Wedding Was of Local Interest

Santa Anans who have formed delightful friendships with Miss Maryalice Townsend, of Anaheim, many of which were gained through experiences with her as a capable nurse, were interested today in learning of her marriage Saturday evening to Samuel Goodman, of Los Angeles.

Unusually impressive were the nuptial rites, which were solemnized by the Rev. Russel Clay, of the Calvary Baptist church, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alford, 3013 Olive street, Walnut Park. The bride was lovely in her gown of white georgette, and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, white sweet-peas, and lillies of the valley. Miss Aileen Townsend, in an attractive green frock, and carrying a bouquet of pink sweet peas and yellow roses, was the bridesmaid. Attending the bridegroom as best man was his brother Ray Goodman.

Mrs. Goodman is well known throughout Orange county, as she has taken care of numerous cases during her nursing career here. She received her training at the Orange County hospital, and also at the Pacific hospital in Los Angeles.

The happy couple will be at home to their many friends at 3006 1-2 Olive street, in Walnut Park.

Charming Home Wedding Unites Well-known Young People

There is one memorable occasion in a girl's life when she has the opportunity of choosing between a frock of filmy white, or one in the color which is especially becoming to her type of beauty. Choosing the latter, Miss Alice Campbell, vivacious titian-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Campbell, was a lovely bride of last evening, when, dressed in an orchid frock fashioned on lines of the prevailing mode, she was united in marriage to James Waite. At an improvised altar banked with breath of heaven, overhung by a snowy wedding bell, the couple plighted their troth in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. S. M. Eidsath, pastor of the Mennonite Brethren Christ Church of Orange, officiated.

The bride's attire was especially attractive, and was unique in the fact that she carried no bouquet, but wore a shoulder corsage of yellow roses and tiny orchid blooms. Her sister, Miss Helen Campbell, further expressed the motif of the evening in her bridesmaid's frock of yellow georgette. She carried an arm bouquet of orchid and yellow blooms. Completing the bridal party were Mr. Waite and his best man, Wade Waite, his brother. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Miss Neva Ward, of Orange.

Following the quiet ceremony, the home, prettily decorated in a variety of summer blooms, was the setting for a dinner and reception for the happy couple. The delectable menu was served on trays, and included the six-tiered cake which the new Mrs. Waite had the privilege of cutting.

Mr .and Mrs. Waite left this morning for a honeymoon trip to Catalina, and later will be at home to their many friends in a cosy home in Orange.

The former Miss Campbell has been employed as secretary to A. A. Appling, an attorney, for the past seven years, and intends to continue in her position. She is a graduate of Anaheim high school, and of the Orange County Business college. Her husband is an employe of the Southern California Edison company at Los Angeles.

Those present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Spurlock, of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Campbell, Wade Waite, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Corcorn, Mrs. Sarah Epps and children, Betty, May and Paul; Clarence Campbell, of Los Angeles, George Campbell, of Placentia; the Rev. and Mrs. S. M. Eidsath, and Miss Neva Ward of Orange, and Miss Hazel Srieden of Santa Ana.

Fraternal Brotherhood

Installation of officers was the principal order of business at the joint business meeting of the junior and senior lodges of the Fraternal Brotherhood late last week when Miss Hazel Belle Conner, as president of the younger group, and George Furtsch, as leader of the senior organization, were in charge of the sessions.

Junior officers who had been chosen were Miss Helen Trickey, president; Miss Ida Raymond, vice president; Miss Edith Halloway as chaplaine, Miss Dorothy Benner, secretary and treasurer; Miss Emma Smith, mistress; Miss La Vene Parks, sergeant; Miss Ileen Lord, inner door; Edward Hutchison, outer door, and Miss Yvonne Brunner, musician. They were installed by Mrs. Vera Conner.

Three new candidates were initiated, and included the Misses Frances and Verda Mary Martin, of Orange, and Gertrude Raymond.

Their meeting was followed by their usual pot luck supper, and seniors remarked on the capability with which the young group carried out their supper hour, and the business which had preceded it. Most of the members are expecting to be present at 4 o'clock on July 26, at which time they will hold a drill practice, according to P. A. Trickey who made the announcement of the meeting.

Senior officers installed, with Harry Brookbank as installing officer, were George Furtsch, president; Pearl Furtsch, treasurer; Elizabeth Clark, secretary; Dr. Kenneth Coulson, vice president; Annie Arnold, chaplain; Harry Brookbank, past president; Lula Berge, mistress; Earl Hutchison, sergeant; Flora Hutchison, inner door; Claude Hutchison, outer door; Pearl Parker, musician, and Charlotte Lord, junior superintendent.

The group made plans for futrue meetings, and P. A. Trickey, local representative, told of the interesting meeting the supreme officers which he had just attended, stressing their accomplishment in taking out new policies for the members, including endowment, accident, and improved dollar certificates.

It was announced that the drill team will have charge of the entertainment Friday night, July 19, at which time Myrtle Trickey and Vera Conner will be in charge of the refreshments. Plans are also being formulated for a new class initiation July 26, pot luck dinner night.

Following the meeting the group enjoyed dancing and cards until a late hour.

FISHING BY EAR

LONDON, July 14. — Herring fishermen must have good ears, for on their hearing depends their catch. The lookout stands in the bow of a boat to locate a shoal of herring. He can do this by cupping his hand to his ear. When the fish are running they make a constant "swish" through the water just under the surface. When the lookout hears this sound the net is shot out and the fish gathered in.

Sycamore Rebekahs Install Officers For New Year

One of the most beautiful ceremonials which members of Sycamore Rebekah lodge have ever been privileged to witness, was held Saturday night in I.O.O.F. temple, when the new Sycamore officers were installed with appropriate rites.

The retiring noble grand, Mrs. Maude Wiley, whose year in office has been so much enjoyed by every Sycamore member, took charge of decorating the lodge room, and achieved a striking effect with quantities of roses, hydrangeas, dahlias and gladioluses. The new officers were all gowned in white semi-formal evening gowns, while Mrs. Fannie Barker of Orange, district deputy, and her staff completed a lovely picture with their delicate hued costumes. Mrs. Barker wore orchid but her staff of 24 installing officers were gowned in pale pink or delicate green, using Rebekah colors. The frocks were identical in design, and worn with silver slippers, made a charming effect, heightened by the faultless manner in which the installation was conducted.

Mrs. Wiley was conducted to her new chair as past noble grand, and was presented her jewel in a gracious little talk by Mrs. Ruby Greeley. Officers installed were Mrs. Ruth Zabel, noble grand; Miss Emma Lee Johnson, vice grand; Mrs. Bessie Stoval, recording secretary; Mrs. Hazel Ryan, financial secretary; Mrs. Edna Gowen, treasurer; Mrs. Teresa Dunning, chaplain; Mrs. Grace Gross, musician; Mrs. Carita Eckols, warden; Miss Mabel Larrick, conductress; Mrs. Roda Heiss, inside guardian; Mrs. Stella Henderson, outside guardian; Mrs. Hattie Peters, right supporter to noble grand; Mrs. Laura Marcher, left supporter to noble grand; Mrs. Florence Crawford, right supporter to vice grand; Mrs. Jessie Overton, left supporter to vice grand; Mrs. Elsie Henry, right altar supporter; Mrs. Agnes Lindig, left altar supporter.

Mrs. Barker and her staff will conduct similar ceremonies tonight for Anaheim Rebekahs, and tomorrow night for Fullerton. Several distinguished guests were present Saturday night, including Mrs. Fannie M Lacy, past president of the Rebekah assembly; F. M. Brambley from Brea, district deputy chief patriarch; C. H. Palmer of Orange, past grand master, and M. R. Alstrohm of Anaheim, grand marshall.

The evening closed with refreshments served in the banquet room where Mrs. May Jackson superintended the decorations, quite as striking in effect as those in the lodge room. The table presented a sea scene with a full rigged sailing ship giving an air of romance, heightened by the gay beach scene where pretty maidens lingered among the sands.

In the lavish floral appointments, the pink and green Rebekah colors were uppermost.

Taking Cod Liver Oil

The Cod Liver Oil Ghost is again to walk for us today in the guise of a letter from a reader who sends us her way of taking pure cod liver oil:

"I want to tell you how I take cod liver oil, having found it necessary to take it at intervals over a period of five years. I put the juice of an orange in a cup, then I take one tablespoonful of the oil in my mouth and hold my breath until I have swallwoed two or three swallows of the juice; then, after I get my breath I take the rest of the juice. Really, I do not taste the oil, and the orange juice is just that much added nourishment."

Judging from the method I should say that this lady had great self-possession and complete control over her actions. Cod liver oil and its nauseously penetrating flavor affect the taste buds on the back of the tongue, the effect being heightened by the odor being carried to the nose through the nasal passage in the back of the throat.

By holding the oil directly back of the teeth until the orange juice covers it the odor and sliminess are both covered up, but as I have said, it takes a person in full control of faculties to get away with such a method.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Stuffed Tomato Salad

1 firm ripe tomato for each person served
3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1 tablespoon minced green onion
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon chili sauce
2 or 3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Salt and pepper to taste

Scald and skin the tomatoes and put them to chill until just before serving. Then, with a sharp knife cut a section out of the center, scoop out with a spoon and dice the scooped out part. Mix with the diced hard cooked eggs, minced onion and parsley, and dress with the last four items mixed together.

Fill the cavities nicely, heaping the filling up a bit, serve on crisp lettuce with a thin tart mayonnaise mixed with a little roquefort cheese and chili sauce.

Each salad, dressed and ready to serve, has a calory value of close to 250. The filling and dressing for the same will take care of six portions, six tomatoes.

Well-known Hostesses Preside at Yacht Club Affairs

Orange county women will be prominent among the hostesses at Friday's informal bridge luncheon at Newport Harbor Yacht club, where these friendly affairs have become one of the most anticipated weekly event of the mid-summer season. Started some three or four years ago as a means of entertaining feminine members of the club while their lords and masters were vieing in sailing events, the Friday bridge luncheons immediately leaped to popularity ,and have continued to be important events of Yacht club history.

At the most recent one, the hostess group was headed by the mother of Commodore Leon Heseman, Mrs. Carolyn Heseman of Riverside, who shares her son's vital interest in all matters pertaining to the club. Mrs. Heseman had quite a little group of co-hostesses, including Mrs. Robert Weitbrecht, Mrs. Conrad Richter, Mrs. D. F. Axelson and Mrs. C. G. White, all well-known in this city.

Of the coming Friday hostess group, Mrs. Roy Russell and Mrs. Leonard G. Swales of this city, Mrs. W. Horace White and Mrs. Dixon W. Tubbs of Tustin, Mrs. William N. Cummings of near Orange, Mrs. Henry Waterman of Monrovia, and Mrs. Leonard C. Jones of Alhambra, are especially well known in this community. Co-hostesses with them include Mrs. Robert Modisette, Mrs. Frank S. Hutton, Mrs. P. H. L. Wilson, Mrs. A. L. Woodill, Mrs. M. H. Simons and Mrs. C. Woodill.

On Saturday will come the second anticipated weekly social feature, the dinner and dancing party to be held that evening following the racing events of the afternoon.

Local Clubwomen Will Attend Conference

Santa Ana Clubwomen are anticipating much of value and interest to be derived from attendance at the two days' summer conference of the Southern District Federation of Women's clubs, to be held Wednesday and Thursday in San Clemente.

The Spanish Village is preparing to welcome visitors from all sections of the Southland, and reservations for entertainment may be made at the San Clemente hotel The social clubhouse will be the scene of the convention sessions, with Mrs. Marcus Robbins of San Diego, southern district president, in charge.

Of the featured speakers for the two days, none sounds more interesting to Santa Ana clubwomen, than Miss Josephine B. Seamans of La Jolla, one of the state vice-presidents, who is scheduled to speak on Wednesday. Miss Seamans was in this city in the early spring when she addressed the Santa Ana Woman's club on its anniversary program. She aroused the sincerest admiration of all who heard her, not only for her witty and philosophical address, but for her vibrant and magnetic personality.

Mrs. Henry De Nyse of Riverside, a state trustee, is another of Wednesday's speakers whom local women anticipate hearing. On Thursday, special interest attaches to the talk by Mrs. Harry L. Stroh of Los Angeles, state chairman of service, information and reciprocity. Mrs. E. R. Spade of San Diego, who holds the district chairmanship, also will give a short talk.

Among members of Santa Ana Woman's club who will attend the sessions, are Mrs. William Whitehead, past president; Mrs. William H. Kuhn, new president; Mrs. M J. Marks and Mrs. Jean Bohlander, county chairman of education .

FIRST MILLION MILES

MEXICO CITY, July 12.—If the first million air miles are the hardest, Corporation Aeronautica de Transportes, S. A., is over the hump. It has just announced it has completed the first one million miles of flying, after starting operations in March, 1929. The line runs from El Paso to this city.

'ROMANCE' GIVES GARBO NEW ROLE

"Romance," the stage play which brought success to Doris Keane years ago, the play she made famous year after year, comes to the Fox Broadway theater today and plays through Thursday with Greta Garbo, the divine, in the leading role.

To those who remember "Romance" on the stage, some idea will come of the part that Garbo takes in her latest all-talking production, but to those who do not, let it suffice to say that never has the star played such a role. It is a new Garbo in "Romance," not the sophisticated woman of "Flesh and the Devil," or other modern sex plays, but a Garbo who is in love so deeply that she gives up her love in order to save the man.

"Romance" is playing in Santa Ana even before Los Angeles theaters get it. It is making its initial run here. The picture was just released a short time ago and Santa Ana fans are getting the opportunity of seeing Garbo in her new type role first.

The story concerns a great Italian opera singer, in love with a man much younger than herself. He is warned against the actress by his uncle and told of her other affairs. The man decides to "play" with her instead of giving her his love and the way she handles the situation when she realizes it, leads up to the climax of the picture, one that is outstanding in every way.

The big thing about the picture, however, is the changed Garbo. Her admirers here will like her even better than they did in the other roles she has played.

La Habra Home Is Burglarized

Sought for the asserted stealing clothes, bed coverings, furniture and practically everything else from the home of Jose San Juan, of La Habra, Saturday afternoon, Juan Mesa was being traced by La Habra authorities today.

Constable William Tremain and Officer Erwin Stimson, of La Habra, are investigating the case. The Mexican left many clues and is expected to be apprehended in a short time.

'WESTERN FRONT' AMAZES AUDIENCE

"All Quiet on the Western Front, Universal's greatest war picture and probably the greatest war drama that was ever filmed, came to Santa Ana yesterday and today is the talk of the town.

Taken from Erich Maria Remarque's daring book by the same name, which when published 10 years after the war was called the only true story of the war, the picture directed by Lewis Milestone, adheres closely to the book, throughout. There is little difference and those who have read the book will know what to expect.

To those who have not read the book, "All Quiet on the Western Front" will come as a surprise. It will startle, horrify and shock as no picture you have ever seen before. The glamor and glory of war is not apparent. Instead, there is the filth, the much and the debauchery. The picture is a big argument against war from start to finish.

The plot concerns Paul Baumer, played by Lewis Ayres, and his band of school mates who enlist when war breaks out. One by one they are killed. The effect death has on Paul, how it changes his entire life; his many startling adventures; the raw story told without any attempt to soften the feelings, all these things make "All Quiet on the Western Front" a story and a picture that will be remembered for a long time to come.

And then at the last, when all is quiet on the western front, so quiet that the men are bailing water from the trenches and others are lying around resting, Paul comes to his end, just as all his comrades did.

See "All Quiet on the Western Front" and the recent war will mean more to you than it has ever meant before.

Vet Loses Memory At Battle Scene

AMIENS, France, July 15.—(INS)—When James Sidney, a British war veteran, revisited the Somme battlefield, where he had been wounded 12 years ago, he lost his memory.

He drifted away from his comrades and later was found wandering around the streets in this city.

Sidney did not know his name and was unable to say anything beyond that the wound in his leg was hurting him badly.

Through papers in his pockets, the police were able to identify the man who was partaking in a battlefield excursion of British ex-soldiers.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

"Oh, I am not surprised at all at pans and pots upon the wall," cried Clowny. "This old copper man knows how to run a store. He puts things out where all can see and sells them quickly as can be. I'll bet folks like his wares so well they all come back for more."

"That may be true. I hope he does, but now we'd best be going 'cause I'm going to see if we can't find a place to sleep tonight. I want it different from the rest, and hope you'll all like it best. I have a little home in mind that's quite a pretty sight."

"Why, we've slept in a house before. Remember—with the hard stone floor?" cried Clowny. "Gee, 'twas terrible. I want no more of that. The sight of it gave us a thrill, 'cause it was dug out of ahill, but sleeping there is something else. You wake up feeling flat."

This made the Tinies laugh out loud. The Travel Man then told the crowd the house he had in mind was of a very different sort. "Fine rugs are on the floor," he said. "It's comfortable as it can be. If I can get this place just for tonight, 'twill be real sport.

And so they shortly found the house, and entered, quiet as a mouse. They met the woman owner. She was sitting on a rug. She shortly said it was all right, for them to rent the place all night. Then Scouty cried, "It's wonderful. I know we'll all feel snug."

The woman promptly took her child out of a hammock. Then she smiled and said, "Well, I'll be going so you Tinies can take charge. I have another home, you see, so everything's all right with me. This place is big enough for all of you, though it's not large."

(The Tinymites see a very beautiful sight in the next story.)

Missing Letter Links

RULES:

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't. TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

KIND to SOUL—Any KIND SOUL should be able to shoot this simple par five letter links hole.

CHICAGO BD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, July 15.—(UP)—Persistent selling and pressure by locals failed to discourage buyers on the Board of Trade today and prices closed at practically th etop, showing sharp gains. The continued dry weather in the American and Candian northwest wtih strong foreign cables and more hot weather served to force short covering which found offers light.

At the close wheat was 1⅜ to 1½c higher, corn was 1⅛ to 2¼c higher and oats were ½ to ⅝c higher. Provisions were strong.

THE NEWS AND OPINION

In the Orange News of Monday there appears an editorial under the head of "Mr. Burke Responds."

They first quote a portion of an editorial in which we said as follows:

"The Register desires to say that there was no attack made by this paper on Mr. Hanson nor the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce. This paper never charged that the meeting was a political frame-up for the benefit of anybody. It has never made any charges either fair or unfair concerning this meeting. It carried the news of what took place as it was written by a representative who was there. We have not heard either directly nor indirectly that any statements in the account of that meeting were untrue."

The Orange News then says:

So Mr. Burke says he didn't and Mr. Nichols says he did. We come, then, to a question of veracity and unhappily Mr. Burke does not always appear at his best in such situations. Let us see.

Then the Orange News proceeds to try to prove that we were telling untruths because it goes on to reprint the following paragraph which was not from an editorial, but from the news columns of The Register. The same is true of the last paragraph in the reprint from their paper.

"A meeting OSTENSIBLY called by the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce to entertain members of the Villa Park-Olive, El Modena and West Orange farm centers at Irvine park last night RESOLVED ITSELF INTO A SUBTLE APPEAL FOR THE SUPPORT OF THE PRESENT COUNTY OFFICIALS WHO ARE CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE, in the course of a talk given by Ole Hanson, founder and builder of San Clemente. He was introduced by Supervisor Willard Smith and HIS APPEAL FOR OFFICIALS WAS STRIKINGLY CLEAR."

Now then Mr. Burke says that the meeting resolved itself into a subtle appeal for the support of the present county officials, benighted heathen of local habitat may be pardoned for assuming he meant something. But Mr. Burke didn't mean anything. He didn't even say anything. It was an optical illusion created by designing politicians to discredit a truthful and high-minded reformer.

In the same article on June 28th, the Register remarked:

"It was very apparent that Hanson's appeal to the voters was an ADROIT POLITICAL MOVE as he brought up the subject in a casual way in the course of a paean of praise of the county in which he included the officials now in power as well."

The readers would gain from this editorial that The Register made these assertions or that the publisher made them, but certainly the publisher of the Orange News is fully aware and the readers of this paper know full well that the publisher speaks through the editorial columns and he permits news, both favorable and unfavorable to his policy to be published in the columns of the paper. In the editorial columns he expresses the opinion of The Register and its publisher. We never made any such editorial statement as that printed above.

The language quoted above, charged officially to the Register and its publisher, was contained in the news story written by one of the news staff of what she observed as taking place. We stated this in our original editorial of denial. It was a statement of fact without any opinion of whether it was wise, or right or in harmony with the objectives of the Chamber of Commerce. This writer said that "the meeting of last night resolved itself into a subtle appeal for the support of the present county officials who are candidates for office." Is this not true? Has anyone denied the truth of that statement? The news writer said that took place. No comment was made on it.

We have not heard of any denial of the truth of that statement that the meeting did so resolve itself. We made no comment as a newspaper; no charges in respect to the Chamber of Commerce nor any one connected with it. We neither said that it was fair nor unfair. The writer said "Hanson's appeal to the voters was an adroit political move as he brought up the subject in a casual way in the course of a paean of praise of the county in which he included the officials now in power as well." This was a part of the news story. The Register in its official sense and the publisher had no more to do with that story than it had to do with any dispatch that might have come from Timbuctoo. To be sure, we had the editorial responsibility. We could personally, if we had the time, look over every item of news and the way it is written, and write it up to suit ourselves. We don't do that; we never have done it. We do not propose to do it. The readers would not then get the news. We give our news writers liberty. Otherwise we would be limiting the news. That is not our job. The writer of the article was endeavoring to present to the readers what actually took place at this picnic.

It may have been possible that liberty was taken with editorial language, but this is done a hundred times a week in most daily newspapers. What we maintain is these facts as they were presented in this news story have never been contradicted, and that The Register, as such, has made no charges.

The Register speaks through its editorial columns. It cannot be held responsible for the news as it appears. The writer of this article was telling what took place at Irvine park as she observed it. This is what we pay our news force to do. If the article were untrue, were misrepresented, were unfaithful to the facts, we should like to know it, as it would go to the trustworthiness of this representative, but as a matter of fact, we have heard from others who were there, and their statements are to the effect that the article was correct and moderate in its statements. We have faith in that writer.

We are of the opinion that if the writer had misrepresented or told untruths, we would have heard from it personally, but no one has criticized to us as publisher a word of that story.

THE MURDERER

The killing of Motley H. Flint in a crowded Los Angeles court room has startled and amazed hundreds of thousands of citizens. The further examination of the perpetrator of the deed will undoubtedly indicate that he is insane. He has been pondering over his losses until he has lost control of his reason.

He had made no threat against the life of this man, as far as anyone has heard; he was not raising a red flag on every occasion and asking people to rally to that stand; he just quietly and, may we say, solemnly, brooded over his losses, charged them in part to this personality until finally aroused, he committed this dreadful deed. He emphasizes again that the dangerous man to society or to the individual among the ones who are unfortunate and have incurred losses, is not the man who, with dishevelled hair with a bomb in one hand and a smoking torch in the other, goes down the highway seeking to destroy society as it is. That man is easily taken care of. But it is the brooder, the quiet individual, the one who gives no vent to his thought until it comes to the terrible deed, who is dangerous. In a flash it is over.

We cannot believe that this man was in his right mind. The distress through which he had passed seemed to have grown greater with contemplation. With most people it grows less and more bearable. It is an unfortunate circumstance. It plunges the whole district into a rediscussion of the features of the Julian case which will not down.

The only sad feature to the Lindbergh baby's horoscope, according to the astrologer, is that he will be unfortunate in his dealing in real estate. More important to newspaper men, however, is how he'll react toward the fourth estate.

THESE YOUNGSTERS

One of these child busy-bodies has at last justified all concern manifest by parents and guardians who are constantly on the alert to keep their charges out of mischief. A thirteen-year-old boy was taken with his mother to a jewelry store and while she was examining rings and bracelets he became interested in this and that about the store. The climax came when he examined some bright looking articles behind the counter. He touched one and released a flood of tear gas. The clerk and mother and son left the store immediately. Later the clerk returned with a damp handkerchief over his face and turned off the flood of gas. The mother took her offspring away without leaving her name.

Can you imagine what she did to that boy? It was probably the "last straw." On the other hand maybe it suggested to her that the boy who could cause such commotion might be good in the movies. It would really be a stroke of genius to capitalize on such an embarassing episode as hers.

Children—City vs. Country Life?

Riverside Enterprise

A vital issue was raised in a debate staged recently in New York wherein a physician and a social worker at a luncheon endeavored to clarify the question whether it is better for children to be reared in the country or the city. As to whether they contributed anything substantial to the discussion is another matter, although it may be acknowledged that each gave the other a run for the money. Anyhow Miss Lillian Wald, the social worker, virtually stated that neither convinced the other when she said in her final word, "I told you we would agree. Bring the social and educational advantages of the city to the country and it is a perfect place to rear a child. But as a social worker I must again point out that they are not there now!"

Looking at the situation from a somewhat different point of view, perhaps one might say, given more or less similar opportunities, a whole lot depends on the child itself!

When it comes to balancing vacuum cleaners, electricity and deferred payments against sunlight, freedom for exercise and play, and fewer noises, the balance would seem to be on the side of the latter. However, statistics—what should we do without statistics?—seem to show that there are more conditions of physical disability among country children than among city ones! Which would appear to indicate that the opposite of what one would expect may be what one finds to be the case. And this further points to the fact that, after all, perchance it is neither sunlight itself nor yet vacuum cleaners that are at the bottom of the matter. A busy, happily occupied life, whether in country or city, and an unselfish motive will be found to work wonders, no matter what the environment.

Was Our Deep Sympathy Wasted, or Wasn't It?

San Francisco Chronicle

It's a funny old world, full of differing viewpoints!

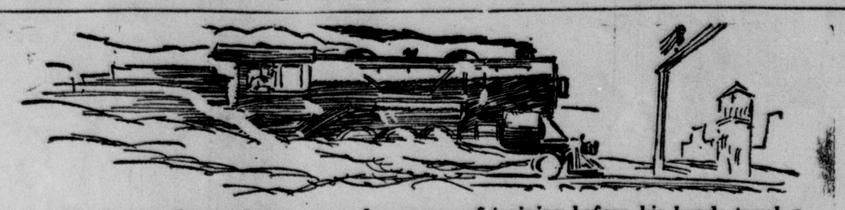
For the past week the great city of San Francisco has been all "het up" about a baby hoax. A young wife who lost her own baby and who sincerely wanted one to insure the happiness of her husband and herself accepted the gift of a baby from a wife who did not want it—who gave it away before it was born and apparently was well pleased to get rid of it.

All was peaceful and lovely when, suddenly, Young Wife No. 2 changed her mind and demanded the return to her of the child she had never seen, but which she now declared she loved above all the rest of the world. Then there were tears flying in every direction.

All the sympathy, we were quite sure, should be with Young Wife No. 1, who had taken the unwanted child and faithfully nourished and cherished it. But the municipal judge who had Solomon's job handed the baby back to the real mother, which we suppose he really had to do. And the courtroom crowd vigorously applauded every reference to "real mother's love," "flesh and blood" and a lot of other old sayings.

Maybe we are wrong, but Young Wife No. 1 still has our sympathy. All we can say to her is that there are plenty of babies to be adopted. And we suggest to her that when she gets the next one she nails it down with a court decree of legal adoption, regardless of the protestations of the real mother that she doesn't want it anyway.

Something Auto Be Done About It!



The locomotive engineer serves long years of training before his hands touch a throttle—his eyes and health are tested regularly—

The sea captain must learn his ropes, know navigation, the rules of the sea—and is required to pass strict license tests—

The transport pilot, after careful schooling, must survive rigid flying and physical tests to meet government requirements. He is examined every six months—

BUT—Have you noticed how easy it is for 'most anybody to "get by," and burn up the roadways behind a high-powered motor?

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE ENGINEER'S VACATION

I never see a waterfall
That tumbles over moss and fern,
But I do not think withal
How big a motor it will turn.
The cataracts which daily shower
Their spray on mountain, garden spots
To me are so much motive power
Which I reduce to kilowatts.

I hear the surf along the shore,
I watch the tide that ebbs and flows
And hope within a few years more
To harness them to dynamos.
I see the thunder storm sweep by,
Its purple clouds with lightning laced,
And murmur with a bitter sigh,
"Ah, all that power gone to waste!"

I watch the drifting mists arise
When summer days are almost done,
And move across the quiet skies
Until they screen the setting sun,
And always sorrow at the sight
For what can careless nature mean,
To squander energy which might
Be harnessed to some great machine?

And when Vesuvius bursts all bounds,
Decanting down her fiery side
A lava stream whose roar resounds
For miles across the countryside,
My books of references I seek
And find the forces that have hurled
A river from that one lone peak
Would turn the wheels of all the world.

The Fable of the Two Advertisers

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Once upon a time, there was a Free-Hearted Advertiser, who used millions of dollars every year to shout his wares.

That is to say, every PROSPEROUS year.

But the time came when Statistical Boy Scouts, sleuthing around on the horizon for a Business Depression, reported seeing one headed our way. To be sure, it closely resembled Prosperity; but they were smart enough to see through its disguise.

The crash came, as predicted, and men and women hurriedly began getting their dollars in off the street. Those with money in their pockets took it out, counted it, and put it back.

The once-upon-a-time Free-Hearted Advertiser lost nothing—except his nerve. That, however, was a total loss. Hastily, he called in his Advertising Dollars and sent out in their place a Squad of Asthmatic Dimes.

He was looking out for Number One! As a sad sequel, Number One now needs looking out for more than ever.

But there was also a Simple-Hearted Advertiser. He was so simple, in fact, that when leaders of American business, in conference assembled, declared that business was fundamentally sound, he believed that it WAS sound. When sad-eyed retrenchers declared that Prosperity was going to the dogs, he thought he might as well be one of the dogs! So he began barking his wares louder than ever.

He knew that buyers are not born, but made; made by keeping constantly in circulation the word "Buy" and the Money with which to Buy.

This Advertiser also was looking out for Number One. But at the same time he was giving a much-needed lift to 120 million. And the 120 million, responding to his ringing "Buy," bought. Thus he not only helped himself, but a good many job-seekers as well.

Moral: The time for business to step out is when it is reported to be all in.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

WHAT PUTS MEN OUT OF WORK

Yesterday I listed six distinct kinds of unemployment which Stuart Chase subjects to exhaustive analysis in Harper's Magazine for July.

Today I want, with the utmost brevity, to define these six kinds of unemployment, for until we stop over-simplifying unemployment, and begin attacking it on all its varied fronts, we shall make slight headway in the important and imperative task of stabilizing American prosperity.

1. Seasonal unemployment.

A large part of the world's work follows the coming and going of the seasons. Wheat must be harvested when the summer sun has touched its green to gold. Peas must be canned when the peas have reached the right maturity. Where there is seasonal employment, there will be seasonal unemployment, unless intelligence plans its prevention.

2. Technological unemployment.

Invention, marching with seven league boots across the modern world, daily creates machines that take the place of men. If one newly-invented machine can do the work it has before taken ten men to do, one may stay behind to tend the machine, but the other nine must look elsewhere for employment, and probably have a hard time finding it, unless leadership has looked ahead for them.

3. Cyclical unemployment.

In 1921 the United States experienced the poignant disease of unemployment. In 1930 we round the cycle and feel its pangs again. There is nothing predestined about these cycles, unless the directing intelligence of economic America falls into fatalism about them, and fails to study them as realistically as it studies a production process.

4. Residual unemployment.

The ruthless and more or less regular recurrence of unemployment breaks the spirit and renders unemployable many men who, kept in regular employment, would retain their capacity for disciplined effort. There is thus created a class that is unemployed because its members are unfit to employ. They are a kind of economic residuum or sediment that sinks to the bottom of the social order.

5. Stop-watch unemployment.

The efficiency expert, with stop-watch in hand, makes his time-studies, and finds a quicker way to work, so that one man can do the work that two did before. And again men hitherto employed must turn job-hunters.

6. Consolidation unemployment.

We are passing through an economic phase marked by a mania for merger, and every time two or twenty units of enterprise consolidate, vice-presidents, managers, clerks, and salesmen fall from the trees and find themselves looking for jobs.

There is not one of these six sources of unemployment that cannot be subjected to control by intelligent leadership, as I suggested yesterday, if we will but recognize the complexity of the problem and demand that leadership become realistic in its dealing with all phases of the problem.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

MOTHER'S VACATION

When vacations are planned remember mother. She is so likely to be overlooked because she is so busy getting everybody else ready. She sews and buys and packs. She buys railroad tickets and telephones for the express man. She sunts up last year's sweater and racket and counts the usable balls. She worries about your first aid kit, and your bad tooth. She fairly shoves you on the train and waves you away. But she stays home.

Home is a very good place. I know of none better. But the nature of people demands change. Even if you are a little uncomfortable the change will benefit you. You have worn tracks in your brain cells. Your muscles work in grooves. There is no interest in doing the same thing over and over all year round because there is no fresh call made on the mind and body. A new environment demands new adjustments and that freshens things all round.

The deadly routine of the home and family is hardest on mother. It is she who carries everybody's burden. She wakens you early the day you have an appointment with the dentist. She prods you to prepare that important composition. She looks over your wardrobe and gets it ready beforetime. She eats for you, sleeps for you, lives for you. And it gets very tiresome.

So provide a vacation for mother. See that her wardrobe is ready, that her tickets are bought, that her chair is on the right side of the car—prepare the way for her. Even if you have to stay home yourself, do this. You see staying home will be a real change for you. It will call into play all sorts of nerve cells, all sorts of adjustments. It will do you a great deal of good to serve in your mother's stead for a time.

You see mother won't tell you she needs a vacation. She will tell you she does not. But you and I know better. Out she must go. Her health is the basis of the family's happiness. With mother ailing or disabled things are never right. Don't wait until she goes to bed to take care of her. Guard her now. See that she gets change and rest.

Another thing. Don't imagine that mother is getting any vacation when she goes to the country with the children. She isn't. She is working at the same old grind. Spinach for the baby, cocoa for Bob. No fat in Mary's diet. A rest time for Peter whether he likes it or not. Story telling at bedtime, advice and commands and general supervision are her daily stint.

In order to give mother a vacation she must be freed from the burden of the house and the family. So take it over yourself, oldest son and oldest daughter, and so save your precious mother for the years to come.

ST. SWITHIN'S DAY

On July 15, 865 A. D., the legend arose that if it rained on this day it would continue to do so for the 40 days succeeding.

The story is connected with St. Swithin, Bishop of Winchester, and tutor to King Alfred. At his request, he was buried in the churchyard of the abbey where "passersby might tread on his grave, and where the rain from the eaves might fall on it."

After his canonization in 865 it was resolved to remove his remains to the chancel—the customary burying place of the bishops—and July 15 was appointed for the ceremony. But on that day and for 40 days thereafter, St. Swithin, to testify his displeasure, caused rain to fall so heavily that the monks abandoned their plan as blasphemous. That is how popular superstition has come to regard this day as being of meteorological significance.

Careful observation kept at the Greenwich observatory for a period of 20 years, however, show this superstition to be without foundation.

Ratification Vote On London Pact To Come Next Week

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(UP)—Senator Johnson, Republican, California, today on the senate floor forced publication of the secret American proposal made by Secretary of State Stimson to the London naval conference on Feb. 5, 1930.

Johnson obtained the paper from Senator Reed, (Rep., Pa.) at the conclusion of the latter's speech explaining the pact and urging its ratification.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(UP)—Senator Reed (Rep., Pa.), today urged the senate to ratify the London naval treaty and prefaced his speech with a eulogy of American naval officers, to whom he referred in the opening week of the special session, as "those admirals who see so much of Washington and so little of the sea."

Reed said American naval advice had been so varied that it was inevitable the naval conference delegation would run counter to some of it in deciding what should be the policy of the United States.

"But," he continued, "we had nothing but admiring regards for such officers as Admirals Jones and Pringle, with whom we disagreed.

"We ought to be proud of our naval officers; they stand at the top professionally."

Reed's language was expected somewhat to mollify the feelings of the officers and especially to silence senatorial opponents of the London treaty who have made almost daily protests since the special treaty session began July 7 against harsh handling of the naval officers in speeches by Reed and Secretary of State Stimson.

With Reed's apologetic eulogy in the record and agreement reached between the two groups on the Norris resolution administration leaders contended that the party fight was now won. The vote is expected late next week.

Today's opening quorum call found 60 senators present, 11 more than the 49 required to comprise a quorum.

FILMS REGULATION REVISED

BERLIN, July 15.—(UP)—German regulations governing the import quota of financial films have been revised with a more liberal spirit as a result of representations to the government by German film interests, it was learned today.

The representations were the outgrowth of the recent conference at Paris between German and American film company representatives, presided over by Will Hays, who acted as arbitrator of their controversies growing out of international patents.

Pours Scalding Water On Head of Brother

PITTSBURGH, July 15.—(UP)—Kenneth Crane, carpenter, faced a 30-day jail sentence today after drinking himself, police said, in to a frenzy that was capped when he poured boiling water over his blind half-brother as he slept.

Crane, seized with a drunken rage, his half-brother, Henry Salmon testified, dragged his housekeeper from the house and returned to the room where the blind man lay asleep.

Salmon awoke, he said, to feel the scalding liquid against his skin. He escaped serious burns by pulling the covers about his head.

HOOVER PLANS FOR VACATION IN SEPTEMBER

May Visit Glacier or Yellowstone National Park or Both of Them

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(UP)—President Hoover expects to be able to spend at least two weeks in the northern Rocky Mountains late in August or early in September, his secretary, George Akerson, announced today.

The statement was issued following publication of some critical newspaper reports suggesting the president was afraid to go west because of the wheat situation and political conditions there.

Awerson said the original plan to take a month's holiday in the western national parks had to be abandoned because congress has not completed its work within the time contemplated when the announcement of the proposed trip was made, May 9.

In addition Mr. Hoover will be required to spend some time in Washington to complete several important matters after adjournment of the special session of the senate now sitting.

"The president has received a great number of cordial invitations to make public appearances and addresses in various cities enhoute," Akerson said in a mimeographed statement.

"The curtailment of the period when he will be away from Washington and the very nature of taking a holiday and rest will preclude acceptance of these invitations and he believes they will not be pressed."

While it was not made clear just where the president would go, it was assumed he would visit Glazier or Yellowstone national parks, or perhaps both. But he has definitely given up hope of a tour of more of the western parks.

Youth Confesses To Killing Nurse

BUTLER, N. J., July 15.—(UP)—Harry Woolsey jr., 14-year-old son of a wealthy Jersey City paint manufacturer, confessed today, police said, to killing his nurse, Miss Anna Miller, 23, while they were on a hike Sunday afternoon.

The boy, described as mentally abnormal, stabbed the young woman seven times with a hunting knife, it was said, after a quarrel over "different little things." Nothing was known of the killing until Miss Miller's body was discovered yesterday afternoon, lodged between two large rocks in a desolate, inaccessible spot near Green Pond.

Elect Governor In Mexico Illegally

MEXICO CITY, July 15.—(UP)—The gubernatorial difficulties of Chihauhua state appeared again today with the election of Romulo F. Escobar as provisional governor for the remainder of Gov. Francisco A. Almada's term.

Escabar's election by the state legislature yesterday was announced by the federal department of interior, but usually well informed political quarters here said there might be some doubt as to the election's constitutionality. Most of the legislators present were Almada supporters, while the supporters of Manuel Jesus Estrada, Almada's political opponent, were in Mexico City.

JUNIOR PILOT INJURED WHEN PLANE CRASHES

Holder of Transcontinental Record Undergoes An Operation Today

BENNINGTON, Vt., July 15.—(UP)—Frank Goldsborough, 19-year-old holder of the junior trans-continental flight record, was brought to Putnam hospital here today almost a full 24 hours after he had suffered a fractured skull in an airplane crash.

He was removed later to the operating room. Drs. J. C. Armstrong and John Trotter decided to operate on his skull.

Mrs. Gertrude Goldsborough, his mother, was allowed to see him shortly after his arrival at the hospital. While physicians prepared to operate, she was in the waiting room.

He had lain pinned beneath the wreckage of his plane through a cold night after Donald Mockler, New York publicity agent, who had been thrown from the plane when it struck, trudged through dense woods and underbrush to get aid here.

The accident occurred near an abandoned lumber camp, eight miles from Woodford, the nearest community while Goldsborough and Mockler were en route from Cleveland, O., to Keene, N. H., where Mockler was engaged to lecture last night. Unable to judge his altitude properly because of fog, the young pilot brought his ship too low. Upon striking the tree, one wing and part of the tail was severed from the plane. The remainder fell to earth.

Mockler tried in vain for an hour to extricate Goldsborough from the wreckage. Finally, he determined he would have to get assistance. Mockler thought at the time that injured legs were the extent of Goldsborough's injuries.

Gunfire from Wife Of Jailer Timely

PECOS, Tex., July 15.—(UP)—Mutiny in the Pecos jail was answered by a blaze of gunfire by the jailer's wife, Mrs. W. Duncan, last night, after her husband had been overpowered and severely beaten.

Mrs. Duncan killed one of the mutineers, subdued three others, then fought a hand-to-hand battle with the fifth before he jumped through a window and escaped.

Having beaten the jailer into submission, the five inmates of the jail made a dash for liberty, but were intercepted by the jailer's wife, brandishing a gun.

"A step nearer and I'll kill the pack of you," she warned.

"She hasn't got the nerve to shoot," said one. "Let's rush her."

The woman met the attack by firing. Guillermo Hernandez, 31, under 39 year sentence for murder fell dead, a bullet in his heart.

Calvin Coolidge Says

By CALVIN COOLIDGE
Former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 15.—"In Massachusetts we are celebrating the three hundredth anniversary of the granting of the frist charter to the Old Bay Colony. That event had not only national but world significance. It was one of the early and potential beginnings of constitutional government. It started a new train of thought and action which has changed the whole foundation of human relationship. An era that was begun by an English document transplanted to this commonwealth and developed by people who came from the ends of the earth to share its responsibilities and its benefits will be commemorated by the presence of representatives of many States and nations all bearing testimony to their allegiance to the principle of liberty under the law, local self government, and civil and religious freedom which Massachusetts has established and disseminated with so much power and success. To enumerate the inestimable blessings that it has conferred, the great names that it has produced, the glories that it has encompassed, would be to restate the record of modern civilization. Never before were the rights of man advanced so far in three centuries. It is a heritage that lays on all humanity the gravest responsibilities but endows them with the largest promise of future progress."

14 KILLED IN RIOTING TODAY IN ALEXANDRIA

Two Hundred and Fifty Other Persons Reported Injured In Fights

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 15.—(UP)—Rioters, inflamed by the political situation and by anti-European sentiment, held sway in the streets of Alexandria today, killing and wounding many, including Europeans.

An official announcement late in the day said 14 had been killed, including one Italian and seven other Europeans. The wounded numbered 250, of whom many were in a serious condition.

The rioting was precipitated by political demonstrations led by the Wafd section, which called a strike in protest against the government's policies and the suspension of parliament.

The casualty list grew heavy when police, bombarded with stones by the mob, fired into the rioters from the hood of the law courts.

The disturbance centered in Mohamed Ali square, which was finally cleared of the struggling demonstrators by a detachment of the Egyptian army. Reinforcements were sent from Cairo.

Late this afternoon the authorities believed they had the situation under control. Among those critically wounded in the rioting was an Italian.

ALABAMA BANK IS ROBBED OF BIG SUM TODAY

More Than $50,000 Taken By Bandits Who Use Machine Gun

WOODLAWN, Ala., July 15.—(UP)—The American National bank here was robbed of $50,000 today by bandits who forced C. L. Porter, teller, to open vaults.

After entering the institution with a bookkeeper the bandits forced patrons and bank employes to lay flat on the floor while they obtained the money.

Stopping in front of the bank, four or five of the men, black masks over their faces and automatics and sub-machine guns in their hands entered the bank.

More than a dozen employees were at work and half a dozen customers were in the building. Barking out commands to "stick 'em up," the raiders lined the people up on the floor.

They entered the open vault and rifled it of currency and negotiable bonds valued at more than $50,000.

Commanding the clerks and customers to remain quiet, the gunmen fled from the building.

As the bandit car roared up to the bank, a crowd of people quickly gathered on the sidewalk. Before the men could enter the building, the alarm had been touched off and was ringing.

Without halting, four raiders went into the bank. One stood on the sidewalk and held the crowd at bay with a sub-machine gun. A sixth sat at the wheel of the car.

By the time the robbery was complete, citizens had secured firearms and were ready to halt the flight of the raiders. They opened fire on the gunmen as they rushed from teh building.

One raider was hit and dropped to the ground. A companion picked him up and put him in the car, leaving a trail of blood behind.

The bandits spared one citizen, Harry Nelson, who ran up the street as the holdup took place.

DANCER RECOVERS BACCARAT LOSSES

LE TOURQUET, France, July 15.—(UP)—Jennie Dolly, of the Dolly Sisters dancing team, recovered her week-end losses at baccarat when she had 10,000,000 francs (about $400,000) early today after eight hours of continuous play.

Miss Dolly entered the Le Tourquet casino at 5 p. m. yesterday and at 1a.m. today she was still winning heavily, staking as much as 500,000 francs at each play.

The run on the bank was so heavy that additional funds were sent for hurriedly three times to enable it to pay off Miss Dolly.

The dancer recently won 6,000,000 francs in the casino, but lost heavily last week-end, although the exact amount of her losses was not revealed.

Grape Owners Lose Campaign

FRESNO, Calif., July 15.—(UP)—Houpe for government control of the state's grape crop faded when the campaign to contract the necessary 85 per cent of total acreage ended last night—still some 35,000 acres short of its goal.

Although the five-day extension of the campaign granted by the federal farm board is officially ended, the several days necessary before the board has completed its computations will be used to add to the quota, Wylie M. Giffen, chairman of the state wide campaign, announced today.

"The government's program and its success is so important and means so much to the state that we must not give up until the very last minute," Griffen said.

Facts Brought Out In Probe By Senators

Publicity Man For Chicago Woman Takes Exception to Sen. Nye

FEDERAL BUILDING, CHICAGO, July 15.—(UP)—Known expenditures in Ruth Hanna McCormick's successful campaign for the Republican nomination to the United States senate reached $326,000 today with the revelation that an additional $7,000 had been spent without her knowledge by friends in McLean county.

W. D. Alexander testified before the campaign expenditures hearing being conducted by Senator Gerald P. Nye in Chicago that he had spent that amount in Bloomington where he acted as Mrs. McCormick's manager, "because of my friendship for her."

Other testimony at the morning session of today's hearing included that of Frederick A. Smith. He described himself as Mrs. McCormick's publicity man and made several humorous remarks about his duties which disturbed the dignity of Senator Nye.

Smith told jokingly of his "research work," which included reading the Congressional Record "reveling in thrilling tariff debates and delving into soy bean statistics."

"Every day I take up my cross," Smith said.

Mrs. McCormick, who attended the hearing expecting to be recalled as witness, laughed out loud at Smith's remarks. Senator Nye, respiendant in white striped trousers and blue coat, frowned.

Smith then became more serious and made a statement criticizing Senator Nye for giving publicity to reports that Mrs. McCormick's campaign was corrupt. He said he had seen newspaper clippings declaring that she and "Scarface" Al Capone, the gang chief, had a political allian.e.

EMPLOYMENT SEEN ON RAILROAD LINE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—(UP)—Ten million dollars worth of employment in northern California loomed today with the announcement by Col. J. W. Williams, chief engineer for the Western Pacific railroad, that bids for the construction of the line's 112-mile stretch of rail from Keddie to Bieber will be invited this week.

Anticipating favorable action by the interstate commerce commission upon their application to join the Great Northern at Bieber, and wishing to rush construction in every way, Col. Williams disclosed, plans and specifications for the line have been ready for some months.

It is expected that bids will be opened on or about July 25 and that the award may be made by August 1.

The contract will call for grading tunneling, bridges, tracks and ballasting. Representatives of 15 contracting firms last week made an inspection trip with Western Pacific engineers.

All the published answers favored a federation, although most of the nations included reservations. The replies were from Sweden, which was published today; Spain, Holland, Italy, Roumania, Denmark and Austria.

The foreign office explained that most of the 16 countries which have not answered had informed Briand they would send their replies before the end of this week. Great Britain, Belgium and Switzerland are among the countries not heard from. It was believed the British answer would be received tomorrow or Thursday.

Governor Young Acts to Expedite Return of Witness in Mooney Case

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—(UP)—Gov. C. C. Young today acted to expedite the return to California of John MacDonald, itinerant waiter and key witness in the state's case against Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings.

MacDonald, who made positive identification of Mooney and Billings at the San Francisco murder trials and since has signed affidavits in repudiation, will be questioned further regarding his conflicting statements, according to the governor.

In a statement to the state's attorney at Baltimore, where MacDonald was located after a nationwide search, the governor said California was willing to defray his expenses to this state and added:

"I am in receipt of a telegram from attorneys for John MacDonald, now living in Baltimore, stating that he had made an affidavit before the state's attorney of that city to the following effect:

JUDGE TELLS JURY STORY OF SLAYING

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—The Los Angeles county grand jury returned a murder indictment shortly before noon today against Frank D. Keaton for the slaying of Motley Flint. At the same time the coroner's jury brought in a verdict that Keaton shot the Los Angeles banker with homicidal intent.

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—(UP)—The murder of Motley H. Flint, prominent Southern California financier, was recounted in detail at an inquest here today by Superior Judge Frank Collier, in whose courtroom the slaying took place yesterday.

The jurist, one of the first witnesses at the inquest, said he heard the first shot fired at Flint and looked up in time to see Frank D. Keaton, the admitted killer, send two more bullets into the financier.

"Flin had just finished testifying in a case in my court," Judge Collier said. "I excused him from the witness stand. An attorney handed me an exhibit in the case and I was examining the exhibit when I heard a loud explosion.

Witnessed Killing

"I looked up and saw the slayer of Flint fire two more shots. Flint's hand groped for his chest. He stumbled and then fell over backward."

Judge Collier said he left the bench and ran to Keaton.

"I grabbed him and asked him for the gun. He pointed toward Flint's body. He had thrown the

Shoots Motorists When Denied Ride

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—(UP)—Three people were in a local hospital today as the result of a drunken man's rage at being refused an automobile ride last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Mull were stopped by D. L. Spillane on a dark street as they were returning home in their automobile. Spillane jumped on the running board and demanded a ride. Mull refused and was about to drive on when the enraged man pulled a gun and fired at Mrs. Mull, wounding her in the leg.

Mull grappled with the assailant and was also shot in the forehead. As Mull slumped to the ground a passerby, Ed Brown, knocked Spillane to the ground with a heavy piece of timber.

Cities Defend Right To Larger Share Of Gas Tax

INEQUALITIES IN ALLOTMENT TOLD TO BOARD

Declaring that there is growing feeling of dissatisfaction in all the municipalities of the county with the way that the gasoline tax funds alloted to Orange county are being spent and that some fair method should be adopted by county authorities, representatives of eight cities in Orange county appeared before the county board of supervisors today and askd that the board work out a plan that would be fair and satisfactory.

The meeting resulted from discussion at the Orange County Association of Municipalities, which is composed of city officials and members of the boards of trustees of all the cities in the county, where for some time a feeling has been growing that the cities should have a larger participation in the gas tax fund that is received by the county from the state.

Cities represented in the appearance before the board of supervisors today were Newport Beach, Anaheim, Fullerton, Huntington Beach, San Clemente, Brea, Seal Beach and Santa Ana. The matter was presented to the supervisors by M J.. Johnson, of Newport Beach, president of the county association, and Albert Launer, of Fullerton. Included in the personnel of the delegation which presented its request to the supervisors were Johnson, Launer, O. A. Kreighbaum, of Fullerton, clerk of the association of municipalities; Edward M. McDonald, of Brea; Hal Warner, of San Clemente; George Raymer, Clyde Jenken, Frank Purinton, L. M. Banks, Stanley Goode, J. L. McBride, all of Santa Ana, and George Miller, of Anaheim.

A number of petitions asking the allocation of funds from the gas tax money for use in city street improvements were presented to the board by Johnson, who stated that the petitions carried the signatures of city officials of chambers of commerce and influential business men and civic leaders in all the communities represented and that the petitions probably carried a more distinguished list of names than any other petitions ever before presented to the board of supervisors.

All of the petitions brought out the fact that there was dissatisfaction with the way the board was allocating the funds and set up the claim that the cities should have a fairer share in the distribution of this money. Many of the cities declared that they had never received a cent of aid from the share of the gas tax that is annually refunded to the county by the state, and which it was said amounted to about $350,000 annually.

The petition from Newport Beach stated that citizens there paid about $19,000 annually in the tax and of this amount some $6300 was returned to the county, but that the city had never received any aid from the fund in its street program. They asked for an equitable share. George Jeffrey, supervisor from this district, made the statement that the first year he was on the board an appropriation of $7000 was made for work in Newport Beach. Johnson declared that this work was not done inside the city limits.

Santa Ana declared in its petition that during the past 10 years the city had spent $4,600,000 in construction and maintenance of its streets and that during the same period its citizens had paid $591,300 in gas tax and at the present time are paying at the rate of $97,000 per year, but the city only had $23,500 refunded from this fund by the county.

Anaheim's petition declared that from $32,000 to $33,000 was spent annually in the gas tax but that all this had been spent outside the city. Fullerton set up the assertion that no assistance from the county ever had been received and that they contributed $32,900 annually that was received by the county from the $98,800 tax that its citizens paid. Brea also declared that it never had received any assistance from the county from the fund in question. Laguna Beach made the claim that its roads were used more by outside motorists than they were by its own citizens, as many of the other municipalities had pointed out. The petition from San Clemente had not been brought to the meeting but is to be forwarded to the board.

Launer, as spokesman for the group, asserted that the tentative understanding that they understood to be in force among members of the board of supervisors, that 25 per cent of the fund should be set aside for allocation to the cities, was impractical and not a fair allocation. He suggested that 40 per cent would be more in the line with what shold be used for this purpose, and asked that the board adopt a definite policy and go on record in the matter. He also pointed to the fact that interpretation of the law in Los Angeles county permitted the use of this fund in any municipality where the local street program fitted in with the county program, and said that a wider interpretation of the law than had been adopted by the Orange county supervisors, was permissible.

Launer also declared that the group intended to keep after this matter until a fair settlement was reached and he hey would appear bfore he board as often as necessary in th future.

The board, through its chairman, Willard Smith, assured the delegation that the matter would have its consideration and study and that a decision would be transmitted to them after the matter had been investigated from all angles. He also pointed out that they might be restricted by an interpretation of the law governing the matter by the district attorney's office.

BEACH CITY IS TO HAVE AUTO TAX FUND HELP

Members of the board of supervisors today made an appropriation of $12,781.01 from the unapportioned auto tax fund of the county to the use of the city of Huntington Beach, where it is understood that the fund will be used on Seventeenth street in that city. The action was taken on a motion by Supervisor John C. Mitchell.

Other action taken by the board this morning included changing assessments in the county improvement district 26 (the Villa Park water district), ordering school bonds sold for a building program at Orange, and acceptance of an invitation from San Bernardino to attend a meeting there on July 28.

The assessments in the water district were made after a complaint had been registered with the board by E. H. Adams, and certain property had its assessment reduced, while other property had the amount of the assessment increased. The school bonds were ordered advertised for sale and bids are to be opened and the bonds sold, on August 5. The amount of the issue is $75,000 and the bonds carry 5 per cent interest. The San Bernardino meeting is to be preceded by a parade and is to be addressed by Congressman Phil Swing, who will talk on the Boulder dam project. The members of the board agreed to attend the affair in a body.

trial was untrue; that he never saw either of the men in his life until they were shown to him at the police station and their names given him by the police, and that he was told to identify them by officials in charge of the prosecution."

"There is no question of greater public importance to the state of California than a far-going, complete and open investigation as to whether the testimony of MacDonald at the trials of Billings and Mooney was true or false. I have accordingly wired States Attorney R. O'Connor of Baltimore as follows:

To Pay Expenses

"I have received a wire from MacDonald's attorneys saying he will return to California if transportation is provided. If MacDonald will agree to appear as a witness before California's advisory pardon board in the Mooney case and the judges of California's supreme court in the Billings case upon an open hearing in a thorough-going and complete investigation of all questions involved in his affidavit of 1921 and in his recent affidavit before you, the state of California will provide necessary transportation. Please so advise MacDonald and his attorneys and inform me."

MacDonald testified at the trials, which resulted from the Preparedness Day bombing in which 10 were killed and 40 wounded, that he saw Billings place a suitcase beside a brick wall, go to a corner and meet Money and then leave with him. Mooney and Billings have served 14 years of life sentences.

The state supreme court, relying largely on the veracity of MacDonald's testimony, recently denied a pardon to Billings and Governor Young took similar action on Mooney's application.

gun at Flint after he fired the three shots."

Judge Collier made a positive identification of Keaton as the slayer as did L. J. Selznick, motion picture producer, one of the witnesses in the case in which Flint was called to testify.

Several other persons who were in the courtroom at the time also identified Keaton.

Henry S. Mackey jr., son-in-law of the late United States senator, Frank Flint, brother of the victim, appeared for the purpose of identifying the body.

Throughout the proceedings, Keaton, who has explained that he did the shooting because he believed his stock market losses and the collapse of the Julian Petroleum corporation were caused by Flint, sat quietly between police officers.

"Nothing to Say"

Keaton explained to Coroner Nance that he had no attorney and had "nothing to say."

"Do you wish to refrain from testifying on the grounds that it might incriminate you?" the coroner asked.

"I just haven't anything to say," Keaton answered.

Officers who arrested Keaton said that his mind apparently went blank after he killed the banker.

"He didn't exactly admit he fired the shot," Detective Lt. Filcas said. "He told us though that everything went black and hazy before him. He told us that someone told him that Flint was responsible for his loss of $4600 in stocks."

The autopsy surgeon's report revealed that any one of the three bullets which struck Flint would have caused instant death.

While the inquest was being concluded the county grand jury opened its investigation into the slaying. Judge Collier was one of the witnesses called by the grand jury.

CONFERENCE TO TAKE PLACE ON NEXT TUESDAY

Agitation for a county union junior college, which has been strongly pushed in various localities of the county, is to result in a joint meeting of the board of trustees of the Fullerton junior college with the Santa Ana board of education, next Tuesday night, it was learned today. The session is scheduled to be held at the office of the Santa Ana board at eight o'clock.

Plans for a union junior college have been under discussion by county educational authorities and committees of the associated chambers of commerce for some time and various plans have been broached. At one time the Fullerton Junior college was thought to be out of the deal, but the fact that the controlling board of this institution is to meet with the Santa Ana board for a discussion is taken as an indication that the matter may yet reach fruition fith all the school districts of the county included.

The creation of a county junior college should mean the building of a fine institution of this character, as sufficient valuation would be included to provide adequate funds for the project. It is reported that the meeting with the Fullerton board is at the invitation of the Santa Ana board and that the matter was suggested by members of the chamber of commerce organization which has been active in an effort to bring the union junior college into being.

The Santa Ana Masonic Temple association, limited, failed last night to award the contract for construction of its proposed temple at Fifth and Sycamore streets.

KILLER PLANS TO ENTER SELF DEFENSE PLEA

Pete Gonzales, 29, of Delhi, self confessed slayer of Manuel Valenzuella, in a knife-pistol battle at Measer street and Central avenue, Delhi, Sunday afternoon, will plead self defense, it was announced today by N. D. Meyer, counsel for Gonzales.

Meyer will contend that his client stabbed Valenzuella to death in protecting his own life and after Valenzuella had fired at him with a pistol, he said today.

A coroner's jury, in an inquest over the body of the slain Mexican this morning at the Harrell and Brown Funeral parlors, returned a verdict as follows:

"Death from a stab wound in the heart, with a knife in the hands of Pete Gonzales, at Gloryetta, July 13, 1930."

Deputy District Attorney Leo Friis, as well as Meyer, were present at the inquest.

Officers still were investigating the case today, seeking a motive for the murder. The men were seen, arm in arm, walking down the street a few minutes before the fight, and they also learned, it was said, that the two had a battle Sunday morning, in which neither was seriously hurt. They became friends after that, however and then fought again.

That a woman, Elisa Bozorquez, who witnessed the fight, may have had something to do with the feelings of the men against each other, also was being investigated, it was reported.

Increase Reward On Stolen Cattle

The California Cattlemen's association, through it's secretary, Earl D. Schedmer, at Los Angeles, announced today to Sheriff Sam Jernigan that the board of directors of the organization had decided to increase rewards for stolen cattle from $200 to $500.

The money will be paid to persons who give information that causes the arrest and conviction of persons stealing cattle from any of the members of the association.

Goetz was arrested by Chief of Police B. H. Richards and Motorcycle Officer Pete Winslow, of Orange, at Orana yesterday morning.

The officers are alleged to have found a gallon of liquor in his machine, and when they went to seize it, Goetz is asserted to have broken it, destroying the evidence. He then battled with the officers until subdued, they said.

FIGHTER ARRESTED

MRS. SI FLUOR IS BURNED IN GAS EXPLOSION

Although severely burned about the face and hands, Mrs. J. Simon (Si) Fluor jr. today was resting as easily as could be expected under the circumstances at her residence on Ball road, west of Anaheim, following the explosion of a gas stove which for an instant yesterday transformed her into a living flame.

Only her own prompt action in smothering the blaze, and the assistance of her maid and a woman visitor saved Mrs. Fluor more serious injuries.

Mrs. Fluor is the wife of the secretary of the Fluor Corporation, Ltd., and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Warner, 2357 Riverside drive, Santa Ana. Mr. and Mrs. Fluor formerly resided here. Mr. Fluor was at his office in Los Angeles when the explosion occurred.

Mrs. Fluor's face was painfully burned but her eyes were not endangered. Her hands were seared as she successfully beat out the flames. Her hair was burned as also was the back of her head.

The accident happened when Mrs. Fluor lighted the kitchen stove. The oven was full of gas which had been turned on but not ignited.

Mrs. Fluor is under the care of a nurse. She is able to see visitors.

BISHOP SEAGER GIVES SERMON FOR ASSEMBLY

Large crowds attended the services at the summer assembly of the California conference of Evangelical churches on the assembly grounds west of Santa Ana yesterday. Registration and enrollment for the convention, which opens officially tomorrow, will be held commencing at three o'clock this afternoon.

Features of the meeting yesterday were sermons by Bishop L. H. Seager, of Le Mars, Ia., the morning watch service, and the young peoples' service in the evening. The Rev. Paul D. Steps, pastor of the San Bernardino church, led the service at the morning watch, which consisted of songs, prayer and meditation on a passage of scripture from First Corinthians. Some 200 persons attended the Sunday school service, which started at 9 a. m., with the Rev. E. Durgi, of Anaheim, teaching the adult group.

Bishop Seager preached three times yesterday. His subject at the morning service was "The Conservation of Faith" and he used as his text Luke, 18:8, "When the son of man cometh, shall He find faith on the earth?" The afternoon subject was "The Challene of the Unfinished Task" which was based on the text "Give me this mountain" from Joshua, 14:12. At the evening service when there was an attendance of over 400, the Bishop preached on the subject "And Peter" from Mark, 16:7.

Lester Rohrs led the young peoples' service at 6:30 p. m. with a discussion of the subject "What Is Your Hobby?"

The Rev. G. G. Schmidt, of Torrance, preached the sermon at the morning service today, and at 2:30 p. m. the Rev. S. Schrader, of Los Angeles, was in charge of the services. The Rev. Mr. Steps led the morning watch again today.

The convention proper will open tonight following registration today with asermon by Bishop Seaer.

FLYING FIELD VERY POPULAR AT FULLERTON

FULLERTON, July 15.—Enjoyment of the thrills of flying is not hindered by age, according to Mrs. R. E. Deter, 77, who took her first flight with Claude Long, of the Fullerton Municipal airport, Sunday.

"This was my first trip, but I hope it will not be my last one," Mrs. Deter declared when she landed. "I enjoyed every minute of the ride."

Mrs. Deter is the mother of R. B. Carey, Fullerton contractor.

Many Ships Visit Field

Activity at the Fullerton airport is increasing, according to Long, who said that during the past week 14 visiting ships landed at the port in addition to the regular flying of the four Waco planes and Stinson Detroiter cabin ship which fly regularly at the airport.

The visiting planes included three navy pursuit ships from San Diego, one naval reserve plane from Long Beach, an army plane from March field, two commercial planes from Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale; one from Pomona airport, three from Curtis Flying service at Mines field, Los Angeles, and three from Eddie Martin's airport at Santa Ana.

To Grade Runway

Plans for city street department equipment to be used in grading and smoothing the runway are being made, it was said. The runway has not been graded or worked since it was oiled a year ago.

SETTLE SUIT FOR $15,000 DAMAGES

When the cases of Clare Dale and Charles O. Dale against L. J. Sliger came up for trial in the court of Judge G. K. Scovel today, attorneys had reached an agreement and entered a stipulation as to the amount of judgment that should be entered. Clare Dale, 20, was awarded $1360 and his father, the other plaintiff, was given judgment for $200.

The court actions grew out of an accident at the intersection of Dowling and Orangethorpe avenues last November, when young Dale, who was riding a motorcycle, was injured in a collision with a car driven by Sliger. He sustained fractures of the left foot and leg and sued for $15,000 personal damages and $750 loss of wages for a period of three months. His father asked judgment for $400 for medical expenses.

WOMEN'S GROUP HEARS TALK BY ART DIRECTOR

Those deft little touches that serve to make a house a home, were dwelt upon, in a most illuminating manner by Ruth Kay Forman, member of the art department of a Los Angeles high school, when she was introduced yesterday as speaker for the Business and Professional Women's club, holding its weekly session in St. Ann's inn.

Mrs. Forman illustrated her talk with some interesting vases, some of which were extremely valuable, while others were within the means of the most modest budget. But each expressed beauty in form, design or coloring, and each was shown for its relative value in contributing to the beauty of a home. Quaint little figurines were included, and it was shown how an interesting group might be arranged with these charming small figurines as units expressing certain moods.

That such moods might express a season, and then be laid away until that season returned again, was one of the interesting ideas advanced by the speaker, who suggested that the Oriental plan of frequently changing ornaments and vases might well be adopted by the occidental homemaker. She also suggested that it was an excellent idea to try to see one's home with new eyes, and the probable result would be that fully half the pictures used on the walls, would be removed.

Color combinations and harmonies were discussed as well, and that topic of ever present interest ,lamps. It is Mrs. Forman's belief that lamps should be designed for that one purpose alone, and that the utilizing or any oddly shaped jar or bottle for the table lamps now in such popularity, is to be avoided.

It seemed most apropos that the club should take the opportunity to present gifts for home beautification to its two current brides, Mrs. Elmer E. Webster (Mabel Rockwell) and Mrs. Joseph Catherina (Myrtle Meyer). To Mrs. Webster was given a graceful bon glass vase with crystal figure, and to Mrs. Catherina was presented topaz crystal to match the set she is assembling.

Business matters brought up for discussion by the president, Mrs. Hazel Northcross, included that of increasing state federation dues from 75 cents to a dollar. The club took favorable action on this question.

Attention was called to next Monday's program, a dinner at 6:30 o'clock in the English tavern on Whittier boulevard just beyond the Quaker City, at which Dr. Stewart Fitch, of Pasadena, will show fascinating pictures of his European wanderings. Members who have not yet made reservations for themselves or their guests may yet do so by telephoning Miss Lena Thomas, reservations chairman. Dr. Fitch will address the clubwomen as a special courtesy to Dr. Mary E. Wright, one of the active members.

FOREIGN PLANE TRADE

Don't Take Pills For Constipation

Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver disgorge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in a day or two and you have to swallow more pills.

What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic like Plantlax to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all foul secretions and at the same time restore the torpid, lazy liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, coated tongue, sallow skin, sour stomach, gas, billous attacks or other symptoms of constipation and liver trouble.

Plantlax is made from the juices of harmless medicinal plants — Nature's own remedies—that act in a mild, easy way without weakening or irritating the organs. Try it tonight. Large bottle $1 at any good drug store.

TELLS ABOUT OLD AND NEW IN RELIGION

"There is a marked contrast between the old and the new religion," said the Rev. W. G. Nicholson, summer preacher at the First Congregational church, yesterday morning, in speaking on the topic, "An Infinite Hazard."

"The old religion saw two possible outcomes for the individual. There was the possibility of winning gloriously and the possibility of losing desperately. In other words the new religion in turning its back upon the doctrine of a hell of eternal fire and torment has lost its sense of any risk in the conduct of life."

The Rev. Mr. Nicholson took his text from the writings of Professor Hocking, of Harvard university: "If your idealism wipe out your fear of hell, and with it all sense of an infinite risk in the conduct of life, your idealism has played you false. No religion is a true religion which is not able to make men tingle, yes, even to their physical nerve tips, with the sense of an infinite hazard, a wrath to come, a heavenly city to be gained or lost in the process of time by the use of our own freedom."

He examined the religion of Jesus and the religion of the Christian centuries in the light of this text and found them answering the requirement of a "true religion" as defined by Hocking. But of the modern religion he said:

"Today we have no sense of any risk in the conduct of life. We have entered upon laissez-faire times in religion. We believe in the inevitability of progress, in the final reconciliation of all souls to God. We go about living carelessly in the happy-go-lucky manner so well interpreted by the words of the popular song: 'Everything will be all right.' We have made a religion a voluntary cloak that a man can put on and take off when he wills.

"We have made it possible for a man to profess religion on Sunday, and engage in activities throughout the week that wreak the lives of human beings, and feel no qualms about it. We have got ourselves into such straits that church members are absolutely at a loss to explain the benefits of being religious. We have produced a world in which are a small group of church members living in the midst of a vast indifferent throng with nothing to challenge the attention of the indifferent.

"Let religion return to an im-

"Let religion return to an impartial study of life. Impartial analysis of life will display the fact that life is continually offering us opportunities for character growth. To make the most of these opportunities for character growth is to succeed. But to ignore them is to travel the road which leads to miserable failure. Opportunities rejected build into a man the realization of the man he might have been which stands out in sharp and awful contrast to the man that he really is. The agony of mind and heart caused by this contrast is hell enough for any man. Said the poet: 'Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these—It might have been'."

Groover Held To Answer By Court

Claude Groover, La Habra service station operator, charged with an offense against a 17 year old girl, was held to answer to the superior court this morning from Justice Kenneth Morrison's court at the conclusion of his preliminary examination. Bail of $3000 was demanded which he did not make.

Groover is alleged to have enticed the girl to his service station on the pretext of giving her a job.

STUART LUCAS GIVES TALK TO LAGUNA LIONS

A good joke was perpetrated on several of the political candidates last night at the meeting of the Laguna Beach Lions club at their regular dinner at the Harmony inn on the state boulevard.

There were present three of the would be office holders and the personal representative of another. At the presentation of guests, Charley Artz, of Tustin, and Stuart Lucas, of Corona del Mar, were introduced as candidates for supervisor for the fifth district, and Ray Adkinson as a candidate for county superintendent of schools. They had been asked by the program committee to present their views.

After the regular business of inducting two new members into fellowship, President Bowen stated that he would call on each of the candidates but that as the rules of the club did not permit political speeches, the candidates must confine themselves to other subjects. He then called on Lucas.

Lucas replied that, as he had been eating, drinking, and sleeping nothing but politics for the last two months, he felt himself handicapped, but that he would try to confine his remarks to questions of general interest, and eliminate the personal equation.

"It is a matter of general knowledge that the flood control project is not a dead issue, but that it will be submitted to the voters at the earliest possible moment, and that this district again will be called upon to register her protest against that measure from which we here derive no benefit," said Lucas. The success of that measure would entail a toll upon the taxpayers of Laguna of $23,000 per annum for 40 years, or more than the present salary account of the city officials. Our neighboring city of Newport Beach would have to spend $36,000 per annum. Seven of the major projects of the United States reclamation service were estimated to cost a total of $22,000,000, by the engineers, while the finished work actually cost Uncle Sam $60,000,000. Should this same ratio obtain in the local project, Laguna's share of the expense would be about $65,000 per annum and Newport Beach's around $90,000 per year. It is not unfair to presume that this would be the case, as the San Gabriel canyon job was estimated by the engineers at $16,500,000 and at the time of its abandonment, after some $5,000,000 had been spent, the estimate had been swelled to $66,000,000. This probability is further supported by the fact that after the expenditure of $120,000 on the Orange county project for preliminary work, it was found that "that the first requisite of dam building" (taking cores from the site of the foundation) had not been done in any of the eight or nine contemplated locations."

"One other subject," continued Lucas, "On looking up the amount of beach open to the public along the coast of Orange county, I find about two miles at Huntington Beach, seven miles at Newport Beach, three quarters of a mile at Laguna Beach, 200 feet at Three Arches, and I have been informed that there are three strips of beach each 1000 feet long at San Clemente, that have been dedicated to that city. Then there is three quarters of a mile at Dana Point that show as dedicated to the public, the only access to which is a drive of some 50 years standing that the county officials have allowed to be fenced in and a big gate with a padlock now makes this beach accessable to no one but S. H. Woodruff and his friends.

Last November a county road lying between the Santa Fe tracks and the beach along most of the length of Capistrano Beach was abandoned by the board of supervisors, and was soon afterwards fenced in. I hope I have not taken too much of your time or overstepped the bounds of your by-laws. I thank you," concluded Lucas.

The president thanked Lucas for the information imparted and said that many of the things mentioned were news to him and that he felt that each member present would profit by having these things brought to his attention.

Artz was then introduced and said that there was nothing left for him to say except that he was glad to be there and that he appreciated the privilege of having met the boys. Atkinson stated that, as he would be in Laguna for a couple of weeks, he would do his talking piecemeal.

Dr. Huston, of Costa Mesa Lions club, then gave a talk on what the Lions should mean to its members; and after a rendition of "Sweet Adeline" by the quartet in true pre-war fervor, in which they were joined by various members, and some dogs that had been gathered outside awaiting the remains of the repast, the meeting adjourned.

PLAN DINNER FOR NATIONAL GUARDS

ORANGE, July 15.—The building committee of the American Legion post of this city will be hosts to members of the National guard of this city at a dinner to be given at the American Legion clubhouse, Friday evening, before the company leaves for camp at San Luis Obispo.

The dinner will be served by the members of the American Legion auxiliary at 6:30 o'clock and it is expected that about 75 will be present.

Members of the building committee include George Franzden, W. H. Hart, Claude Potter, Logan Jackson, James Regan and Clyde Slater.

BREAKFASTERS TO HEAR LOUIS DANZ

Louis Danz, of Anaheim, will be the speaker on the Thursday morning program of the Breakfast club, it was announced today by B. Z. McKinney, president.

The committee, composed of Sheriff Sam Jernigan, Jesse Elliott and Dave Wittlin, has arranged for an address by this entertaining talker. Danz relates in a comical way some of the observations he made on a trip to Europe.

"Stormy" Gordon and his Elks jazz orchestra will play during the early morning session of the club.

It is expected a special initiation ceremony will be put on by a committee appointed by the president at the last meeting.

OPERA SINGER TO APPEAR ON BAND PROGRAM

Another record crowd is anticipated in attendance at the concert which will be presented in Birch park next Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock by the Santa Ana Municipal band, under the direction of D. C. Cianfoni, since this event will not only feature "Italian Night," with a wealth of musical gems from Italian composers, but it will mark the local appearance of Mme. Maria Caselotti, celebrated opera singer, who is well known both in this country and Europe, in the role of featured soloist.

Mme. Caselotti, whose talent and beauty will be well remembered by those local music lovers who were privileged to hear her in one of her most celebrated roles, that of Violetta in the famous Verdi opera "La Travaiata" which was presented here last November, is looking forwardeagerly to her second appearance here in Santa Ana, this time in the role of concert artist. She is planning to present one of her most noted arias, the beautiful "Ah Fors'e Lui" from the first act of "Traviata," a favorite with many noted singers. In this aria Mme. Caselotti employs an original cadenza, which is especially suited to display her unusual range and the great flexibility of her voice, which is an unusually rich coloratura.

In addition to the familiar aria, Mme. Caselotti plans to present a varied song group for the enjoyment of local music lovers next Thursday evening, in which will be included English, Spanish, and Italian numbers.

It is interesting to note that since Mme. Caselotti's operatic debut in Brooklyn, New York, eight years ago, she has won sensational triumphs in not only this country, but also in Canada, Italy, Sicily, and Cuba. During a three year period spent in Rome, she was often heard in leading operatic roles at the Costanzi theater, now the Royal Opera house, in the great Italian music center, at all times winning great ovations of applause.

According to announcement given out by Cianfoni, selections to be presented on this occasion by the band will include that favorite of all overtures, Rossini's spectacular "William Tell," as well as operatic selections from the equally loved masterpieces from Verdi, "Aida" and "Il Trovatore." An instrumental sextette will add variety, playing the beautiful sextette from "Lucia." Other works from Italian composers will also be presented.

PAIR ACCUSED OF BEATING OFFICER

Arralgned on a charge of assault and battery today before Justice A. A. Earley, of La Habra, Donald Sutherland, 32, and Harold Sutherland, 34, were released on bail of $650 after being accused of beating up E. N. Brown, traffic officer, Saturday night.

During the course of an asserted wild party at the Sutherland home at Erlo and Hazel streets, the Sutherland brothers went away and came across Officer Brown. He took them home but the two suddenly turned on him and gave him a sever beating, reports said. The policeman managed to call for reinforcements and the men were lodged in jail in an assertedly intoxicated state.

They were released on bail this morning at 10 o'clock and the other five members of the party who also were arrested pleaded not guilty. They were charged with disorderly conduct. The Sutherland trial was set for July 22 at 9:20 a. m. and the other trial will be held on July 23 at 9:30 a. m. The five in the home besides the Sutherland brothers were Mrs. Bessie Sutherland, Miss Wilma Fleming, Miss Pearl Willerd, A. T. Boster and Lester Hall.

Owner of Beauty Shop In Bay City

During the absence of Miss Helen Lean, owner and operator of the Booth Beauty shop, who has returned on business to San Francisco, Emaline Converse will have full charge of the shop. Miss Lean will be gone until the close of the year. Mrs. Converse is a daughter of the late M. A. Baker, of Paularino, a pioneer of Orange county, and was born in Santa Ana.

OIL WELL CENTER OF COURT ACTION

A family fuss over inheritence of some land on which an oil well was developed, reached superior court today when suit was filed by Mary Moseley Lugo, et al., children of May Moseley, deceased, against their father, John H. Moseley, et al. Included among the defendants is the step-mother and administrator of the mother's estate.

The complaint asks to have the defendants declared involuntary trustees of real and personal property, to establish the existence of a trust and for an accounting and equitable relief.

It is set forth in the document that the plaintiffs are the children and the sole and only legal heirs of May Moseley, and that certain property was left on which an oil lease was in force and which has since developed a producing well. Charges are made that the father took certain actions "pursuant to a pre-arranged and pre-voncerted plan and course of action" of the defendants to encumber and cloud the title of the plaintiffs in certain property and to wrongfully and illegally deprive the plaintiffs of their respective rights and interests in the property.

Find Large Snakes Coiled In Foliage

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., (INS)—July 15.—A good snake story—perhaps the best of the year.

A smal lboy driving a team of farm horses in a field near here stopped beneath a tree to rest his horses in the shade.

Out of the branches uncoiled a blacksnake. H. A. James, game protector, who was passing, killed the snake.

And they were kept busy for the next few moments. Snake after snake, four in all, uncoiled and slid down into the wagon.

C. OF C. BODY BACKING STATE PARK AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 15.—Owen Mosier and Mrs. Marie Weiner were elected directors of the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting held Monday noon at the Golden Bear cafe. They take the places made vacant by resignations of two directors who moved away from the city.

President Osborn of the organization stated that he had received information from the state that probably $150,000 had been lost here in wages by oil workers during the life of the field. The statement was made in connection with a discussion of the matter of enacting another oil drilling protective ordinance to be submitted to a vote of the people, phobably some time in the coming autumn.

Discusses Park

T. B. Talbert discussed the state coast park. He stated the state appraisal board and the county appraisal bord had completed their work but that so far efforts to get the two boards together had failed. Plans are under way to get the boards together this week. President Osborn said that it was the plan to conduct an investigation into the matter to see if politics were being played.

President Osborn announced that he had a talk with J. S. Lawshea, manager of the Huntington Beach company and that Mr. Lawshea had turned the beach here over to the Chamber of Commerce to manage. President Osborn said that the management of the beach would be entrusted to the beach committee of which W. E. Ebert is chairman.

Those presen at the meeting were Mrs. Marie J. Weiner, Owen Mosier, Mrs. Jennie Hubbard, W. R. Osborn, president; Mrs. May S. Jackson, secretary; J. E. Son, J. S. Denny, C. P. Patton, J. M. Barnhart, E. J. Conrad, S. R. Bowen, T. B. Talbert.

Jetty Work Completed At Newport Harbor Entrance

REMOVE TRACKS ON PENINSULA BY WEEK END

NEWPORT BEACH, July 15.—The temporary railway which was built last spring from the end of the Pacific tracks along Central avenue and Ocean boulevard to the west jetty, for use in the harbor improvement work, will be lifted by the end of this week, according to City Engineer R. L. Patterson.

Men were at work yesterday cleaning up the odds an ends of the harbor job, recently completed, and were expected to begin taking up the track today. This will greatly improve traffic conditions on Balboa peninsula, where building and real estate has been marked during the present season.

Finish Work on Time

The harbor work was done by the Standard Dredging company, which carried out the job ahead of the set schedule and with satisfaction to everybody concerned, it was stated. They dredged nearly 600,000 cubic yards of sand from the entrance channel and pumped it over to the west side of the west jetty, where a fine beach has been built up.

Part of the same contract was to build two rock groins on the west side of the jetty. These, with the large amount of sand deposited by the dredges, are expected to cause the new beach to hold up and eliminate the trouble which followed the reinforcing of the west jetty in 1927.

Result of Bond Issue

The dredging cost $150,000 and the groins $50,000, these two amounts making up the $200,000 bond issue passed by the City of Newport Beach last October. In 1927 the city passed a $50,000 issue with which the east jetty was built and the west jetty reinforced.

The city has also expended other sums in recent years on harbor improvement from a harbor improvement fund budgeted from the general funds each year. At present part of this fund is being used to dredge northwest and southeast of Balboa island.

Finish Plans For Painting Church

MIDWAY CITY, July 15.—Plans for repainting the exterior of the Midway City Nazarene church have been completed through the efforts of the pastor, the Rev. J. J. Woodson, who was presented a check for $10, the amount needed for paint materials, by I. D. Wallingford, proprietor of the general merchandise store of Bolsa, and two local men, Mr. Lem and W. H. Taylor, have agreed to donate the labor, Mr. Lem to do the main body painting and Mr. Taylor the trimming on the church. Two shades of tan are to be used in redecorating the edifice.

Work on theb uilding will probably begin the first of the week. A board meeting of church officers was held last week at the church in connection with the proposed plans.

The local young people of the Nazarene church are looking forward to the proposed two days outing which the N. Y. P. A. of this zone are planning for late in August. The local pastor is on the committee of arrangements for the camp site and has been investigating possibilities this week.

RETURNS FROM EAST GLAD TO ESCAPE HEAT

FULLERTON, July 15.—At least one Fullerton resident considers the present heat wave only a "relief from the much greater heat in the midwest."

"It's a relief to be back from the mid-west and the terrific heat," E. B. Reynolds, president of the Fullerton Rotary club, declared yesterday on arriving from a four-week trip to the Rotary International convention in Chicago and visits to friends and relatives in Illinois and Iowa.

Iowa Very Hot

"This heat is not so bad," Reynolds said, commenting on the Fullerton temperature, which qualified for the "unusual" distinction here yesterday. "It is not as bad as eight days of heat which Mrs. Reynolds and I encountered in Iowa on our visit."

Magnitude of the Rotary convention and the spirit demonstrated there by representatives of clubs from all parts of the world particularly impressed the Fullerton club president. Reynolds is preparing an address for the Rotarians at the Wednesday noon meeting at which he will report on the convention.

Reynolds and Leonard West, secretary of the club, are planning to attend a district meeting of presidents and secretaries to be held at Santa Barbara, July 18 and 19.

CONTENTED HERMIT LIVES 20 YEARS IN STONE HOUSE UNDER DANA POINT BLUFF

DANA POINT, July 15.—The visitor to this rapidly developing district, with its most modern of handsome homes, and fine drives and streets, little realizes that at the foot of the bluff, on the southeastern limits of the property known as the Dana Point holdings, lives a recluse whose mode of life is suggestive of Robinson Crusoe.

"Charlie's Point"

Carl Free, known to all as "Charlie" homesteaded a piece of beach some 20 years ago, and has since made his home under the over-hanging bluffs, on the spot now known as "Charlie's Point." Here, snug in a little two room stone hut, built by his own hands, with his back to the world, and the ocean stretching out before him, he lives a life of happiness and contentment, unmarred by the demands of civilization, or the expenses of the high cost of living.

Free, who drifted into this section a quarter of a century ago, is of German parentage, his native state being New Jersey. A blacksmith, in his early manhood, he grew tired of working by the day, and turned his eyes to the sea, becoming a fisherman. Later he filed on the land which he has since considered his homestead, and for 20 years has lived on the "point."

Big Earthquake

When he first settled on his place, a number of fishermen's shacks were nearby, but the earthquake which destroyed many homes in Hemet, wrecked its fury along the palisades under which the men had built their homes, and all were destroyed by the falling rocks from the bluffs, and by the great slices of earth which broke off and dropped to the beach. In the early part of his residence on his claim, Free had a five room stone house, having two spare rooms in readiness at all times for people who were shipwrecked.

House Has Two Rooms

This is no longer demanded by the government, and his new house has but two rooms. Built of stone, carried by hand, or in a small push cart from under the bluffs, this house is almost a fortress. The walls on the ocean side are over three feet in thickness, and two tiny windows, with heavy wooden shutters, admit the light. The wall against the cliff is five feet in thickness, so built to hold back the ever-erroding bluffs, which fall in tons of earth from the face of the palisades.

Plain Furniture

Within the cabin is a fireplace which Free uses both for cooking and heating purposes. A table in the center of the room, its legs of four long narrow slabs of rock, benches against the walls, of driftwood and rock, a bunk in one corner, and several plain chairs make up the furniture, with the exception of what has been a handsome overstuffed sofa, which is crowded against the wall, beside the fireplace. Driftwood is used for fuel, a tiny oil lamp furnishes light. Supplies are carried in his push cart from the highway, a quarter of a mile away, around a trail, under the bluffs. Water comes from a nearby spring.

Well Educated

Free is a well educated man, familiar with the history of this part of the country. He has made an exhaustive study of maps, bounds and surveys, and is well informed concerning the old Spanish land grants. In spite of his isolation from the world, he has kept posted on current events, and is an interesting talked.

PLANNING BODY AUTHORIZED BY LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, July 15.—Plans were made to aid in the creation of a city authorized planning commission here at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last week. On the completion of the report by Leslie Kimmel, city attorney, who had been requested to draft plans for the planning commission, it was decided the plans would be continued at the chamber banquet at the formal opening of the new Laguna Beach hotel on August 15.

Mr. Kimmel stated that he had invited Charles H. Diggs, director of the Los Angeles county planning commission to speak. Frank B. Champion was put in charge of arrangements for the banquet, which it is expected will be one of the most brilliant civic affairs ever to have been held in this city.

To Draft Ordinance

The chamber will draft a resolution requesting the city council to pass an ordinance for the formation of a planning commission. The movement for immediate action in obtaining a high school for this community was indorsed by the chamber, which pledged its aid to the cause, when Rev. Brahams presented the proposal. That work had already been started on the project was the announcement made by George Thompson, secretary of the board of education.

Postmaster Brayton Norton was commended for the showing made by Laguna which shows from his report made Thursday that receipts here have increased from $2,781.27 in 1921 to $14,552.78 in 1929. A. R. Burns resigned from the chamber directorate, no successor being named this meeting.

Life Guard Makes Report

Dana Lamb, head of the life guards, made a report, stating that telephone connections had been made between each beach and the central station, and that calls could now be answered from any point in little more than a minute. He stressed that people making calls should always give the nearest street if possible. Swimming instruction is given each day by the guards.

Receives Letter

The captain is proud of the record of being made a sergeant by Teddy Roosevelt while with the New York police department and proud of the letter he received from the chief executive when he was made a captain. The letter follows:

"The thing that gives me general satisfaction was in having been able to advance certain first-class men, and you stand among the highest. From the beginning I took a fancy to you. I watched you carefully and came to the conclusion that you belonged to the stamp that made the police force something to be proud of and that I would help you in any way I could. I am more than pleased to hear of your promotion; I congratulate you and all the honest citizens of New York."

GIRL SCOUTS PLAN STAY IN CAMP RO-KI-LI

ORANGE, July 15.—Girl Scout leaders met last night in the home of Mrs. Walter Gregg to discuss the question of Girl Scouts of this community going into camp at Camp RoKiLi when the Boy Scouts leave camp. According to present plans, the girls will go into camp July 28 and will remain for 10 days if there is a sufficient number who desire to go. Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, stated this morning that whether or not the girls went into camp was entirely a question to be decided by their parents and leaders as the health department had made no recommendations one way or the other.

NURSE NEVER SAW ITS EQUAL

"In my 34 years nursing I've never found another medicine like the Sargon treatment.

"When I went down town to get my first bottle of Sargon I was so crippled up with neuritis pains in my hips, legs and feet, and my feet were so swollen I had to hobble around in old slippers, and the conductor always had to help me on and off the car. I suffered dreadfully with indigestion, was constipated, bilious and rundown. Three bottles of Sargon removed all my pains and swellings and I walk now with ease. I never have indigestion any more, and Sargon Pills entirely relieved me of biliousness and constipation and didn't upset me in the least. Best of all their efforts have been lasting."—Mrs. Mina Pertzborn, 2044 Newton Ave., San Diego.

ASSOCIATION MAILS CHECKS FOR ORANGES

ORANGE, July 15.—Checks totaling $177,685 were sent to growers of the Consolidated Orange Growers' association yesterday, the sum being the second advance payment on the first valencia pool. According to F. H. Collins, manager of the plant, a total of $305,762 has been advanced to date for fruit picked in the pool.

It is expected, it was said at the plant, that returns from the pool will run to nearly a half million dollars, as about $150,000 remains to be paid. About 20 cars of the pool are still to be sold, it was said, and owing to this fact an accurate estimate is hard to make. The pool is one of the largest to have been paid by the association.

The second pool on which work is now being done, will close August 15. The first pool opened April 26 and closed June 26. A total of 215 cars was contained in the pool.

OLD MAN MERCURY SETS NEW ALTITUDE RECORD IN ORANGE

ORANGE, July 15.—Fluttering fans and crowded counters at the local soda fountains marked the arrival of the warmest day of the year here yesterday. The coolest place in the city was the city hall, where the two-foot thick walls with a heavy covering of vines, kept the temperature away below that of any other place known in the city.

The coolest beings in the city were the cranes which drip cooling water into the fountain from their upturned bills as even the goldfish sought the shelter of the lily pads in the pool below.

Ice-men were probably among those to notice the heat most keenly as they perspiringly responded to S. O. S. calls for more ice.

The warmth of the day was not mitigated by the fact that a barber shop advertised hot oil shampoos, another hot baths, and a drygoods firm had a special call on nice warm blankets.

Other warm weather suggestions were found at the local welfare store where a rack of warm overcoats and women's coats were recently arranged and heavy underwear could be had at a low figure.

The mercury registered 99 degrees at noon, that of Sunday having been 94 degrees.

ORANGE CHURCH IN HOLLYWOOD MEET

ORANGE, July 15.—A large delegation of members from the First Christian church were present at the convention of Christian churches at Hollywood yesterday. Programs presented were especially interesting as 26 missionaries gave brief outlines of their work in the mission fields.

The lack of interest in the work by those in home and the need for funds to carry on an expansion of the work was stressed by each speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bivens accompanied by Miss Sue Rankin and Mrs. Angeline Courtney, returned home from the convention Monday evening.

There is a total of 3,016,281 miles of highways in the United States of which 660,000 are surfaced.

LIBRARY WILL ISSUE BOOKS TO CHILDREN

ORANGE, July 15.—Children of this city, who enjoy reading the well-selected collection of books in the children's department of the public library are not to be deprived of the privilege of obtaining books, it was decided at a meeting of the library board last night. The question of discontinuing the library privilege to help prevent the spread of infantile paralysis has been informally discussed.

At last night's meeting it was decided that children may obtain books but that they must take them home to read, and that they must not congregate in the pleasant quarters in the basement of the building which has been assigned to them.

In former years children of the community have taken part in reading contests and staged clever plays during the vacation period.

Gallant Fox Faces Big Race Test Saturday

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

American defense of the America's cup has cost about seven millions . . . Sir Thomas has spent about three millions trying to cop the container . . . The tragedy of Al Lassman, who drowned in a Maine lake recently after two years of suffering, is one of sports' saddest . . . he played football at N. Y. P., declaring repeatedly he didn't like the game . . . wanted to be a fighter, and had a good deal of boxing skill . . . loved to battle . . . was seriously hurt in the Carnegie Tech-N. Y. U. battle at Pittsburg in '28 . . . was near death for months . . . rallied, but his mind seemed affected . . . fought with everything he had . . . his mother had worked hard to give him an education . . . his drowning, of course, was accidental . . . any other verdict is unacceptable because Al Lassman had a fighting heart.

Things You Never Know

Averages in sports answer a great number of questions. So do past performances. But there are thousands of things you never will find out—and these are ahe basis and starting point of those arguments they call the sports department about in the wee hours of the morning.

There is quite a debate raging here and there in America now about the world's heavyweight championship. Many of the people who saw the Sharkey-Schmeling thing in Yankee stadium stoutly declare the German would have come on to win. On the other side are those who think Max was just about through when he sat on the floor holding his groin. There is just as much chance of settling that one as there is of conclusively demonstrating that Jack Dempsey would have knocked out Jack Johnson, taking them both at their best.

The Horse Quarrel

There are still people around the race tracks who deem whichone a better horse than Gallant Fox, though Fox beat the one in their only meeting as 3-year-olds. Shortly after their race, Whichone developed a quarter crack in training. The followers of the whitney horse say he was off his iats the day the Fox showed him many heels.

There are legions of close followers of sports to whom one decision is not conclusive. They are able to summon excuses. Some of this band clung to the banner of Dempsey after Tunney laced the Mauler at Philly. And they are still clinging to the Dempsey cause, with a pretty sound claim to the effect that Gene was knocked out in Chicago. For that matter, the woods are still full of determined souls who will tell you right now that John L. Sullivan was a better man than Jim Corbett.

The Ball—the Pitchers

There is the debate about pitchers and the lively ball. It goes on and on and there never will be an answer. Pittsburg has thousands of folks who are positive Hans Wagner would have batted .750 right through the season with the bumptious baseball now in use. Just as many thousands of others say there is no more good pitching, and that Matty as he was in the old days, even though the sphere they toss up there now may be slightly more animated.

Now and then some little body of willful men issue the proclamation that Notre Dame wouldn't have gone through the season undefeated last year if the Dockne horsemen had been tossed in there against the Pitt Panther.

Another strong-minded sector comes up triumphantly clutching the crushing defeat Southern California administered to the mole-skin mighties from Pittsburg and pointing to Notre Dame's victory over the team that gave Pitt such a thorough conquering. But the little body of willful men merely replies, "Bah! Comparative scores!"

However, the fact that Bobby Jones is a golf player seems to go unquestioned. Nobody arises to assert that Jones is just lucky or that there are glaring weaknesses in his play. There would be too many to howl him down.

FLEET COLT TO ENTER ALL-AGE TURF CLASSIC

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

CHICAGO, July 15.—They say Gallant Fox, the greatest stake runner in a decade of three-year-old champions, either will be recognized as another Man O' War by Saturday night or merely as another race horse that went to the races once too often.

He has been a great winner. On Saturday, in the Arlington cup here, they say defeat really will ask him the question for the first time and that his reply must be gallant, indeed, if defeat is to be denied its victim.

For the Arlington cup, it seems, is not to be a "private" horse race as the Belmont, the Withers and the Arlington Classic turned out to be. In each of these, the field stayed home at the last minute and left Gallant Fox nothing to do but run the distance and collect the purse.

Great Horses Are Eentered

The Arlington cup, on the contrary, has mustered an entry among the finest handicap horses in training—Blue Larkspur, Petee-Wrack, Reveille Boy, Windy City, Jock, Brown Wisdom, Paul Bunyan, Victorian and Sun Beau, among others—and so "The Fox" will have more than one or two horses to beat for the first time since he began parlaying his winnings through six straight stake races.

Therefore, when this race is over, the eternal question of Gallant Fox's greatness will be settled so definitely that never again will it arise.

If he wins, he must be accorded a niche on the pedestal of turf immortals.

If he loses, he will remain a good horse, possibly a great horse, but never a immortal one. This kind went down to posterity because they needed no excuse at any time, least of all in a weight-for-age handicap. They were great horses horses because they could beat anybody and did.

Horse Players Dubious

The horse players around here still are a little dubious about "The Fox" and they insist that he yet has to prove whether he can and will do this. He won the Arlington Classic by a neck from Gallant Knight and the boys hereabouts aren't sure whether Sande wasn't thinking about another race when he said that "The Fox" was only spoofing all the time. They seem to think that he ran about as fast as his shanks could carry him.

If this is true, they will have to carry him faster in his first weight-for-age race Saturday or he will finish somewhere down the track to the older and stronger handicap horses. Blue Larkspur, for instance, was quite a champion in his own right a couple of years ago and, judged from his recent races, is still nobody's chump out there. He will have to give "The Fox" plenty of pounds on the scales and so will all the other good handicap horses. But they can do this and get away with it, provided they aren't in there with one of those three-year-olds of the ages.

This about covers the situation: If Gallant Fox is as great as many seem to think, he probably will win. If he isn't, it is not improbable that he will lose.

Decision In Dado-Laredo Bout Probed

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—The Speedy Dado-Chato Laredo boxing bout in Hollywood last Friday was under investigation at a meeting of the state athletic commission here today.

It was understood the inquiry dwelt on the action of Referee Bert Wallis, San Francisco, who aroused a storm of protest when he awarded the decision to Laredo.

Defending Wallis, Boxing Inspector Frank Moran was reported to have said he received a letter from Charles Traung, San Francisco commissioner, asking Wallis be given work.

"I gave Moran no such letter," Traung declared on arriving here. "Wallis is the last man I would send down here. He is only a preliminary referee and had no business in an important main event. Also, it would be presmuptious for me to send a man into the territory of Commissioner James Woods when competent referees already are here."

JOHNNY CRESS, BELL LEAD S. A. TENNIS MEET

Johnny Cress, former city champion, and Randolph Bell, who mixes his court game with baseball and other sports, are tied for first place in the Santa Ana summer playground round-robin tennis tournament which has entered its fourth week on the high school cements.

Neither has been defeated and when paired by Merle Ewell, tournament director, promise to offer the season's outstanding singles clash.

Four competitors remain unbeaten in Class B action. They are Gordon Smith, winner of six straight matches, and Faris Edgar, Dr. Kenneth Coulson and Ray Foster.

Three women still have a perfect record—May Maag, Barbara Rurup and Mrs. Ward.

Helen To Pass Up Minor Tourneys

NEW YORK, July 15.—Mrs. Helen Wills Coody, world's ranking women's tennis player, plans to leave New York tomorrow for her home in California and will not return until the national championships at Forest Hills, August 18.

Mrs. Moody, four-time Wimbledon champion, returned on the Majestic yesterday and made plans to embark for California immediately instead of playing in the Seabright, Easthampton and Rye tournaments as has been her custom.

'BIG SHOT' GAMBLERS BETTING ON SINGER TO LIFT MANDELL'S CROWN IN TITLE GO THURSDAY

NEW YORK, July 15.—Although reports that Thursday's 15-round world lightweight championship is "in the bag" for Al Singer have made the New York challenger an 8-5 betting favorite, boxing circles are almost unanimous in picking Champion Sammy Mandell to retain his title.

Singer's record shows little to qualify him as a title contender and only the influence of the powerful clique financially interested in his career enabled him to get the Mandell bout without first proving his right by meeting the two leading contenders, Jack (Kid) Berg and Tony Canzoneri.

Investigation showed no evidence of dishonesty in connection with the bout and sport writers believe the "wise money" favors Singer solely because of the glamblers' conviction that the clique controlling the New Yorker takes no chances in matching their protege.

Singer has been carefully "built up" by meeting second rate opponents and has won numerous queer appearing victories.

Mandell has withstood the heaviest punches of Jimmy McLarnin, acknowledged peer of present day punchers, for 15 rounds and is a master boxer. He is reputed to be slipping, but if he is one-half as good as he was when he fought McLarnin he should give the inexperienced Singer a bad beating.

AMERICAN TENNIS TEAM IN PRACTICE

PARIS, July 15.—Inter-zone Davis cup competition between the United States and Italy today held interest chiefly as a test of the youthful American team's chances of lifting the prized international trophy now held by France.

Tennis critics believed the American team was certain to defeat Italy and advance to the challenge round, but were doubtful about the Yankee's ability to end France's three-year reign as Davis cup champions.

Baer, Kennedy In L. A. Bout Tonight

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Max Baer, Oakland heavyweight idol whose slugging ability has hoisted him to coastwide prominence as a possible championship contender, will meet Les Kennedy, clever Long Beach fighter here tonight in the main event at the Olympic auditorium.

The Oakland scrapper, due largely to his ability to hit, will take the ring a 2 to 1 favorite over Kennedy. Baer tapered off his training Saturday at Soper's famous ranch, arriving at the scene of tonight's battle in perfect condition.

GEORGE MALCEWICZ MATCHED

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Don Goerge, former amateur wrestling king, was signed today for a match with Joe Malcewicz, Utica "mat panther," at the Olympic July 23. George won his first four matches here with a flying head scissors, and has yet to lose a professional bout. Malcewicz recently fell victim to the crafty young wrestler, Everette Marshall, but has won several matches since.

NEW COAST LEAGUE SEASON UNDER WAY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—The second half of the Pacific Coast league's baseball season opens today.

Los Angeles, on past performances, seems the likely contender for leadership honors, but all teams start at scratch with past standings wiped out.

The Angels meet Oakland for the first series of the new half. Hollywood opposes Portland at Hollywood, San Francisco plays a series of night games with the Senators at Sacramento, and Seattle meets the Missions here.

Bobby Jones' father, of the law firm of Jones, Evins, Power and Jones, of Atlanta, Ga., calls him Rob. But that name could be improved upon, I think, by the addition of two more letters. Robot might be the better name. And it is not a name that Janes would dislike, as he takes no displeasure in being called the mechanical man of the fairways.

In writing of Jones, there is little new to say. Perfection is just that, and it is hard to ballyhoo. Jones' deeds have spoken actual facts. There is little left to the imagination.

Here is something about Jones, however, that I think is interesting. Here is a man who honestly tries to be an amateur.

During the past winter he did not have a golf club in his hands. Every morning at 9 he would enter the offices of the law firm on the thirteenth floor of the Trust company building in Atlanta, and every evening at 5 or thereabouts he would emerge, with a day of legal matters under his belt, or pardon us, under his hat.

He could leave law, enter the game as a professional and roll up what a prizefighter's manager would call "plenty of bucks" within a few years' time. He is 29 now—by the time he was 35 he could be independently wealthy, and could play his beloved golf the live-long day. But he has chosen differently. The world's greatest golfer is a lawyer, perhaps not as yet the greatest lawyer even in Atlanta, but a young lawyer, "trying to get along."

He is the Robot of the fairways, but he is also a young man with a great big heart. He is distant and cool toward the crowds in a golf tournament, but this must not be taken as an indication that there is anything "high-hatted" about him. With his friends and the people he knows and likes he is convival and humorous, with all the hospitality of the traditional southern gentleman.

In his impetuous younger days, Bobby Jones often broke a stick when his art went awry. He doesn't break a great many sticks now; philosophy has somewhat mellowed his temper.

But he still burns up when a shot goes wrong, and his shots still do go wrong, now and then. That is, after all, one of the things about Bobby Jones that endears him to the world. He still can get mad when he's off his game. He's still one of us.

Honolulu Watches For Racing Yachts

HONOLULU, T. H., July 15.—Starting tonight a night long watch will be kept at the finish line off of Diamond Head for the winner in the trans-Pacific yacht race.

The closest vessel that has been reported, The Contender, was last heard of Sunday night approximately 800 miles away. It was believed possible, however, that another boat may have passed The Contender in the meanwhile.

Daley Still Leads Stars; Merrill Next

Although Outfielder Howard ("Rosy") Merrill gained more than 30 points in three weeks, Leavitt Daley is leading the Santa Ana Stars in batting by a wide margin, season averages compiled by The Register showed today.

Daley's average is .443, a few points less than his last mark but still more than 50 points ahead of his closest pursuit.

Merrill's great batting spree carried him into second place without an argument. His mark is .386.

"Memphis" Hill sweetened his average a little and took third place when Bill Cole slumped down to .297. Wayne Nelson gained 10 points and is a close fifth.

Season fielding averages disclosed that Outfielder Randolph Bell has yet to make an error this season. First Sacker Cole and Catcher "Eeny" Wilcox also have fine records. The statistics:

'DARK HORSES' JOLT PRINTERS AND BUILDERS

There is nothing like a new start in life for jaded and depressed baseball teams.

If you don't think so, just ask the Dennis Printers and the Orange County Builders' exchange, one-two teams of the first half of the Santa Ana City Night league.

Favored in most quarters to repeat their initial lap successes in the second round, the Printers and the Builders were unexpectedly defeated by a pair of "dark horse" clubs as the new season opened in the Bowl last night.

The Printers were buried by the Pacific Telephone company, 14 to 8.

The Builders took one on the chin from Peek's market, 7 to 4.

Probably the Printers' humiliation was the biggest upset of the entire season for Carlyle Dennis' cohorts won eight of their nine games during the first half and at no time was Bill Humphrey, their star gunner, attacked with such enthusiasm as by the Pole-Climbers who combed his "sinker" for 13 base knocks, many of the lausty extra base knocks; ran the paths with abandon and profited mightily by ragged Printers fielding.

"Mack" Castro was hit hard at times himself, particularly by Everett Lutz, Harold English and Elliott, but managed to keep the rest of the order in pretty good behavior.

A five-run rally in the second, on the heels of a two-run attack in the first put the Phonemen well ahead. They were never seriously threatened thereafter.

Stump led the Pole-Climbers with three blows. Seigfred, Schacht and Curtis all had two and every other player except Curtis bagged at least one.

"Red" Angell made his first appearance in a Peek monkey-suit in the afterpiece and pitched courageously, especially in the pinches. His colleagues also gave him sparkling support, Shortstop Don Smith starting a timely double killing during a Builder rally that threatened to assume dangerous proportions.

Ray Griset went the route for the Builders. He was not hit hard but all of the Peek blasts were opportune ones and figured in the run-making.

ONE-TWO CLUBS OF LEAGUE VIE FOR TOP PLACE

Bitter rivals ever since they have been at this strange Southern California phenomena, Santa Ana and Long Beach fight for first place in the National Night Baseball league in the Bowl here tonight.

This will be the final visit the second-place Acorn will make to the Sixth and Olive street park this summer.

Incidentally it will mark the close of the third-quarter of the long pennant race.

If the Stars win from Long Beach, they will enjoy a two-game lead as the whole mess of contenders begins the stretch run for the second half championship.

If they lose, Santa Ana and Long Beach will be tied for first place and Whittier, Anaheim and Garden Grove, dreaded rivals of the locals, all will close in.

Herb Salveson, Santa Ana manager, announced definitely today he would pitch Joe Cornelius against the invaders. He hopes his henchmen will be table to get a toehold on the Acorns as soon as possible for in the event of a safe lead he intends to rush long Ray Price to the knoll and give Cornelius as much rest as possible for the Alive combat Friday night. The Packers have always been dynamite for the Stars and Salveson will "shoot the works" at them.

Bill Hunter also has been assigned to start at third base, Salveson evidently planning to use Scott and Hunter at the sack alternately.

Otherwise the usual lineup will be in force.

Wilcox will do the catching as usual with Cole at first base, Daley second and Hill shortstop. Bell, Nelson and Merrill will do the fly-chasing.

Although Long Beach will be a bit crippled for the classic here, no sympathy need be wasted on Joe Bell's gang.

The Acorns have signed Bobby Dalton to take Lloyd Lichtenwalter's place on the pitching staff and the slim, trim little right hander will get the assignment tonight, it is understood.

Dalton used a change of pace, and the Stars will have to watch for his slow one. Wildness has been Dalton's chief fault in other years and it may get him in trouble here because he hasn't done much pitching this season.

defense of their 1929 title through the first half of the split season but they are going places now. They come to the Bowl with five straight victories, won at the expense of some of the leading teams in the league. One of their two defeats was to Whittier and by the same score, 4-3, by which the Quakers "took" Santa Ana last week.

Odie Maness, catcher, and Rod Ballard, centerfielder, are the Acorns' chief offensive dangers. Maness is one of the best batsmen in night baseball, a threat any time he swings his mase. He has averaged a home run a game since the start of the new half. Against Olive last Friday he hit a homer, a double and a single, driving in or scoring all the runs his team made against the Packers.

Landreth at first base, Settles, Martison or Davis at second, Elliott at short and Kohler at third compose the Acorn infield. Bell, Ballard and Mann or Wilson will see outfield service.

Second half decords of the two teams follow:

GIVES LESSON ON CHARACTER TO LISTENERS

The first of a series of lessons on characters of the Old and New Testaments was given before the Men's Community Bible class at the Fox West Coast theater Sunday morning by the Rev. W. S. Buchanan, class teacher, in which Jacob was the subject of the lesson.

"Jacob was the grandson of Abraham and was a very shrewd fellow," the teacher stated. "The Jewish people take one of their outstanding characteristics from Jacob, who might be said to be the father of that race." The teacher went on to outline the story of Jacob and Esau, his elder twin brother, whom he persuaded to sell his birthright for a mess of pottage, and secured the blessing of his father, Isaac, through a deception.

"God will not step in where you can use your own will and make your own decision," he said in commenting on the story. "He made man a free moral agent. If you don't want to accept God's plan, that is your own business. If you want to deny Him and go to hell, that's your business. If you want to be a liar, that's your business. But a man who lies always gets caught. Jacob had to leave home because he lied. On the desert he repented of his sin, had a vision, made a covenant with God and received a blessing.

"God wants you to be real men—wants you to repent of your sins and follow His truth."

The musical program yesterday morning, which was unusaully fine, was presented by students of the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music. Lorraine Turk, 11-year-old girl, played two violin selections, "Adoration" and "Perpetual Motion," which were remarkable from a violinist of her age. She was accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. A. Turk.

Other numbers were "The Old Refrain" and "At the Brook," violin solos by Mary Mateer. She was accompanied by her sister, Elizabeth Mateer.

W. B. Martin, class president, stated that the class stood foursquare for law enforcement and the eighteenth amendment and that they were glad to hear worth while discussions of these subjects from real friends of these important principles. He announced that the annual election of officers would be held at the regular business meeting of the class tomorrow night at the office of the First Christian church, corner of Sixth street and Broadway.

APPLICATIONS OF BROTHERLY LOVE OUTLINED

The Rev. William Schmoock, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, preached yesterday on the subject, "Two Applications of the Law of Brotherly Love." He said in part:

"The Bible teaches that salvation is by faith. God has prepared it. But the same Bible also insists on love. Love is a manifestation of gratitude on our part for the many good things that God has done for us. In love, the faith dwelling in us finds a congenial sphere of activity.

"Love reveals itself in showing mercy, that is, love in its relaton to the sufferng and dstressed. We think first of those who suffer from some physical wants, from lack of employment, food, clothing, shelter, who are sick and need attention. Then there is the greater mental suffering due to slanderous accusations, when suspicion falls on a man and gossip carries the derogatory remarks to others. Furthermore there is the greatest of suffering caused by the knowledge of, and remorse over, our sins.

"In all such cases we should be merciful, should be ready to help and to forgive, thus following after our heavenly Father who has shown us the greatest of mercy and is always ready to forgive us our trespasses.

"But we should also think of our own faults before we try to correct the faults of others. Jesus warns us against the haughty attitude which criticises the faults of others without seeing one's own. We must first cast the beam out of our own eye before we try to cast the mote out of our brother's eye. As long as we are blind to our own faults we cannot correct the faults of others. We cannot teach others more than we know and we cannot expect greater purity of them than we practice ourselves. Let us not keep the sins of others constantly before our eyes and dismiss our own from our thoughts, but rather let us be merciful even as our Father which is in heaven is merciful and thus let us show our grattitude to God for His great love toward us."

TUSTIN PHONE SHIFT WILL BE MADE AUGUST 1

In accordance with the ruling of the state railroad commission, returned several months ago, work is progressing at the exchange of the Southern California Telephone company preparatory to cut the Tustin district phone service into the Santa Ana district on August 1, according to Earl Morrow district manager for the telephone company.

The ruling of the commission was handed down after a hearing in Santa Ana, upon the petition of phone subscribers in the Tustin district, who desired to be included in the Santa Ana district. Although the ruling will become effective the first of the month with the Tustin district phone users taking the Santa Ana rates, which mean a slight raise in monthly charges but the discontinuance of toll charges between Tustin and Santa Ana, the Tustin exchange will not be discontinued until the first of October.

On that date the Tustin office will be abandoned and all calls will be routed through the Santa Ana exchange. Crews are at work making preparations for the enlarged service through the Santa Ana switchboards that will result with the abandonment of the Tustin exchange.

Col. M. B. Wellington represented the Tustin phone subscribers at the hearing and was active in securing the change.

in a cigarette it's Taste

THROUGH COMPETENCE, the individual rises to positions of responsibility and respect. Through dependability of taste, a cigarette attains ever greater popularity.

INCREASING MILLIONS of Chesterfields are lighted each day because smokers find that in this cigarette good taste is unfailing.

CHESTERFIELDS ARE RICH IN AROMA, flavor and fragrance, which come from the right selection of choice tobaccos, blended and cross-blended to a rare cigarette goodness. They offer the utmost in smoking enjoyment . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

CORY OUTLINES FERTILIZATION IN RADIO TALK

In a talk last night over KREG Acting Farm Advisor W. M. Cory outlined fertilizer problems. He pointed out that application of scientific methods to soil problems involves difficulties not met in industrial processes. Plants and soils exist in extraordinary variety and are subject to variable and uncontrolled influence of climate, he said.

Plants need a large number of chemical elements and the lack of any one may limit growth. A solution of certain mineral elements necessary to plant growth depends primarily on production of acids in the soil, which in turn are dependent on activities of micro-organisms in root cells. Since activities of micro-organisms are apparently dependent upon the presence of organic matter in the soil it is evident that organic matter is an important agent in making immediately available potassium, calcium and magnesium.

The second means by which acids are formed in the soil is the excretion of carbonic acids by roots. Emphasis is placed on the importance of maintaining conditions in the soil favorable to root growth. Irrigation and cultivation are crelated to mineral nutrition. Toxic substances, organic or inorganic, should be absent.

The degree of solubility of potassium is an important factor, Cory said. Experiments show that continuous cropping reduces the available supply of potassium but it does not necessarily follow that crops always will make unsatisfactory growth when the more soluble types of potassium are exhausted. Experiments indicate that it is possible to increase the percentage of potassium present in a plant by increasing the amount available in the soil through fertilizer additions. Increased potassium in a crop beyond a certain percentage would be superfluous and would lead to no increase in growth.

Total amounts of phosphorus in ordinary soil are smaller than the amounts of potassium but analogous considerations in regard to solubility apply.

Some form of fertilization is required sooner or later for most crops, especially to maintain presence of nitrogen, which is easily lost either by leaching or in gaseous form. Nitrogen fertilization is accomplished by the growth of legumes or addition of commercial forms of nitrogen.

Animal manure nearly always produces highly favorable results.

Very infrequently can a soil analysis indicate the productivity of a soil, as the important thing is the matter of how rapidly plant nutriments go into solution. Bacterial activity must be promoted and maintained through addition of organic matter.

*"There is only one remedy for fat, and that is eat the right food... There are at least one hundred so-called obesity cures. None of these is permanent. We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. Parking Limits Are To Apply On Saturday Afternoons

Saturday afternoon is not a public holiday and persons who violate the parking laws of the city are not immune from arrest, City Attorney C. D. Swanner advised the city council last night.

The opinion was given on a quary by the council as to whether cars could be tagged on Saturday afternoon when they are left in one street stall longer than the time prescribed by ordinance of the city.

It developed that officers of the city, under belief that the week end afternoon is a holiday, had refrained from tagging. It was asserted that by reason of this fact parking stalls in the close in business district are occupied all afternoon, to the disadvantage of residents of the country district who come into the city to do their trading.

Swanner read the state law on the point under discussion and pointed out that the Saturday afternoon holiday applies only to offices of city, county and state governments.

"The state law does not make Saturday afternoon a public holiday and bans and other business concerns whose transactions involve legal matters could operate if they desired," the city attorney said.

According to discussions at the council meeting City Recorder J. F. Talbott has taken the position that violators of the parking regulations cannot be prosecuted when the violation occurs on the week end day afternoon.

Swanner was requested by the council to discuss the subject with the city recorder and present his interpretation of the Saturday afternoon closing law.

It soon will be legal for distributors of hand bill advertising to distribute such literature by placing the bills in the hands of some one representing the occupant of a dwelling, for first reading was given an ordinance making a change that will permit this service. The present ordinance denies the distribution of hand bills at all.

That the Harold Osborne company contemplates erection of an orange packing house on West Fifth street adjoining the Pacific Electric tracks was revealed by application of the company for permission to institute the enterprise. Changing of the property into another zone will be one of the stops necessary to granting the permit and the council directed posting of notices on the property that a hearing would be held next Monday evening to receive protests of tthose who may object to the locating of the packing house there.

The city building inspector was directed to deny permits for building construction to contractors who cannot exhibit a state license for contractors. Co-operation with state authorities in enforcement of the contractors' license law is the purpose of the instruction. Request for such co-operation was made by the Orange County Builders exchange. It was pointed out in discussions that the city clerk cannot refuse to grant a city license to a contractor who has not complied with the state law, but that the building inspector could refuse to issue a permit to such a person.

Many licensed real estate brokers who have been maintaining down town offices are transferring their headquarters to their residences, it was announced by City Clerk Ed Vegely.

Application of Vincent Ballister for permission to institute at 1802 West Fourth street a theater for Mexicans was referred to the fire chief. The applicant said that he would spend considerable money in converting a barn at that location into a good playhouse and that he would provide a program featuring Mexican vaudeville.

The council limited the Union Oil company to two 30-foot driveway entrances each on Broadway and Seventeenth street, to the station it is to build on the northwest corner of the two streets. The company requested wider entrances.

The council accepted the invitation of the council at San Bernardino to attend there on July 28, at 8 p. m., a Boulder dam jubilee meeting that will be addressed by Congressman Phil D. Swing.

Permission was given for the hanging of an electric sign at 121 E. Fifth street.

Deeds were accepted for an alley to run from French to Spurgeon, between Second and Third streets.

Permission was given the First Christian church to construct a building on the northeast corner of Sixth and Birch streets.

An appropriation of $200 was made to the camp mess fund of Co. L. local militia company.

Property at 1901 South Main street was ordered posted for hearing of protests against proposal of E. E. Nichols to established a public garage at that number.

The Gilmore Oil company was given permission to put in wide entrances to its oil station at the corner of Santa Ana boulevard and Chapman street.

A resolution was adopted ordering work to proceed on the widening and improvement of East First street.

DR. JOHNSTON DEFENDANT IN $107.000 SUIT

Dr. H. A. Johnston, of the Johnston-Wickett clinic at Anaheim, was made defendant in a damage action asking a total of $107,000 that was filed today in superior court. The plaintiffs are George W. Beck and Walter Beck, father and son, respectively.

It is alleged that on Jan. 22, 1925, Walter Beck fell, breaking his right arm at the wrist, and that it was treated and healed, but that the bone union was not in alignment and caused a certain degree of deformity of the arm and wrist. In connection with this the plaintiffs consulted Dr. Johnston on June 24, 1925, and it is set forth in the complaint that he advised a correction could be obtained by rebreaking and resetting the arm. He was employed for this purpose and the operation was performed the complaint said.

The plaintiffs charge that the surgeon did not use diligent care, skill and attention and ordinary prudent judgment in determining the advisability of the said operation, and that he treated the patient for approximately one year, but failed to advise the plaintiffs concerning caution with the arm and the use of certain foods. It is claimed that they asked the defendant if the arm was making satisfactory progress and were advised that it was, whereas the injured member was then deteriorating and shriveling up and bone absorption was progressing, according to the complaint.

The complaint also states that following another X-ray made of the arm on June 30, 1926, the surgeon advised the arm was in a bad condition, abandoned the case and refused to give further advice.

Damages are asked in the amount of $7000 for the father and $100,000 for the son. The father's claim is based on his asserted expenditures of $3000 for medical attention and advice and $400 for the lose of his son's labor on the farm. Attorneys for the plaintiffs are N. D. Meyer, of Santa Ana, and R. M. Reed, city attorney of La Habra.

OVER 1000 AT WAR VETERANS PICNIC SUNDAY

Twelve hundred men, women and children were present at the picnic of the Citrus Belt United Spanish War Veterans' club held at Irvine park Sunday, according to estimates by local members of the club.

Veterans and their families were present from Los Angeles, Santa Monica, San Pedro, Long Beach, Van Nuys, Glendale, Inglewood, Sawtelle, Compton, Hollywood, San Diego, Coronado, Pasadena, Huntington Park, Pomona, Redlands, Riverside, San Bernardino, Corona, Monrovia, Fullerton and Santa Ana, in addition to numerous visitors from various parts of the United States.

Following "mess" at noon, the club held a business session at 1:30 p. m., at which R. Stevens, of Camp McKinley 23, Long Beach, was chosen president for the coming year. A. V. Hughes, Schreiber capm 51, Pomona, was elected vice president, and C. A. West, Long Beach camp 94, was re-elected secretary.

Martial music by drum and fife corps of Roosevelt No. 9, Los Angeles; McKinley 23, Long Beach; Glendale 67 and Santa Ana Calumpit 26 enlivened the picnic party during the forenoon and at 2:30 o'clock the musical organizations participated in a procession, which paraded around the park.

Games suitable to the warm weather—with the possible exception of a ladies' tug of war which a combined team from Fullerton and Long Beach won from Santa Ana—furnished amusement during the afternoon. Many bridge foursomes were in evidence, while here and there were groups of veterans recounting the campaigns in Cuba, the Philippines and in China 30 or more years ago.

Another picnic of the club will be held in Oceanside in August.

Girl Injured In Fall From Cliff

Dorothy Cook, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook, of Anaheim, received cuts and bruises about the head when she fell off a cliff at Corona del Mar, Saturday night.

She was taker to the Newport Beach hospital, where she was given first aid treatment and then removed to her home.

Miss Cook, with several friends, was walking along the top of the palisades, when she slipped and fell to the rocks below, a distance of 20 feet or more, it was reported.

APPLICATION BLANKS HERE FOR VETERANS

Adjutant Ed R. Kolbe, of the Santa Ana post of the American legion, has just received a limited supply of application blanks for veterans' disability claims as allowed under the amendment that was adopted by Congress this month. The blanks were forwarded to Kolbe by Congressman Phil Swing.

The amendment provides that "any honorably discharged ex-service man who entered the service prior to Nov. 11, 1918, and served 90 days or more during the World War, and who is or may be hereafter suffering a 25 per cent or more permanent disability, not the result of his own willful misconduct, which was not acquired in the service during the World War, or for which compensation shall not be payable, shall be entitled to receive a disability allowance."

The amounts of the allowance are as follows: Twenty-five per cent permanent disability, $12 per month; 50 per cent permanent disability, $18 per month; 75 per cent permanent disability, $24 per month; total permanent disability, $40 per month.

There is a provision in the amendment stating that no disability allowance shall be payable to any person not entitled to exemption from the payment of a federal income tax for the year preceding the filing of an application for disability allowance.

A penalty of $5000 fine or two years imprisonment, or both, is provided for anyone making a false statement of a material fact in connection with the provisions of the act.

Additional supplies of the blanks are expected soon, Kolbe stated.

Plan Four Square Gospel Meetings

Two meetings are scheduled to take place at the Four Square Gospel church this week. On Tuesday night at 7:30 p. m. a Bible study group will discuss the meaning of the numbers in the Bible. Interested persons are asked to bring notebooks and pencils. At the same hour on Friday night, the Crusaders will give an illustrated sermon on "The Lord's Prayer." About 20 young people of the church will take part in this illustrated sermon.

Picnic Is Staged By Census Group At Irvine Park

More than 50 census enumerators, their families and friends, participated in a basket picnic Saturday at Irvine park. Stanley Goode, census supervisor, read a communication received from W. M. Stueart, director of the national bureau of census at Washington, in which the county group was congratulated on its efforts during the recent tabulation. A complimentary greeting from Congressman Phil D. Swing also was made public.

The committee in charge of Saturday's outing were Frank Salverson, Fullerton; Mrs. Laura Martin and Mrs. Belle J. Spangler, both of Santa Ana. There was dancing in the evening with music furnished by an Anaheim orchestra.

PLAN NINTH GRADE AT LAGUNA BEACH

That a ninth grade will be established at Laguna Beach immediately and that a high school will start either in 1931 or soon as possible, was the decision of a meeting of the school district. A. B. Marshall, Roy Peacock, the Rev. Raymond I. Brahams, J. E. Bishop and G. B. Dunham were appointed a committee to look into the matter of a high school.

Whether to secure land at both ends of town for grammar schools was not decided upon, as it was not decided upon, as it was felt that matter rested upon plans for the high school. It has not been decided whether the present grammar school will be converted into a high school, or whether an entire new campus will be purchased. In case the high school will take over the present school grounds, sites will be secured at each end of town for grammar schools.

Local Delegates Among 6000 Registered at Baptist Conclave

Returning last night from the National Baptist Young People's convention held in San Francisco the past week, delegates from the local church were today rejoicing in the success of the conclave which was declared as being one of the most valuable meetings of its kind ever held. R. Fred Chambers, young people's director, returned Sunday by airplane, and is confident that the younger members of the religious organization benefitted greatly from the theme of the conclave, which was the expression of the genuine fundamentals of life. That they not only enjoyed the talks given each day, but in return, were an inspiration to the older group present because of their spirit and initiative in taking charge of the week's events, was the belief of the local director. J. Miton Johnson, of Los Angeles, has been elected to head the group for the coming year.

About 6000 were registered at the conclave, and it was evident, according to Mr. Chambers, that Dr. Knops, of U.S.C., was the most popular speaker with this large group. Further proof of this statement comes with the fact that although his addresses were given each morning at the early hour of 8:15, a large crowd was always in attendance. The theme for all of his addresses was centered around the "Interpretation of the Bible in Terms of Modern Day Problems." Phases of the topic were "The Bible and the Use of Money," "The Bible and a Successful Marriage." Dr. J. W. Johnson, of the Berkeley Baptist Divinity school was also in great favor with the group, and discussed "The Trinity in the Drama of the Universe."

Delegates who returned by automobile last night were Miss Laura Joiner, Seldon Martin and Kenneth Beard. Miss Mae Berry and Miss Lula Hodge are expected to return today. In order that those who did not attend the conclave may enjoy the valuable messages which the delegates feels are so important, they are to have charge of the church program Sunday evening, and will depict the interesting happenings in their topic, "Echos of the Convention."

Santa Ana O. E. S. Has Last Meeting in Old Temple

Several different elements entered into making last night's session of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S., a memorable one. In the first place, members were delighted to welcome the return of their worthy patron, Charles Pritchard, who returned to his home, 706 South Birch street, only a few days ago after a lengthy period of convalescence at Loma Linda. His improved health was very gratifying to his friends, who extended him a royal welcome.

Then it was the last meeting that the chapter will hold in the old temple, so there was a decided sentiment of farewell to the scene of so many happy gatherings, mingled with the rejoicing over the worthy patron's return. Welcome was also extended the worthy matron, Mrs. Elon Roehm, who had been sojourning in Forest Home since the previous meeting.

Two new members were greeted, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Nears, who came to Santa Ana chapter on demits from their home chapter. The remainder of the evening was given over to bridge, with ten tables employed in playing. Attractive prizes were awarded Miss Elizabeth Roehm and Miss Mary Taylor, scoring high and low among the feminine players, and to Larry Golden and Elon Roehm, high and low among the men.

Among future plans brought up for discussion, in addition to the Masonic building program, was the meeting place of the chapter. Its next session will be held Tuesday night, August 26, in I. O. O. F. hall, the chapter home, until the completion of the new Masonic temple.

On Friday night, July 18, members and their families will share the hospitality of the W. R. Sylvester home in El Modena, where a covered-dish dinner will be enjoyed as a preliminary to an evening of bridge.

Walnut Park Wedding Was of Local Interest

Santa Anans who have formed delightful friendships with Miss Maryalice Townsend, of Anaheim, many of which were gained through experiences with her as a capable nurse, were interested today in learning of her marriage Saturday evening to Samuel Goodman, of Los Angeles.

Unusually impressive were the nuptial rites, which were solemnized by the Rev. Russel Clay, of the Calvary Baptist church, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alford, 3013 Olive street, Walnut Park. The bride was lovely in her gown of white georgette, and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, white sweet-peas, and lilies of the valley. Miss Aileen Townsend, in an attractive green frock, and carrying a bouquet of pink sweet peas and yellow roses, was the bridesmaid. Attending the bridegroom as best man was his brother Ray Goodman.

Mrs. Goodman is well known throughout Orange county, as she has taken care of numerous cases during her nursing career here. She received her training at the Orange County hospital, and also at the Pacific hospital in Los Angeles.

The happy couple will be at home to their many friends at 3006 1-2 Olive street, in Walnut Park.

Charming Home Wedding Unites Well-known Young People

There is one memorable occasion in a girl's life when she has the opportunity of choosing between a frock of filmy white, or one in the color which is especially becoming to her type of beauty. Choosing the latter, Miss Alice Campbell, vivacious titian-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Campbell, was a lovely bride of last evening, when, dressed in an orchid frock fashioned on lines of the prevailing mode, she was united in marriage to James Waite. At an improvised altar banked with breath of heaven, overhung by a snowy wedding bell, the couple plighted their troth in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. S. M. Eidsath, pastor of the Mennonite Brethren Christ Church of Orange, officiated.

The bride's attire was especially attractive, and was unique in the fact that she carried no bouquet, but wore a shoulder corsage of yellow roses and tiny orchid blooms. Her sister, Miss Helen Campbell, further expressed the motif of the evening in her bridesmaid's frock of yellow georgette. She carried an arm bouquet of orchid and yellow blooms. Completing the bridal party were Mr. Waite and his best man, Wade Waite, his brother. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Miss Neva Ward, of Orange.

Following the quiet ceremony, the home, prettily decorated in a variety of summer blooms, was the setting for a dinner and reception for the happy couple. The delectable menu was served on trays, and included the six-tiered cake which the new Mrs. Waite had the privilege of cutting.

Mr ,and Mrs. Waite left this morning for a honeymoon trip to Catalina, and later will be at home to their many friends in a cosy home in Orange.

The former Miss Campbell has been employed as secretary to A. A. Appling, an attorney, for the past seven years, and intends to continue in her position. She is a graduate of Anaheim high school, and of the Orange County Business college. Her husband is an employe of the Southern California Edison company at Los Angeles.

Those present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Spurlock, of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Campbell, Wade Waite, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Corcorn, Mrs. Sarah Epps and children, Betty, May and Paul; Clarence Campbell, of Los Angeles, George Campbell, of Placentia; the Rev. and Mrs. S. M. Eidsath, and Miss Neva Ward of Orange, and Miss Hazel Srieden of Santa Ana.

Fraternal Brotherhood

Installation of officers was the principal order of business at the joint business meeting of the junior and senior lodges of the Fraternal Brotherhood late last week when Miss Hazel Belle Conner, as president of the younger group, and George Furtsch, as leader of the senior organization, were in charge of the sessions.

Junior officers who had been chosen were Miss Helen Trickey, president; Miss Ida Raymond, vice president; Miss Edith Halloway as chaplaine, Miss Dorothy Benner, secretary and treasurer; Miss Emma Smith, mistress; Miss La Vene Parks, sergeant; Miss Ileen Lord, inner door; Edward Hutchison, outer door, and Miss Yvonne Brunner, musician. They were installed by Mrs. Vera Conner.

Three new candidates were initiated, and included the Misses Frances and Verda Mary Martin, of Orange, and Gertrude Raymond.

Their meeting was followed by their usual pot luck supper, and seniors remarked on the capability with which the young group carried out their supper hour, and the business which had preceded it. Most of the members are expecting to be present at 4 o'clock on July 26, at which time they will hold a drill practice, according to P. A. Trickey who made the announcement of the meeting.

Senior officers installed, with Harry Brookbank as installing officer, were George Furtsch, president; Pearl Furtsch, treasurer; Elizabeth Clark, secretary; Dr. Kenneth Coulson, vice president; Annie Arnold, chaplain; Harry Brookbank, past president; Lula Berge, mistress; Earl Hutchison, sergeant; Flora Hutchison, inner door; Claude Hutchison, outer door; Pearl Parker, musician, and Charlotte Lord, junior superintendent.

The group made plans for futrue meetings, and P. A. Trickey, local representative, told of the interesting meeting the supreme officers which he had just attended, stressing their accomplishment in taking out new policies for the members, including endowment, accident, and improved dollar certificates.

It was announced that the drill team will have charge of the entertainment Friday night, July 19, at which time Myrtle Trickey and Vera Conner will be in charge of the refreshments. Plans are also being formulated for a new class initiation July 26, pot luck dinner night.

Following the meeting the group enjoyed dancing and cards until a late hour.

FISHING BY EAR

LONDON, July 14. — Herring fishermen must have good ears, for on their hearing depends their catch. The lookout stands in the bow of a boat to locate a shoal of herring. He can do this by cupping his hand to his ear. When the fish are running they make a constant "swish" through the water just under the surface. When the lookout hears this sound the net is shot out and the fish gathered in.

Sycamore Rebekahs Install Officers For New Year

One of the most beautiful ceremonials which members of Sycamore Rebekah lodge have ever been privileged to witness, was held Saturday night in I.O.O.F. temple, when the new Sycamore officers were installed with appropriate rites.

The retiring noble grand, Mrs. Maude Wiley, whose year in office has been so much enjoyed by every Sycamore member, took charge of decorating the lodge room, and achieved a striking effect with quantities of roses, hydrangeas, dahlias and gladioluses. The new officers were all gowned in white semi-formal evening gowns, while Mrs. Fannie Barker of Orange, district deputy, and her staff completed a lovely picture with their delicate hued costumes. Mrs. Barker wore orchid but her staff of 24 installing officers were gowned in pale pink or delicate green, using Rebekah colors. The frocks were identical in design, and worn with silver slippers, made a charming effect, heightened by the faultless manner in which the installation was conducted.

Mrs. Wiley was conducted to her new chair as past noble grand, and was presented her jewel in a gracious little talk by Mrs. Ruby Greeley. Officers installed were Mrs. Ruth Zabel, noble grand; Miss Emma Lee Johnson, vice grand; Mrs. Bessie Stoval, recording secretary; Mrs. Hazel Ryan, financial secretary; Mrs. Edna Gowen, treasurer; Mrs. Teresa Dunning, chaplain; Mrs. Grace Gross, musician; Mrs. Carita Eckols, warden; Miss Mabel Larrick, conductress; Mrs. Roda Heiss, inside guardian; Mrs. Stella Henderson, outside guardian; Mrs. Hattie Peters, right supporter to noble grand; Mrs. Laura Marcher, left supporter to noble grand; Mrs. Florence Crawford, right supporter to vice grand; Mrs. Jessie Overton, left supporter to vice grand; Mrs. Elsie Henry, right altar supporter; Mrs. Agnes Lindig, left altar supporter.

Mrs. Barker and her staff will conduct similar ceremonies tonight for Anaheim Rebekahs, and tomorrow night for Fullerton. Several distinguished guests were present Saturday night, including Mrs. Fannie M Lacy, past president of the Rebekah assembly; F. M. Brambley from Brea, district deputy chief patriarch; C. H. Palmer of Orange, past grand master, and M. R. Alstrohm of Anaheim, grand marshall.

The evening closed with refreshments served in the banquet room where Mrs. May Jackson superintended the decorations, quite as striking in effect as those in the lodge room. The table presented a sea scene with a full rigged sailing ship giving an air of romance, heightened by the gay beach scene where pretty maidens lingered among the sands.

In the lavish floral appointments, the pink and green Rebekah colors were uppermost.

Taking Cod Liver Oil

The Cod Liver Oil Ghost is again to walk for us today in the guise of a letter from a reader who sends us her way of taking pure cod liver oil:

"I want to tell you how I take cod liver oil, having found it necessary to take it at intervals over a period of five years. I put the juice of an orange in a cup, then I take one tablespoonful of the oil in my mouth and hold my breath until I have swallwoed two or three swallows of the juice; then, after I get my breath I take the rest of the juice. Really, I do not taste the oil, and the orange juice is just that much added nourishment."

Judging from the method I should say that this lady had great self-possession and complete control over her actions. Cod liver oil and its nauseously penetrating flavor affect the taste buds on the back of the tongue, the effect being heightened by the odor being carried to the nose through the nasal passage in the back of the throat.

By holding the oil directly back of the teeth until the orange juice covers it the odor and sliminess are both covered up, but as I have said, it takes a person in full control of faculties to get away with such a method.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Stuffed Tomato Salad

1 firm ripe tomato for each person served
3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1 tablespoon minced green onion
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon chili sauce
2 or 3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Salt and pepper to taste

Scald and skin the tomatoes and put them to chill until just before serving. Then, with a sharp knife cut a section out of the center, scoop out with a spoon and dice the scooped out part. Mix with the diced hard cooked eggs, minced onion and parsley, and dress with the last four items mixed together.

Fill the cavities nicely, heaping the filling up a bit, serve on crisp lettuce with a thin tart mayonnaise mixed with a little roquefort cheese and chili sauce.

Each salad, dressed and ready to serve, has a calory value of close to 250. The filling and dressing for the same will take care of six portions, six tomatoes.

Well-known Hostesses Preside at Yacht Club Affairs

Orange county women will be prominent among the hostesses at Friday's informal bridge luncheon at Newport Harbor Yacht club, where these friendly affairs have become one of the most anticipated weekly event of the mid-summer season. Started some three or four years ago as a means of entertaining feminine members of the club while their lords and masters were vieing in sailing events, the Friday bridge luncheons immediately leaped to popularity ,and have continued to be important events of Yacht club history.

At the most recent one, the hostess group was headed by the mother of Commodore Leon Heseman, Mrs. Carolyn Heseman of Riverside, who shares her son's vital interest in all matters pertaining to the club. Mrs. Heseman had quite a little group of co-hostesses, including Mrs. Robert Weitbrecht, Mrs. Conrad Richter, Mrs. D. F. Axelson and Mrs. C. G. White, all well-known in this city.

Of the coming Friday hostess group, Mrs. Roy Russell and Mrs. Leonard G. Swales of this city, Mrs. W. Horace White and Mrs. Dixon W. Tubbs of Tustin, Mrs. William N. Cummings of near Orange, Mrs. Henry Waterman of Monrovia, and Mrs. Leonard C. Jones of Alhambra, are especially well known in this community. Co-hostesses with them include Mrs. Robert Modisette, Mrs. Frank S. Hutton, Mrs. P. H. L. Wilson, Mrs. A. L. Woodill, Mrs. M. H. Simons and Mrs. C. Woodill.

Local Clubwomen Will Attend Conference

Santa Ana Clubwomen are anticipating much of value and interest to be derived from attendance at the two days' summer conference of the Southern District Federation of Women's clubs, to be held Wednesday and Thursday in San Clemente.

The Spanish Village is preparing to welcome visitors from all sections of the Southland, and reservations for entertainment may be made at the San Clemente hotel The social clubhouse will be the scene of the convention sessions, with Mrs. Marcus Robbins of San Diego, southern district president, in charge.

Of the featured speakers for the two days, none sounds more interesting to Santa Ana clubwomen, than Miss Josephine B. Seamans of La Jolla, one of the state vice-presidents, who is scheduled to speak on Wednesday. Miss Seamans was in this city in the early spring when she addressed the Santa Ana Woman's club on its anniversary program. She aroused the sincerest admiration of all who heard her, not only for her witty and philosophical address, but for her vibrant and magnetic personality.

Mrs. Henry De Nyse of Riverside, a state trustee, is another of Wednesday's speakers whom local women anticipate hearing. On Thursday, special interest attaches to the talk by Mrs. Harry L. Stroh of Los Angeles, state chairman of service, information and reciprocity. Mrs. E. R. Spade of San Diego, who holds the district chairmanship, also will give a short talk.

Among members of Santa Ana Woman's club who will attend the sessions, are Mrs. William Whitehead, past president; Mrs. William H. Kuhn, new president; Mrs. M J. Marks and Mrs. Jean Bohlander, county chairman of education .

FIRST MILLION MILES

MEXICO CITY, July 12.—If the first million air miles are the hardest, Corporation Aeronautica de Transportes, S. A., is over the hump. It has just announced it has completed the first one million miles of flying, after starting operations in March, 1929. The fine runs from El Paso to this city.

'ROMANCE' GIVES GARBO NEW ROLE

"Romance," the stage play which brought success to Doris Keane years ago, the play she made famous year after year, comes to the Fox Broadway theater today and plays through Thursday with Greta Garbo, the divine, in the leading role.

To those who remember "Romance" on the stage, some idea will come of the part that Garbo takes in her latest all-talking production, but to those who do not, let it suffice to say that never has the star played such a role. It is a new Garbo in "Romance," not the sophisticated woman of "Flesh and the Devil," or other modern sex plays, but a Garbo who is in love so deeply that she gives up her love in order to save the man.

"Romance" is playing in Santa Ana even before Los Angeles theaters get it. It is making its initial run here. The picture was just released a short time ago and Santa Ana fans are getting the opportunity of seeing Garbo in her new type role first.

The story concerns a great Italian opera singer, in love with a man much younger than herself. He is warned against the actress by his uncle and told of her other affairs. The man decides to "play" with her instead of giving her his love and the way she handles the situation when she realizes it, leads up to the climax of the picture, one that is outstanding in every way.

The big thing about the picture, however, is the changed Garbo. Her admirers here will like her even better than they did in the other roles she has played.

La Habra Home Is Burglarized

Sought for the asserted stealing clothes, bed coverings, furniture and practically everything else from the home of Jose San Juan, of La Habra, Saturday afternoon, Juan Mesa was being traced by La Habra authorities today.

Constable William Tremain and Officer Erwin Stimson, of La Habra, are investigating the case. The Mexican left many clues and is expected to be apprehended in a short time.

'WESTERN FRONT' AMAZES AUDIENCE

"All Quiet on the Western Front, Universal's greatest war picture and probably the greatest war drama that was ever filmed, came to Santa Ana yesterday and today is the talk of the town.

Taken from Erich Maria Remarque's daring book by the same name, which when published 10 years after the war was called the only true story of the war, the picture directed by Lewis Milestone, adheres closely to the book, throughout. There is little difference and those who have read the book will know what to expect.

To those who have not read the book, "All Quiet on the Western Front" will come as a surprise. It will startle, horrify and shock as no picture you have ever seen before. The glamor and glory of war is not apparent. Instead, there is the filth, the much and the debauchery. The picture is a big argument against war from start to finish.

The plot concerns Paul Baumer, played by Lewis Ayres, and his band of school mates who enlist when war breaks out. One by one they are killed. The effect death has on Paul, how it changes his entire life; his many startling adventures; the raw story told without any attempt to soften the feelings, all these things make "All Quiet on the Western Front" a story and a picture that will be remembered for a long time to come.

And then at the last, when all is quiet on the western front, so quiet that the men are bailing water from the trenches and others are lying around resting, Paul comes to his end, just as all his comrades did.

See "All Quiet on the Western Front" and the recent war will mean more to you than it has ever meant before.

Vet Loses Memory At Battle Scene

AMIENS, France, July 15.—(INS)—When James Sidney, a British war veteran, revisited the Somme battlefield, where he had been wounded 12 years ago, he lost his memory.

He drifted away from his comrades and later was found wandering around the streets in this city.

Sidney did not know his name and was unable to say anything beyond that the wound in his leg was hurting him badly.

Through papers in his pockets, the police were able to identify the man who was partaking in a battlefield excursion of British ex-soldiers.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

"Oh, I am not surprised at all at pans and pots upon the wall," cried Clowny. "This old copper man knows how to run a store. He puts things out where all can see and sells them quickly as can be. I'll bet folks like his wares so well they all come back for more."

"That may be true. I hope he does, but now we'd best be going 'cause I'm going to see if we can't find a place to sleep tonight. I want it different from the rest, and hope you'll all like it best. I have a little home in mind that's quite a pretty sight."

"Why, we've slept in a house before. Remember—with the hard stone floor?" cried Clowny. "Gee, 'twas terrible. I want no more of that. The sight of it gave us a thrill, 'cause it was dug out of a hill, but sleeping there is something else. You wake up feeling flat."

This made the Tinies laugh out loud. The Travel Man then told the crowd the house he had in mind was of a very different sort. "Fine rugs are on the floor," he said. "It's comfortable as it can be. If I can get this place just for tonight, 'twill be real sport.

And so they shortly found the house, and entered, quiet as a mouse. They met the woman owner. She was sitting on a rug. She shortly said it was all right, for them to rent the place all night. Then Scouty cried, "It's wonderful. I know we'll all feel snug."

The woman promptly took her child out of a hammock. Then she smiled and said, "Well, I'll be going so you Tinies can take charge. I have another home, you see, so everything's all right with me. This place is big enough for all of you, though it's not large."

(The Tinymites see a very beautiful sight in the next story.)

RULES:

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't. TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.
2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

KIND to SOUL—Any KIND SOUL should be able to shoot this simple par five letter links hole.

CHICAGO BD OF TRADE

CHICAGO, July 15.—(UP)—Persistent selling and pressure by locals failed to discourage buyers on the Board of Trade today and prices closed at practically th etop, showing sharp gains. The continued dry weather in the American and Candian northwest wtih strong foreign cables and more hot weather served to force short covering which found offers light.

At the close wheat was 1⅜ to 1½c higher, corn was 1⅛ to 2¼c higher and oats were ½ to ⅝c higher. Provisions were strong.

THE NEWS AND OPINION

In the Orange News of Monday there appears an editorial under the head of "Mr. Burke Responds."

They first quote a portion of an editorial in which we said as follows:

"The Register desires to say that there was no attack made by this paper on Mr. Hanson nor the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce. This paper never charged that the meeting was a political frame-up for the benefit of anybody. It has never made any charges either fair or unfair concerning this meeting. It carried the news of what took place as it was written by a representative who was there. We have not heard either directly nor indirectly that any statements in the account of that meeting were untrue."

The Orange News then says:

So Mr. Burke says he didn't and Mr. Nichols says he did. We come, then, to a question of veracity and unhappily Mr. Burke does not always appear at his best in such situations. Let us see.

Then the Orange News proceeds to try to prove that we were telling untruths because it goes on to reprint the following paragraph which was not from an editorial, but from the news columns of The Register. The same is true of the last paragraph in the reprint from their paper.

"A meeting OSTENSIBLY called by the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce to entertain members of the Villa Park-Olive, El Modena and West Orange farm centers at Irvine park last night RESOLVED ITSELF INTO A SUBTLE APPEAL FOR THE SUPPORT OF THE PRESENT COUNTY OFFICIALS WHO ARE CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE, in the course of a talk given by Ole Hanson, founder and builder of San Clemente. He was introduced by Supervisor Willard Smith and HIS APPEAL FOR OFFICIALS WAS STRIKINGLY CLEAR."

Now then Mr. Burke says that the meeting resolved itself into a subtle appeal for the support of the present county officials, benighted heathen of local habitat may be pardoned for assuming he meant something. But Mr. Burke didn't mean anything. He didn't even say anything. It was an optical illusion created by designing politicians to discredit a truthful and high-minded reformer.

In the same article on June 28th, the Register remarked:

"It was very apparent that Hanson's appeal to the voters was an ADROIT POLITICAL MOVE as he brought up the subject in a casual way in the course of a paean of praise of the county in which he included the officials now in power as well."

The readers would gain from this editorial that The Register made these assertions or that the publisher made them, but certainly the publisher of the Orange News is fully aware and the readers of this paper know full well that the publisher speaks through the editorial columns and he permits news, both favorable and unfavorable to his policy to be published in the columns of the paper. In the editorial columns he expresses the opinion of The Register and its publisher. We never made any such editorial statement as that printed above.

The language quoted above, charged officially to the Register and its publisher, was contained in the news story written by one of the news staff of what she observed as taking place. We stated this in our original editorial of denial. It was a statement of fact without any opinion of whether it was wise, or right or in harmony with the objectives of the Chamber of Commerce. This writer said that "the meeting of last night resolved itself into a subtle appeal for the support of the present county officials who are candidates for office." Is this not true? Has anyone denied the truth of that statement? The news writer said that took place. No comment was made on it.

We have not heard of any denial of the truth of that statement that the meeting did so resolve itself. We made no comment as a newspaper; no charges in respect to the Chamber of Commerce nor any one connected with it. We neither said that it was fair nor unfair. The writer said "Hanson's appeal to the voters was an adroit political move as he brought up the subject in a casual way in the course of a paean of praise of the county in which he included the officials now in power as well." This was a part of the news story. The Register in its official sense and the publisher had no more to do with that story than it had to do with any dispatch that might have come from Timbuctoo. To be sure, we had the editorial responsibility. We could personally, if we had the time, look over every item of news and the way it is written, and write it up to suit ourselves. We don't do that; we never have done it. We do not propose to do it. The readers would not then get the news. We give our news writers liberty. Otherwise we would be limiting the news. That is not our job. The writer of the article was endeavoring to present to the readers what actually took place at this picnic.

It may have been possible that liberty was taken with editorial language, but this is done a hundred times a week in most daily newspapers. What we maintain is these facts as they were presented in this news story have never been contradicted, and that The Register, as such, has made no charges.

The Register speaks through its editorial columns. It cannot be held responsible for the news as it appears. The writer of this article was telling what took place at Irvine park as she observed it. This is what we pay our news force to do. If the article were untrue, were misrepresented, were unfaithful to the facts, we should like to know it, as it would go to the trustworthiness of this representative, but as a matter of fact, we have heard from others who were there, and their statements are to the effect that the article was correct and moderate in its statements. We have faith in that writer.

We are of the opinion that if the writer had misrepresented or told untruths, we would have heard from it personally, but no one has criticized to us as publisher a word of that story.

THE MURDERER

The killing of Motley H. Flint in a crowded Los Angeles court room has startled and amazed hundreds of thousands of citizens. The further examination of the perpetrator of the deed will undoubtedly indicate that he is insane. He has been pondering over his losses until he has lost control of his reason.

He had made no threat against the life of this man, as far as anyone has heard; he was not raising a red flag on every occasion and asking people to rally to that stand; he just quietly and, may we say, solemnly, brooded over his losses, charged them in part to this personality until finally aroused, he committed this dreadful deed. He emphasizes again that the dangerous man to society or to the individual among the ones who are unfortunate and have incurred losses, is not the man who, with dishevelled hair with a bomb in one hand and a smoking torch in the other, goes down the highway seeking to destroy society as it is. That man is easily taken care of. But it is the brooder, the quiet individual, the one who gives no vent to his thought until it comes to the terrible deed, who is dangerous. In a flash it is over.

We cannot believe that this man was in his right mind. The distress through which he had passed seemed to have grown greater with contemplation. With most people it grows less and more bearable. It is an unfortunate circumstance. It plunges the whole district into a rediscussion of the features of the Julian case which will not down.

The only sad feature to the Lindbergh baby's horoscope, according to the astrologer, is that he will be unfortunate in his dealing in real estate. More important to newspaper men, however, is how he'll react toward the fourth estate.

THESE YOUNGSTERS

One of these child busy-bodies has at last justified all concern manifest by parents and guardians who are constantly on the alert to keep their charges out of mischief. A thirteen-year-old boy was taken with his mother to a jewelry store and while she was examining rings and bracelets he became interested in this and that about the store. The climax came when he examined some bright looking articles behind the counter. He touched one and released a flood of tear gas. The clerk and mother and son left the store immediately. Later the clerk returned with a damp handkerchief over his face and turned off the flood of gas. The mother took her offspring away without leaving her name.

Can you imagine what she did to that boy? It was probably the "last straw." On the other hand maybe it suggested to her that the boy who could cause such commotion might be good in the movies. It would really be a stroke of genius to capitalize on such an embarassing episode as hers.

Children—City vs. Country Life?

Riverside Enterprise

A vital issue was raised in a debate staged recently in New York wherein a physician and a social worker at a luncheon endeavored to clarify the question whether it is better for children to be reared in the country or the city. As to whether they contributed anything substantial to the discussion is another matter, although it may be acknowledged that each gave the other a run for the money. Anyhow Miss Lillian Wald, the social worker, virtually stated that neither convinced the other when she said in her final word, "I told you we would agree. Bring the social and educational advantages of the city to the country and it is a perfect place to rear a child. But as a social worker I must again point out that they are not there now!"

Looking at the situation from a somewhat different point of view, perhaps one might say, given more or less similar opportunities, a whole lot depends on the child itself!

When it comes to balancing vacuum cleaners, electricity and deferred payments against sunlight, freedom for exercise and play, and fewer noises, the balance would seem to be on the side of the latter. However, statistics—what should we do without statistics?—seem to show that there are more conditions of physical disability among country children than among city ones! Which would appear to indicate that the opposite of what one would expect may be what one finds to be the case. And this further points to the fact that, after all, perchance it is neither sunlight itself nor yet vacuum cleaners that are at the bottom of the matter. A busy, happily occupied life, whether in country or city, and an unselfish motive will be found to work wonders, no matter what the environment.

Was Our Deep Sympathy Wasted, or Wasn't It?

San Francisco Chronicle

It's a funny old world, full of differing viewpoints!

For the past week the great city of San Francisco has been all "het up" about a baby hoax. A young wife who lost her own baby and who sincerely wanted one to insure the happiness of her husband and herself accepted the gift of a baby from a wife who did not want it—who gave it away before it was born and apparently was well pleased to get rid of it.

All was peaceful and lovely when, suddenly, Young Wife No. 2 changed her mind and demanded the return to her of the child she had never seen, but which she now declared she loved above all the rest of the world. Then there were tears flying in every direction.

All the sympathy, we were quite sure, should be with Young Wife No. 1, who had taken the unwanted child and faithfully nourished and cherished it. But the municipal judge who had Solomon's job handed the baby back to the real mother, which we suppose he really had to do. And the courtroom crowd vigorously applauded every reference to "real mother's love," "flesh and blood" and a lot of other old sayings.

Maybe we are wrong, but Young Wife No. 1 still has our sympathy. All we can say to her is that there are plenty of babies to be adopted. And we suggest to her that when she gets the next one she nails it down with a court decree of legal adoption, regardless of the protestations of the real mother that she doesn't want it anyway.

Something Auto Be Done About It!

The locomotive engineer serves long years of training before his hands touch a throttle—his eyes and health are tested regularly—

The sea captain must learn his ropes, know navigation, the rules of the sea—and is required to pass strict license tests—

The transport pilot, after careful schooling, must survive rigid flying and physical tests to meet government requirements. He is examined every six months—

BUT—Have you noticed how easy it is for 'most anybody to "get by," and burn up the roadways behind a high-powered motor?

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE ENGINEER'S VACATION

I never see a waterfall
That tumbles over moss and fern,
But I do not think withal
How big a motor it will turn.
The cataracts which daily shower
Their spray on mountain, garden spots
To me are so much motive power
Which I reduce to kilowatts.

I hear the surf along the shore,
I watch the tide that ebbs and flows
And hope within a few years more
To harness them to dynamos.
I see the thunder storm sweep by,
Its purple clouds with lightning laced,
And murmur with a bitter sigh,
"Ah, all that power gone to waste!"

I watch the drifting mists arise
When summer days are almost done,
And move across the quiet skies
Until they screen the setting sun,
And always sorrow at the sight
For what can careless nature mean,
To squander energy which might
Be harnessed to some great machine?

And when Vesuvius bursts all bounds,
Decanting down her fiery side
A lava stream whose roar resounds
For miles across the countryside,
My books of references I seek
And find the forces that have hurled
A river from that one lone peak
Would turn the wheels of all the world.

The Fable of the Two Advertisers

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Once upon a time, there was a Free-Hearted Advertiser, who used millions of dollars every year to shout his wares.

That is to say, every PROSPEROUS year.

But the time came when Statistical Boy Scouts, sleuthing around on the horizon for a Business Depression, reported seeing one headed our way. To be sure, it closely resembled Prosperity; but they were smart enough to see through its disguise.

The crash came, as predicted, and men and women hurriedly began getting their dollars in off the street. Those with money in their pockets took it out, counted it, and put it back.

The once-upon-a-time Free-Hearted Advertiser lost nothing—except his nerve. That, however, was a total loss. Hastily, he called in his Advertising Dollars and sent out in their place a Squad of Asthmatic Dimes.

He was looking out for Number One! As a sad sequel, Number One now needs looking out for more than ever.

But there was also a Simple-Hearted Advertiser. He was so simple, in fact, that when leaders of American business, in conference assembled, declared that business was fundamentally sound, he believed that it WAS sound. When sad-eyed retrenchers declared that Prosperity was going to the dogs, he thought he might as well be one of the dogs! So he began barking his wares louder than ever.

He knew that buyers are not born, but made; made by keeping constantly in circulation the word "Buy" and the Money with which to Buy.

This Advertiser also was looking out for Number One. But at the same time he was giving a much-needed lift to 120 million. And the 120 million, responding to his ringing "Buy," bought. Thus he not only helped himself, but a good many job-seekers as well.

Moral: The time for business to step out is when it is reported to be all in.

JULY 15, 1916

The big Redpath-Horner Chautauqua this afternoon began its seven days' engagement in the huge tent located at the southeast corner of Third and Bush streets, and it is predicted that it will make a profound and lasting impression on the people of Santa Ana.

Joseph Smith and T. P. Kingrey have returned from Kingham, Ariz., where they went to attend a meeting of the directors of the Jemison Mining company. They brought home five samples of ore from this poperty, most of which is owned by Santa Anans.

At the next meeting of the Tustin Chamber of Commerce the question "Does Tustin Need a Peace Officer?" will be discussed.

Twenty carloads of oranges were shipped by the Tustin Hills Citrus association this week and eleven carloads of lemons by the Tustin Lemon association.

Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh who is now living in Los Angeles, will sing at the morning services of the First Congregational church tomorrow.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

WHAT PUTS MEN OUT OF WORK

Yesterday I listed six distinct kinds of unemployment which Stuart Chase subjects to exhaustive analysis in Harper's Magazine for July.

Today I want, with the utmost brevity, to define these six kinds of unemployment, for until we stop over-simplifying unemployment, and begin attacking it on all its varied fronts, we shall make slight headway in the important and imperative task of stabilizing American prosperity.

1. Seasonal unemployment.

A large part of the world's work follows the coming and going of the seasons. Wheat must be harvested when the summer sun has touched its green to gold. Peas must be canned when the peas have reached the right maturity. Where there is seasonal employment, there will be seasonal unemployment, unless intelligence plans its prevention.

2. Technological unemployment.

Invention, marching with seven league boots across the modern world, daily creates machines that take the place of men. If one newly-invented machine can do the work it has before taken ten men to do, one may stay behind to tend the machine, but the other nine must look elsewhere for employment, and probably have a hard time finding it, unless leadership has looked ahead for them.

3. Cyclical unemployment.

In 1921 the United States experienced the poignant disease of unemployment. In 1930 we round the cycle and feel its pangs again. There is nothing predestined about these cycles, unless the directing intelligence of economic America falls into fatalism about them, and fails to study them as realistically as it studies a production process.

4. Residual unemployment.

The ruthless and more or less regular recurrence of unemployment breaks the spirit and renders unemployable many men who, kept in regular employment, would retain their capacity for disciplined effort. There is thus created a class that is unemployed because its members are unfit to employ. They are a kind of economic residuum or sediment that sinks to the bottom of the social order.

5. Stop-watch unemployment.

The efficiency expert, with stop-watch in hand, makes his time-studies, and finds a quicker way to work, so that one man can do the work that two did before. And again men hitherto employed must turn job-hunters.

6. Consolidation unemployment.

We are passing through an economic phase marked by a mania for merger, and every time two or twenty units of enterprise consolidate, vice-presidents, managers, clerks, and salesmen fall from the trees and find themselves looking for jobs.

There is not one of these six sources of unemployment that cannot be subjected to control by intelligent leadership, as I suggested yesterday, if we will but recognize the complexity of the problem and demand that leadership become realistic in its dealing with all phases of the problem

MOTHER'S VACATION

When vacations are planned remember mother. She is so likely to be overlooked because she is so busy getting everybody else ready. She sews and buys and packs. She buys railroad tickets and telephones for the express man. She sunts up last year's sweater and racket and counts the usable balls. She worries about your first aid kit, and your bad tooth. She fairly shoves you on the train and waves you away. But she stays home.

Home is a very good place. I know of none better. But the nature of people demands change. Even if you are a little uncomfortable the change will benefit you. You have worn tracks in your brain cells. Your muscles work in grooves. There is no interest in doing the same thing over and over all year round because there is no fresh call made on the mind and body. A new environment demands new adjustments and that freshens things all round.

The deadly routine of the home and family is hardest on mother. It is she who carries everybody's burden. She wakens you early the day you have an appointment with the dentist. She prods you to prepare that important composition. She looks over your wardrobe and gets it ready beforetime. She eats for you, sleeps for you, lives for you. And it gets very tiresome.

So provide a vacation for mother. See that her wardrobe is ready, that her tickets are bought, that her chair is on the right side of the car—prepare the way for her. Even if you have to stay home yourself, do this. You see staying home will be a real change for you. It will call into play all sorts of nerve cells, all sorts of adjustments. It will do you a great deal of good to serve in your mother's stead for a time.

You see mother won't tell you she needs a vacation. She will tell you she does not. But you and I know better. Out she must go. Her health is the basis of the family's happiness. With mother ailing or disabled things are never right. Don't wait until she goes to bed to take care of her. Guard her now. See that she gets change and rest.

Another thing. Don't imagine that mother is getting any vacation when she goes to the country with the children. She isn't. She is working at the same old grind. Spinach for the baby, cocoa for Bob. No fat in Mary's diet. A rest time for Peter whether he likes it or not. Story telling at bedtime, advice and commands and general supervision are her daily stint.

In order to give mother a vacation she must be freed from the burden of the house and the family. So take it over yourself, oldest son and oldest daughter, and so save your precious mother for the years to come.

ST. SWITHIN'S DAY

On July 15, 865 A. D., the legend arose that if it rained on this day it would continue to do so for the 40 days succeeding.

The story is connected with St. Swithin, Bishop of Winchester, and tutor to King Alfred. At his request, he was buried in the churchyard of the abbey where "passersby might tread on his grave, and where the rain from the eaves might fall on it."

After his canonization in 865 it was resolved to remove his remains to the chancel—the customary burying place of the bishops—and July 15 was appointed for the ceremony. But on that day and for 40 days thereafter, St. Swithin, to testify his displeasure, caused rain to fall so heavily that the monks abandoned their plan as blasphemous. That is how popular superstition has come to regard this day as being of meteorological significance.

Careful observation kept at the Greenwich observatory for a period of 20 years, however, show this superstition to be without foundation.
